BATTLE OVER SPEAKERSHIP IS ON TARIFF

Dalzell and Littlefield Oppose Revision and Westerners for It.

BOTH SECTIONS ARE NOW DIVIDED

Cannon and Babcock Represent the West, but Both Have Enemies There.

CLAIM OF PENNSYLVANIA

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

Republicans of prominence who were visitors at the White House today assert positively that there will be no revision of the tariff between now and the next presidential election. This view is taken especially by Pennsylvania and West Virginia congressmen. These two states will have enough Republican representatives in the next house to prevent tariff revision if they desire to do so.

The sentiment of recently elected western congressmen probably varies a great deal from that of the eastern representatives, and the outlook is for a struggle in the next congress between eastern and western Republicans over the tariff. Many western members are pledged to revision, and made their campaign along that line.

Representative Butler of Pennsylvania voiced the sentiment of Pennsylvania Republicans in his assertions to The Gazette correspondent today:

"I will be drawn and quartered before I will cast a vote under any circumstances for touching the tariff now or at any time within the next few years," said Mr. Butler. "Pennsylvania Republicans are utterly opposed to revision now, and I do not believe there is a single congressman from the state who will cast his vote that way. The people will not stand for it.

Cleveland Drew the Lines.

"I think I can easily assert that the interviews and speech of ex-President Cleveland on the tariff turned 50,000 votes away from Democratic nominees for congress and state officers. His position drew the lines sharply. Pennsylvania is a protection state and desires no change in present prosperous conditions."

Senator Scott of West Virginia holds the same views.

"I made two-thirds of my speeches in the West Virginia campaign on the tariff issue," said Senator Scott, "and I tell you that the people of my state do not want any tinkering with the tariff. We do not want an 'I' dotted or a 'T' crossed in the existing law. We won our campaign on the tariff issue, and it is a big mistake to suppose that any Republicans in my section want to bother with the tariff."

Representative Dalzell today formally announced his candidacy for speaker in the following statement:

"I am a candidate for speaker of the house in the next congress, my candidacy being subject, of course, to the approval of the Republicans of the Pennsylvania delegation. Furthermore, I am in the fight to win. I am not after a complimentary vote, nor am I playing for second place. I want to win, and I believe I will win the speakership.

Claim of Pennsylvania.

"Pennsylvania is entitled to the speakership. We have the largest Republican delegation in the house. More than any other state, we keep right straight along contributing to Republican supremacy. We get very little in return, and might be justified in feeling that we are punished for our loyalty to the Republican party.

"Moreover, the Republican party in Pennsylvania has not been represented in the speaker's chair since the days of Galusha Grow, in 1861 and 1862. The Democratic party recognized Pennsylvania in the election of Sam Randall to the speakership.

"There is nothing in the claim that the speakership should go to the west. The west has no interests that are not substantially identical with the interests of Pennsylvania. Besides, the west has had had the speakership for the last four years and we think it is our turn now. I may say that I have the promise of substantial support for my candidacy outside of Pennsylvania."

It is generally conceded that this fight will be between Representatives Cannon and Dalzell, and it is known that the western delegations are not unanimous for Mr. Cannon. Mr. Hepburn of Iowa, something of a fighter himself, is on Mr. Cannon's trail with hostile intent. No sooner had Speaker Henderson dropped out, it is asserted, than Mr. Hepburn took down his tomahawk and struck the trail after Mr. Cannon. Mr. Hepburn had not decided, it is said, whom he would favor, but he had no doubt as to one man he would not favor.

Both East and West Divided.

Tariff revision and anti-tariff revision—the west against the east—on these sharply defined lines, the contest for the speakership has already taken shape. Mr. Dalzell's announcement divides the forces of the east just as those in the west are divided. The other candidates beside Cannon are Joseph W. Babcock of Wisconsin, another representative of the west, who introduced in the last congress the free steel bill, a member of the ways and means committee, and Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, a representative of the highly protected interests of New England, and a leader of the younger element of the house.

Mr. Cannon has not as yet taken any firm stand in advocacy of tariff revision, but that he stands for the rapidly growing sentiment in the west is taken for granted.

PROCLAIMS HERSELF THE VIRGIN MARY

WINNIPEG, MAN., Nov. 7.—At Yorkton a young Doukhobor woman of attractive appearance dressed herself in white cotton, with white canvas shoes, and proclaimed herself the Virgin Mary. Many of the Doukhobors believe her story, and she may cause trouble if her advice shall be in the wrong direction.

THE REVOLUTION HAS COLLAPSED

Ammunition Gives Out and Rebel Leaders Part in Quarrel.

CASTRO IS IN LUCK

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

La Victoria, Venezuela, Nov. 7.—News has been received here concerning the retreat of the revolutionary forces.

On the night of November 1 the revolutionists withdrew from their positions near La Victoria and San Mateo because they were without ammunition. The fact that the rebels lacked cartridges caused a disagreement between Gen. Matos and Gen. Rolando, which was followed by hot words.

Gen. Rolando declared that the shortage of ammunition was the fault of Gen. Matos, and that if the success of the revolution was endangered by this condition Gen. Matos alone was responsible. He said all was lost, and, with his followers, about 3,200 men, he withdrew from the main body of the rebels in the direction of Alta Gracia. It is reported that Gen. Rolando proclaimed "El Mocho" Hernandez as the leader of the revolution.

President Castro, since he discovered that the revolutionists retreated only because of their lack of ammunition, has caused them to be pursued day and night by government soldiers.

The latest report issued by the government says Generals Matos, Mendoza and Riora and their commands are fleeing in disorder in an effort to reach the mountainous districts.

Guerillas in the service of the government have captured and brought to President Castro certain records and documents belonging to members of Gen. Matos' personal staff, as well as the general's personal correspondence. The contents of these papers give evidence of the critical situation of the leaders of the revolution.

It is difficult to understand the apparent, sudden and complete collapse of the revolutionary movement. But a few days ago the rebels seemed to be upon the eve of victory, while today their cause seems absolutely lost.

President Castro, having sent his men in all directions to cut off the retreat of the enemy, left here today for Caracas.

The government soldiers who are following up the rebels scored their first success this morning by the capture of Gen. Ramon Luizi, who was making his way in the direction of Alta Gracia with 300,000 rounds of ammunition and 4,000 men to reinforce the revolutionists.

From here President Castro goes to Los Teques, which point was abandoned by the rebels yesterday. From Los Teques the president will go by rail to Caracas, arriving there Sunday morning. He will then resume his place at the head of the government.

POPULAR CONFIDENCE IN THE REPUBLICANS

Roosevelt's Interpretation of Elections—Good Legislation Demanded.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A special from Washington to the World says: "The people have given the Republican party a chance to make good," said President Roosevelt, to a western visitor this morning. The remark was in reply to the declaration that Mr. Roosevelt's own individuality was responsible for the victory of Tuesday.

Continuing, the president said he did not delude himself with the impression that the result of the election meant that he would be re-elected two years from now, or that at that time there would be another vote of confidence in the Republican party. He said that the result of the next election depends entirely upon what is done at Washington between now and that time, and not upon what was promised before the recent election.

Mr. Roosevelt did not explain in detail what he thought should be done for the administration to "make good," but he clearly indicated that he had in mind trust legislation. He said when times were prosperous there should be good returns for both capital and labor. He felt that at the present time the influences were effectively working to give capital more than its share.

GEN. SMITH APPEALS TO SENATOR HANNA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 7.—The machinery will soon be set in motion in Washington looking to the reinstatement in the army of Gen. Jacob Smith.

Every possible influence will be brought to bear on President Roosevelt to rescind his order retiring the general, who ordered Maj. Waller to make Samar a howling wilderness.

Gen. Smith has been in Cleveland two days and has had a number of conferences with Senator Hanna. Today the general was reinforced by his brother-in-law, Judge J. W. Bannon of Portsmouth, who has had the general's case in hand ever since his trouble with the administration. Judge Bannon had a long talk with Senator Hanna, and later both the general and the judge left for Portsmouth.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL BOOM FOR SHAW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—A special from Des Moines, Ia., to the Sun says: "The state has been mysteriously flooded within the last week with large, handsomely engraved buttons, containing likenesses of Roosevelt and Shaw, labeled 'President and Vice President in 1904.' They are said to have emanated from Denison, Secretary Shaw's home, shortly after his recent visit there. It had been the belief hitherto that the secretary preferred to retain the treasury portfolio during the coming administration and then run for president in 1908."

TUNNEL WORKERS HEAR BIG STEAMERS ABOVE

They Must Be Men of Strong Hearts and Lungs to Endure Compressed Air.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

Work is progressing rapidly on the western bore of the tunnel which will connect Manhattan with Jersey City. An immense boring shield, which is being worked by means of giant jacks, is rapidly tearing away the mud underneath the river bed. Although it has only been in operation about a week, the bore has been advanced nearly 75 feet toward this city.

There is a layer of earth 27 feet thick between the bottom of the river and the roof of the tunnel, and as quickly as the material is removed the arching in the space excavated is put in place. No serious difficulties in the way of completing the northern bore are expected and the officials of the company expect to have it completed to the Manhattan end within six months.

Although the roof of the bore is 27 feet thick and the water in the river is 37 feet deep, workmen in the bore can distinctly hear the throbbing of the steamers' propellers, engines and paddle wheels as they pass overhead.

The men work in airlocks, and a new shift of men is sent into the compressed air every four hours. They are working under a pressure of 48 pounds to the square inch, and to endure this must be sound in heart and lung.

After working four hours in the tunnel, the men are brought to the surface and placed about a table laden with sirloin steaks broiled by an expert chef. The men are also given liquid stimulants.

At a meeting of the aldermanic conference committee on the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel franchise, to be held on Monday, the revised contract will be approved by a majority, and a favorable report will be drafted for submission to the board on Tuesday, when the matter will be presented to the board for the first time in its amended form.

BANK SAFE WRECKED.

Burglars Use Dynamite at Fayette City, But Fail to Get at the Money.

FAYETTE CITY, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—When Cashier J. Audley Black went to the First National bank this morning the heavy steel door of the vault was found shattered from several charges of dynamite, but it had withstood all efforts to force it open. The furniture about the room had been broken, but the burglars failed to secure a penny. The job was evidently that of novices, for about the room were strewn tools which were recognized as the property of a local blacksmith.

Failing in their efforts to get into the vault, it is believed the burglars were frightened away. Entrance had been gained through a window, the crowbar used to force it being found on the ground below. Holes were drilled into the vault door after the hinges had been sawed from an outer door leading to the vault.

A woman living near heard two reports about 3 o'clock this morning. Soap was used to deaden the sound. The heavy bars of the door were bent and twisted, but not one was broken. Evidently fearing that bloodhounds would be placed on their trail, the robbers scattered red pepper all over the office. The loss will not amount to more than a few hundred dollars.

Philadelphia Candidate for Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR STATE CAPITOL

Outline of the New Building Marked by a Masonic Cross.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—Ground was broken today for the additional excavations necessary for the completion of the $4,000,000 capitol, in accordance with the plans of Architect Joseph M. Huston. There was no formal ceremony, but the occasion was marked by a rather interesting little formality which lifted the ground-breaking out of the commonplace.

Architect Huston marked the outline of a Masonic cross on the ground at a point just north of the old executive building, where the excavating was begun. At each of the four points of this cross a spade was stuck, with a crowbar in the center. Then a photograph was taken of the spot, with Architect Huston, Contractor Payne and their assistants in the background.

Architect Huston took out the first shovelful of earth from the spot marked by the cross. After that Contractor Payne's workingmen took up the work, and in a few minutes a line of carts was established to carry away the earth.

The departments located in the old executive building and the internal affairs building have begun the work of removing their records and furniture to the temporary quarters, a factory building, which has been fitted up for use as offices during the three years required for the completion of the capitol.

WHY TORAL WENT MAD.

Driven Insane Because Required to Draw Up Full Account of Surrender of Santiago.

MADRID, Nov. 7.—(Copyright Cable.)—Gen. Toral, who commanded the Spanish army at Santiago at the time of the town's surrender, lost his reason in this way.

A few days ago while at Alhama, in the southwest of Murcia, he received instructions from the Spanish government to draw up a full account of the surrender of Santiago. From that time he showed great signs of agitation and was frequently heard repeating the words, "Surrender! Surrender!" The news has created a great sensation in Madrid.

REFUSES TO CONTEST, BUT ELECTION IS VOID

Huling Declines Congressional Seat for Which He Got No Majority.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Cyrus Huling, defeated Republican candidate for congress from the Twelfth Ohio district, will not contest the election of Judge Dewitt C. Badger, although his opponent refused to resign from the common pleas court prior to his election. Attorney General Sheets advised Mr. Huling that the Constitution provides that all votes cast for supreme, circuit or common pleas judges, for any elective office except a judicial office, are void. Mr. Huling said:

"I am not hankering for office enough to accept one to which I was not elected by a majority of the votes. I have no doubt the votes cast for Judge Badger are illegal, but I will not contest his election. What congress will do is another matter."

It is believed possible that Judge Badger will be refused his seat, and Mr. Huling's refusal to accept a certificate of election will in that event result in a special election.

The latest returns from the Thirteenth district show the election of A. C. Jackson, Republican, by 347 votes. His opponent, Dr. J. A. Norton, has threatened to contest the election on the ground that some of the votes cast for Jackson were illegal, but it is believed little will come of his threats. The fact that normally this district has given a plurality of 6,000 for the Democratic candidate, coupled with Mr. Jackson's remarkable run, has stirred up the Democratic leaders.

PHILIPPINE CALAMITY IN VERY FULL MEASURE

Cholera, Rinderpest, Locusts, Crop Failure and a Possible Famine.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.

While no steps have been taken by the war department here toward sending supplies from this country for the relief of the suffering caused by the failure of the rice crop, the cholera, the epidemic of animal diseases and a scouring pest of locusts in the Philippine islands, the situation is causing a vast amount of apprehension. In a private letter to Secretary Root, Gov. Taft expresses the belief that it will be a long time before conditions in the islands recover from the present depression.

Not for many years heretofore has there been calamity in such measure visited on the Filipinos. Nearly all domestic animals have been carried off by the rinderpest, while the cholera, which claimed thousands of victims, added a finishing touch to the demoralization.

In the opinion of officers who have recently returned from the Philippines, the famine which threatens is the most serious problem now confronting the insular government, and while the facilities and desire to assist the sufferers are both greater than at any similar period during the Spanish occupation, it is thought that the resources of the Philippine commission must be exercised to the utmost to adequately cope with the emergency.

It is said at the war department that nothing will be done in the direction of relief from here unless Gov. Taft decides that the insular government stands in need of outside assistance.

IN ONE LITTLE SPOT DEMOCRATS JOLLIFY

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Nov. 7.—Democrats from all over the state met at Cumberland, the home of Governor-elect L. F. C. Garvin, tonight to celebrate his election. Mr. Garvin reviewed the parade and made a speech. It was pointed out that Mr. Garvin is the only Democrat elected governor north of the Potomac and east of the Mississippi river.

Wheat Shortage in Australia.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 7.—Official statistics show that owing to the drought the wheat harvest in New South Wales is very poor. The shortage is estimated at 11,000,000 bushels. Queensland and other states of the federation will probably also have very poor harvests.

PRESIDENT TAYLOR'S DESCENDANT DIES IN PRISON OF ALCOHOLISM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Suffolk, Va., Nov. 7.—Realizing that he was dying last night, Thomas H. Bragg, a gray haired man of 61, told the prison keeper of Norfolk county jail at Portsmouth, Va. that he was a great-grandson of President Zachary Taylor. The jailer's wife made his little cell as cheery as possible during the final moments.

Bragg also said he was a kinsman of Confederate Gen. Braxton Bragg and had two daughters teaching in Maryland. He claimed to be a chiropodist of Charleston, W. Va.

The prison authorities said tonight they had a wire from Jefferson county, W. Va., saying Bragg had a brother in that county, and that, pending receipt of word as to the body's disposition, it would be held at Portsmouth. Unless instructions soon come, the remains will rest in a potter's field.

On October 14 Bragg was given a 30-days' sentence for drunkenness. He died of alcoholism and dropsy.

ANOTHER GREAT FAMILY HOTEL

John Dimling Plans a $1,500,000 Structure in Oakland.

BIG ASSEMBLY HALL

John Dimling plans for Pittsburgh the largest and most palatial family or apartment hotel of the country, a structure to cost $1,500,000 or more, erection on which will probably start next spring. It is to be located on the Dimling property at the corner of Forbes and Halket streets, and opposite in Halket street to The Maples, the home of the late C. L. Magee. The hotel is to be a great modern structure of ten stories and will contain about 400 suites of from two to four rooms, each with bath, and many private dining rooms. It will be of fireproof construction, steel frame, walls of Roman brick, stone and terra cotta trimings, and of the richest interior decoration, lavish with marble.

There is much more than the hotel in the project. The hotel building itself will be 100 feet wide at the Forbes street front and extend back 500 feet. A lobby 80 feet broad will run the length of the building and communicate directly with a great assembly hall building at the rear. This will be of two stories, and 120x250 feet in size. The first floor of the assembly building will be arranged for the greatest banquet hall of Pittsburgh, and above will be the auditorium, so arranged that asbestos curtains may divide it in two or leave it as one, as the exigencies require.

Still further back and fronting in Louisa street, which is soon to be opened, will be a large livery. At the front of the hotel will be an approach, about 50 feet wide. On the Halket street side, the plaza will be still wider and on this a circling driveway will swing to another entrance of the hotel. On the opposite side will be another wide driveway running back to Louisa street and communicating with the hotel, assembly hall and livery.

Mr. Dimling has determined on these plans for the property, through recognition that the site is the best for an enterprise of the kind, available in all Pittsburgh. It is readily reached on all car lines and when Louisa street has been opened, this thoroughfare will be the logical drive to and from Schenley park and the boulevards. The property has a frontage of 208 feet in Forbes street and 300 in Halket. It is L-shaped and its stem extends back nearly 1,100 feet from Forbes to Louisa street, the width of the stem which is back of the Dimling houses on Halket street, being 136 feet.

Within a few days the plans are to be put in the hands of an architect, probably F. C. Sauer. A stock company will be formed to finance the enterprise.

CORNISH FORGETS IMPORTANT FACTS

Testimony in Rebuttal in the Molineux Case Denies Statement in Former Trial.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Only the arguments of counsel and Judge Lambert's charge remain to complete the second trial of Roland B. Molineux for the murder of Mrs. Catherine J. Adams. The prosecution and the defense called their last witnesses today, and an adjournment was taken until Monday. A verdict is looked for on Tuesday.

The sensational turn given to the testimony for the defense yesterday, when Mrs. Anna Stephenson, wife of a Brooklyn policeman, said she thought Cornish was the man she saw mail the poison package, was continued today. Cornish was recalled to the stand and was asked whether he had a brown overcoat in 1898. Mrs. Stephenson said the man she saw mail the poison package wore a brown overcoat. Cornish said today he had no overcoat at all that winter. Then M. Black read from the minutes at the last trial to show that Cornish had testified at that time that he had only one overcoat, and that it was brown.

The husband of Mrs. Stephenson was called by Mr. Black to say that he never saw Cornish before yesterday and therefore could not have pointed him out to Mrs. Stephenson.

To Mr. Osborne Stephenson said he had not reported his wife's story to the authorities because he "did not take any stock in it." W. M. K. Olcott, one of Molineux's counsel, testified that he had purchased cyanide of mercury without difficulty at a drug store in this city, by saying that he wanted it for photographic experiments. Prof. Vulte of Columbia university testified that Molineux was in his company from noon until dark on the day the poison package was mailed. The package was mailed during the afternoon.

CLEVELAND FLYER KILLS AGED WOMAN

The wife of W. J. Prentice, president of the Castalia Cement Company of Ohio, died yesterday morning at the home of Miss Harriet Way, opposite Osborne station, from injuries received by being struck by the Cleveland flyer at Osborne station at 9:20 o'clock. Her skull was fractured. Mrs. Prentice was hurrying to catch a train for the city and ran across the tracks in front of the express, which struck and hurled her to one side.

She was carried into Miss Way's home, where she was attended by Dr. Craig, the former marine surgeon of the Pittsburgh district. Mr. Prentice is absent in Ohio on business and will not be able to reach Pittsburgh until today. Mrs. Prentice was a sister-in-law of James A. Moore of the business department of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

Mrs. Prentice, who was about 70 years old, was president of the Colonial club, which meets at the Hotel Schenley.

NEW YORK FEARS BAD COAL FAMINE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—The American this morning says: "New York is on the verge of the worst coal famine ever known. The retailers say they have no coal and accuse the anthracite railroads of withholding their product.

REVOLVER WAS DISCHARGED IN DRAMA'S MIDST

Rehearsal Almost Cost Life of Mrs. George Bechtold.

BULLET STRUCK HER IN THE FOREHEAD

Reported Murder Caused Excitement at the Bureau of Detectives.

NINE WERE ARRESTED

The rehearsal of a scene from a real red drama she had witnessed recently in one of the downtown theaters almost resulted fatally for Mrs. George Bechtold of No. 547 Second avenue shortly after 8 o'clock last night. In attempting to wrest the revolver from Lillian King, who was taking the part of the would-be suicide, the pistol went off and the bullet entered Mrs. Bechtold's forehead.

"I will kill myself. George no longer loves me," said Lillian King as she snatched the revolver from the bureau in Mrs. Bechtold's room and pointing it to her head.

"I will not permit you to. George is not worth it," replied Mrs. Bechtold as she grabbed the revolver from Lillian's hand.

In their struggle the revolver went off and the bullet struck Mrs. Bechtold above the nose and grooved its way to the top of her forehead, where it lodged. The shot brought the performance to a sudden end and the audience fainted. George Bechtold ran to the room and found his wife lying on the floor. They picked her up and hurried her to the office of Dr. W. C. Ranson at No. 514 Second avenue, where the bullet was removed.

In the meantime some unknown person saw the trio enter the physician's office and heard the conversation of the shooting. He telephoned the bureau of detectives, telling them a murder had been committed and the murderer could be found in Dr. Ranson's office. Detectives Harry Merritt and Albert H. Swinehart hurried to the office, placed nine persons under arrest and brought them to the police station.

After investigating the case Inspector Fred Will released them. Mrs. Bechtold will recover, but had the bullet struck an inch lower the drama would have been produced before the coroner.

TRUST LEGISLATION TO BE LESS RADICAL

President Seeks Law That Supreme Court Will Be Willing to Enforce.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 7.—Inside information has been received from Washington that those who are expecting stringent legislation against the trusts are doomed to disappointment. The coming legislation by congress will be rather in the direction of making the present law much milder and less radical than it is at present.

This is to be done on the ground that the present law is so fiercely radical that the supreme court will not construe its provisions except in the most closely technical way, thus defeating the intention of the law and practically nullifying its enforcement.

It is further stated that President Roosevelt's ideas on the subject of anti-trust legislation have undergone a decided change. Upon mature reflection, and after advice by Attorney General Knox he has considered the subject very carefully since the coal strike. What impressed him most was that the coal trust was holding up the entire country and yet it could not be reached under the federal laws.

The president's idea now is to get back on a basis where there will be some hope of getting the supreme court to apply an anti-trust law to all corporations engaged in using the privileges of interstate commerce to fleece the public. The law will be changed to impose penalties on all agreements "in wrongful restraint or in such restraint as shall be against the public welfare."

CUBAN CHILDREN MUST GO BACK

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The board of inquiry sitting at Ellis island decided unanimously in favor of excluding the Cuban children. An order was issued under which the children will be sent back to Cuba on the Ward line steamer, sailing November 13.

GEN. URIBE-URIBE SAID TO BE DOOMED

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, Nov. 7.—It is reported here that the Colombian revolutionary general, Uribe-Uribe, who surrendered at Rio Frio last month, has been sentenced to death.

BROTHER AND SISTER HAVE FIRST MEETING.

KENT, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Harry Williard of Kent and Miss Lizzie Hukill of Steubenville, the former aged 21 and the latter 23, met here today after a separation when the boy was eight days old at the death bed of their mother, Mrs. Oscar Hukill, at Steubenville. Reared in different towns, they were ignorant of the existence of each other until a few days ago.

They are niece and nephew of H. O. Hukill, purchasing agent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Pittsburgh, he being a brother of their father, who died five years ago. Miss Hukill is a school teacher and her brother is a rubber worker.

CITIZENS LINE UP FOR FEBRUARY

The Winning Party Is to Be Thoroughly Perfected for Next Contest.

THE RETURNING BOARD

Porter's Majority Over Burke Is 1,709—Official Count Will Not Be Completed Before Next Week.

For several hours yesterday afternoon the leaders of the Citizens party discussed methods of perfecting the organization. It is the intention to go into the recordership fight next February with a perfect organization. It is recognized that, while the personnel of the ward organizations leaves little to be desired, there are some weak spots in the complete system.

The suggestion that the Citizens party hold primaries previous to the February election is considered out of the question. A primary election, under the rules for holding such elections that have been in vogue in the past, would furnish an opportunity to adherents of the old organization to make trouble by engineering contests; to go into primaries under the rules of the old organization would be suicide and impolitic. The Citizens assert that they have an organization that contains more Republican votes than the old organization, but at the same time they do not propose to be victimized by trickery.

Ostermaier Wants Harmony.

The steps taken in the perfection of the Citizens organization will not be generally known for awhile, for it is known that the old body could interfere if its members knew what was going to be done. The Citizens party leaders are not opposed to harmony in Republican ranks, but they realize that their party holds a commanding position. Perhaps the old phrase beginning, "While the lamp holds out to burn," would best express their attitude toward the old organization. Robert Ostermaier, secretary of the old organization city committee, and city delinquent tax collector, is so anxious to have harmony that he even expressed himself yesterday as being willing to give up the delinquent tax collectorship if that sacrifice would make for peace.

At the Citizens headquarters it was said that Ostermaier would not be asked to give up his place; that there would be no dealing with Gov. William A. Stone, and that as far as the Citizens were concerned the city recorder, J. O. Brown, could hold his position until the municipal election.

How to Get Together.

In replying to several questions Thomas S. Bigelow said that if the old organization felt that Republicans ought to "get together" it could hasten that consummation by indorsing the Citizens party's candidate for recorder next February. Such action by the old organization, it is argued by some, would facilitate the process of "getting together." The organization could wait until the Citizens party made its nomination, then indorse the Citizens nominee and work and vote for him at the polls, and thus enroll themselves in the Citizens organization.

Recorder Brown is now expressing himself as being in favor of fair play in the nomination of a candidate for recorder. He says he is in favor of any good Republican nominated at Republican primaries; that it is time for Republicans to get together, as after January 1 several county offices would be filled by Democrats, elected on the fusion ticket.

The Allegheny county returning board was busy all day yesterday. When the members ceased their labors for the day at 5 p. m. they had completed the canvass of the vote cast in Pittsburgh last Tuesday as far as the Thirty-third ward. It is stated that the count cannot be completed before the middle of next week.

Porter's Lead Over Burke.

Considerable interest was taken in the proceedings until all the wards that compose the Thirty-first congressional district had been counted. According to the figures compiled, James Francis Burke, old organization candidate, received 14,532 votes, and H. Kirke Porter, Citizens-Democratic candidate, 16,241, giving Porter a majority of 1,709 votes. Burke carried the Seventeenth ward by a majority of 93, and Porter carried the Eighteenth by a majority of 80. The Nineteenth ward, the one which Burke had conceded to Porter, allowing him 800 majority, was carried by Porter by a majority of 1,090.

Fully $40,000 changed hands on the result of the Burke-Porter election. About $30,000 was bet on majorities, and John Staley and a few others who backed Porter to win by a majority of 2,000 lost their money.

The count showed that Dr. A. J. Barchfeld carried his own ward—the Twenty-sixth—over his opponent, James W. Brown, by 230 votes. In the wards so far counted Brown leads Barchfeld by about 1,400 votes.

More Election Arrests.

Detectives Roach and Kennelly yesterday arrested eight Citizens party workers in the Seventh ward for trouble said to have been caused on election day. Several of the cases are cross-suits, in retaliation for prosecutions entered before Alderman James R. Connor on Wednesday. Max Silverman of No. 136 Elm street swore out the warrants. He charges Benjamin Levinson with aggravated assault and battery; Matthew Bell and William McClintock with the same offense, and Benjamin Shuggar, J. Feigenbaum, Edward Browarski and Edward Grossman with riot. Silverman alleges that the defendants assaulted him, kicked him and tore up his naturalization papers. The defendants gave bail.

Harry Walsh, the 13-year-old official messenger at the Central police station, was discharged yesterday from the unofficial public service on the charge of pernicious factional political activity. Harry succeeded his brother in the position. In three years he is said to have saved, in bank, $500, after having the first two years given his mother all he earned, and for the last year $4 a week. The position was worth from $10 to $15 a week. Harry was accused of having conveyed private political information to the Citizens party. He protested his innocence, but was fired. He is now working for Roger O'Mara, former superintendent of detectives.

George Shellenger, an employe of the engineer's department of Allegheny, will have a hearing today before Alderman Martin on the charge of assault and battery, on oath of Samuel Shader. Shader charges that on election day Shellenger struck and kicked him in the progress of a row at a Third ward, Allegheny, polling place.

Wrecked Side of House.

A two-story brick house at No. 2536 Smallman street was badly damaged yesterday afternoon by having a partially burned stable on the adjoining lot collapse. The stable was owned by John Herron and was burned about a month ago. The old timbers were never torn down and yesterday afternoon when they fell, struck the side of the house owned and occupied by Thomas Atchison and tore a large portion out of the side of it, causing considerable damage.

J. W. Oldshue, M. D., 534 Grant street. Office hours, 10-12, 2-6. Patients will receive prompt attention during these hours.

SAY GRAHAM KNOWS HE WAS DEFEATED

Friends Are Ready to Confess That Shiras Has Won. Stone Deeply Interested.

From information received yesterday by the Citizens party, it is believed that the result of the vote in the Twenty-ninth congressional district is known to the friends of William H. Graham, and that they are ready to confess, that on the face of the returns, George Shiras has a majority of the votes.

Mr. Graham has been claiming his own election by a majority of 139, while Shiras was content with asserting that he has a majority of 80. The Citizens party's leaders were informed yesterday that some of the clerks in the prothonotary's office made a careful compilation of the returns, while they were in the hands of the prothonotary, and that Shiras won by 73 votes. Gov. Stone has left no stone unturned to learn the result, and it is said that Stephen Stone, his son, admits privately that Shiras is elected. It is understood that Graham contemplates a contest in case Shiras' majority is small, but his friends will attempt to dissuade him from carrying out his intention.

OFFICERS ARE RELEASED.

Washington County Grand Jury Ignored Charge of Murder Against Policemen.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The murder charge against Chief of Police John Summerville and Policeman Isaac Johnson of Donora, who, it was alleged, killed George Voniski, a Slav of Donora last August, was today ignored by the grand jury. The shooting occurred during a riot at a Slav wedding. The officers were called and the Slavs attacked them.

True bills for highway robbery were returned against Thomas Shaw of Homestead and James Gorman and George Smith of Charleroi. The men are charged with having held up Isaac Brown near Donora on the night of October 20. Brown was assaulted by three men and badly injured. He was knocked down and his pocket rifled. The footpads fled down the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad and were pursued by officers in an engine. They soon overtook Shaw, Gorman and Smith and arrested them. They were identified by Brown as his assailants.

The grand jury held William Byassee for the murder of William Clifford at Finleyville on October 27. John Jasper Banks, colored, who was at first suspected of the killing, has been discharged. As the result of a quarrel over some money Clifford shot and seriously wounded Charles Jarrett, who is in the Washington hospital and it is alleged that Byassee killed Clifford in retaliation. There is considerable mystery about the affair.

HELD THREE SESSIONS.

Christian Endeavorers Discussed Work of Union in Turtle Creek Yesterday.

The convention of the Christian Endeavor union, composed of 22 societies of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Pittsburgh district met at the Christ Methodist Protestant church, Turtle Creek, yesterday. There were three sessions during the day, which were attended by about 300 delegates from the societies.

The first session opened at 10:30 a. m. Devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. H. L. Freeman of the Sheraden church. The address of welcome was delivered by the Rev. H. Shimp, pastor of the Turtle Creek church, and the Rev. Robert J. Young of the First church, Pittsburgh, conducted the "School of Methods."

The afternoon meeting opened with devotional exercises conducted by the Rev. J. H. Tainer of Trinity church, Allegheny. Mrs. S. N. Foster of Knoxville made an address on "Duties of Christian Endeavorers to the Church." Mrs. Ida Zuckel, also of Knoxville, conducted the "Junior Hour." The evening session started at 7:30 and the devotional services were conducted by Frederick McElroy of McKeesport. The Rev. Dr. S. K. Stahr, the new pastor of the First church, Allegheny, delivered a sermon, and the closing address was made by the Rev. J. Sala Leland.

BOYS' INDUSTRIAL HOME TO ENLARGE

Looking for 100-Acre Farm—Will Investigate Oakland Public School's Refusal to Receive Boys.

The annual meeting of the Boys' Industrial Home association was held last night at the residence of L. T. Yoder, Murray Hill avenue. The committee on extension was instructed to report at a future meeting upon farm sites of 50 to 100 acres, suitable for the home's use.

It was further decided that an incentive to the boys for good conduct be offered in the shape of the use of gymnasium, library and baths, to be included in a building with a chapel. Definite figures on the cost of such a building were requested from the committee at the next meeting.

A serious obstacle to the work of the home was reported in the refusal of the Oakland public schools to receive the inmates on the ground that there is not sufficient room. The boys at the home were enumerated in returns for the state appropriation for Oakland, however, and a committee—John W. Cleeland, Maj. R. E. Stewart and Maj. J. W. Nesbit—was appointed to investigate.

The following committee was appointed to wait upon the board of charities: Dr. Parry, Maj. R. E. Stewart, T. M. Porter, Harvey Henderson, William H. Jamison, L. T. Yoder and Miss Sarah G. Eaton.

The annual report of Treasurer Dean showed an expenditure of about $12,000 to October 1. Ninety-nine boys were handled, 48 gratuitously and 51 partly gratuitously. Thirty-six were placed in homes or secured positions; 38 taken in charge by friends, while 25 remain at the home.

Window Glass Jobbers' President Comes to End Price War.

President W. T. Gray of the National Window Glass Jobbers' association is here for conferences with manufacturers, preliminary to an effort which will be made at a meeting of the jobbers at the Hotel Henry next week, to bring to an end the price warfare, now on. The jobbers' organization is threatened with disruption by the price war. Gray would not discuss the matter last night.

An effort is being made to have the jobbers agree not to buy glass from the manufacturers, some of whom sell direct to retailers, thus undermining the agreement to maintain uniform discounts.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC.
Samuel H. Blakeslee, Dean,
University of Denver.

Gentlemen—The A. B. Chase grand piano is here in the studio. Prof. Jonasch, one of our new teachers from New York, says: "It is simply a peach." Prof. Marlow, from Vienna, Austria, a pupil of Leschetizky, declares "It is simply exquisite." As for myself, I have not met such a surprise in many a day. I regard it as an ideal creation in the art of piano building, and my wife concurs in this opinion, and expresses herself as more than delighted in every respect.

Wishing you the success you so richly deserve, I am, yours sincerely,
S. H. BLAKESLEE.

Note—The A. B. Chase pianos are found only at S. Hamilton's, 335 and 337 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh.

MERCY INTERNES GO OUT IN BODY

Residents of Hospital Say They Were Not Getting Experience Expected.

WILL START TO PRACTICE

The Young Doctors Say They Were Giving Up Valuable Time and Were Not Allowed to Participate in Operations.

Complaints of the treatment accorded them by the staff physicians and alleging that they were not gaining the practical experience that they expected, seven resident doctors of the Mercy hospital resigned their positions yesterday. On Wednesday night they held a conference and agreed that they were wasting their time in the hospital and asked the staff physicians for a share in the surgical operations. This was refused. The names of the seven internes who have resigned are as follows:

R. J. Behan, No. 212 South St. Clair street, East End, graduate of the West Penn Medical college.

Clyde L. Curll, No. 4418 Penn avenue, a graduate of the West Penn Medical college.

E. Frank Romig, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

J. B. Roberts, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

C. P. White, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

C. F. Hardy, a graduate of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore.

W. A. Woodburn, a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia.

All Answered Alike.

On Thursday night the physicians, with Dr. J. I. Moyer, chief of the staff, as spokesman, presented the following question to the internes separately: "Are you willing to go on as interne in this hospital without any change in the present condition?" Each man, without knowing his colleague's reply, answered no. This closed the incident and the internes after another conference yesterday morning handed in their resignations and left.

The hospital authorities sent out an appeal to local physicians and medical colleges for supplies in case of emergency. The seven men who left graduated in June and entered the hospital early in July after passing the competitive examination. The understanding is that when internes enter a hospital they receive no pay other than practical experience. This they claim was not accorded them.

The internes met at dinner last night and discussed matters. They decided to rest awhile and then to build up practices in different places. Dr. Hardy left last night for his home in Wisconsin. The other internes were seen shortly after the dinner, and one of their number, acting as spokesman, said:

Did Not Get Experience.

"We resigned from the Mercy hospital after a careful consideration of the matter. We were not given the sort of work it was understood we should get there, and when we requested our rights, we were bluntly refused. The staff physicians asked us a question, and without even saying they had considered the matter, refused our request. We concluded we were wasting time there and resigned.

"We have no complaint to make against the hospital management. We were treated by the sisters in the best possible manner, but we could not afford to waste our time and strength in a task that was not benefiting us. There is no question as to the legality of our action. We entered there for a year, with the tacit understanding that we should assist in major surgical operations, and have charge of the minor ones. This we were not permitted to do. The assisting was done by the staff surgeons, and we were kept busy along lines that we were perfectly well acquainted with, and which could not possibly benefit us."

Drs. J. J. Buchanan, R. W. Stewart, X. O. Werder, O. C. Gant and other staff physicians declined to make any statement concerning the resignation of the internes or to discuss the matter in any form.

The mother superior, in charge of the hospital, was equally reticent, stating that the sisters were not involved in the matter, that it was a controversy between the staff and resident physicians.

Basketball Falls in Homestead.

The Homestead basketball team has withdrawn from the Interstate Basketball league. The Homestead manager last evening notified the president of the league that he could not organize a sufficiently strong team.

MINNESOTA TRAMP STEALS LOCOMOTIVE

ALBERT LEA, MINN., Nov. 7.—A man supposed to be a tramp stole a locomotive from the Rock Island yard this morning and went north at a flying rate. The engine was on a spur ready for the northbound passenger train. A pursuing party went after the fugitive, and five miles out found the engine. The tramp had disappeared.

DRIVEN TO SUICIDE BY FRIENDS' ANGER

George H. Baker, a Citizens Party Worker, Became Despondent Over Coldness.

Despondent because of the bad feeling displayed by his friends on account of the part he took in the recent election, George H. Baker of No. 2811 Cobden street, South Side, committed suicide early yesterday morning by shooting himself in the left temple with a revolver. He shut himself in a closet and sent the bullet through his brain. The shot killed him instantly. He was 43 years old and single.

Baker was formerly a regular Republican. Recently he became actively engaged in the work of the Citizens party much to the anger of his friends. Prior to the election they ridiculed him. After their defeat on Tuesday they were too angry to speak to him. His brother, John H. Baker, said that he noticed his brother was becoming despondent, and concluded it was due to the action of his former friends.

Early yesterday morning he heard a shot in his brother's room and upon going there was unable to get an answer from within. He saw the smoke from the revolver coming from the cracks and key hole of the door and broke it in. His brother was lying in a heap against the wall, dead.

Coroner Jesse M. McGeary was notified and Deputy Coroner John Black made an investigation of the case.

FIRE IN LEWIS BLOCK.

Crossed Electric Wires Cause a Small Blaze in Wunderley Bros.' Art Store.

A small blaze, caused by crossed electric wires, was discovered in the ceiling of Wunderley Bros.' art store in the Lewis block, Smithfield street and Sixth avenue, at 10 o'clock last night. An alarm was sent in and the blaze was extinguished. The fire had burned through to the second floor. Two women employes were trying to put out the blaze when the firemen arrived.

An alarm of fire from box No. 546 was sent in yesterday afternoon for a small fire in the roof of a two-story frame building at No. 572 Carnegie street, Lawrenceville. The house is owned and occupied by Mrs. Rosie Cornellie. The damage was slight.

A small fire was caused yesterday by sparks from a locomotive to a lumber pile near the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at the foot of Welsh alley, South Side. The damage was slight.

A lamp explosion at a house in Breedshill street caused an alarm to be sent in last night. The damage was slight.

MINERS REJECT ARBITRATION.

Coal Diggers in France Decide to Continue the Strike.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Six thousand striking coal miners held a meeting at Lievin, department of Pas de Calais, today. They decided not to accept the decision of the arbitrators against an increase of the present rate of wages, and to continue the strike.

The chamber of deputies today took up a resolution moved by M. Rouanet, Radical-Socialist, for the appointment of a commission of 33 members to investigate the condition of the miners and to report upon means to prevent economic conflicts. Premier Combes said the government had no objection to the appointment of such committee, and the resolution was adopted.

Gave Horse for Security.

James Elliott, a merchant of Braddock, was arrested by Ordinance Officer Kennedy of Wilkinsburg on a warrant sworn out by Tony Thomas, an Italian fruit dealer of Wilkinsburg, charging him with passing a check for $20.45 drawn on the State bank of Braddock. It is alleged Elliott never had an account there. He was released upon payment of the amount of the check and giving security for the costs in the case and for the payment of another bill of $12. A horse was put up for security to satisfy the balance due.

THE PAWNBROKER A POOR WITNESS

So Excited That His Memory Plays Tricks, and He Can't Identify Mason.

FRICTION AMONG POLICE

The Prisoner Recognized by a Woman Who Says He Has Annoyed Her—Alleged Attempts to Make Appointments.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Colored suspects figured prominently in the "Jack the Slugger" case today, and those who doubt Alan G. Mason's connection with the murder of Miss Clara Morton at Waverly were strengthened in their opinion.

Joseph Kemser, the pawnbroker who bought the watches stolen from Miss Morton and Miss McPhee, was taken to Cambridge jail today, but out of several persons awaiting trial he was unable to pick out Mason. Kemser has told so many conflicting stories that he will not be worth much as a witness until he has had a few days to get over his excitement. Although he has at least once declared that the Morton watch was pawned by a mulatto, and the McPhee watch by a white man, it is said the handwritings on both slips of paper are identical. A coincidence is that the address given in the McPhee case was No. 28 Grove street, and in the Morton case the same number Greenwich street was given.

George Dunham, one of the state police, thinks Kemser may be mistaken in saying that the Morton watch was offered to him on the night of the assault. On this point there is the positive testimony of C. V. Skokowski, an artist, who was in Kemser's store late Saturday night. He says:

"The man I saw was, I think, a light mulatto, and about 5 feet 6 inches tall. I am positive he bought a silver guard for a watch chain, and nothing was said about a watch. I am satisfied that Kemser closed his store about 11:05 o'clock."

The police today were trying to run down a report that a negro and a white woman had been seen together in Waverly Saturday evening.

Friction between the Boston and the state police, who are working on different theories, is said to have annoyed Gov. Crane so much that today the Boston police were asked to turn over to the state force the pieces of paper on which the person or persons who pawned the watches wrote their names and addresses.

In probing the case at Waverly the state police have found evidence that Morton had made at least two attempts to have women meet him at night at "The Oaks," a section of the Metropolitan park reservation not far from the McLean insane asylum, where Mason was a patient and on the grounds of which Miss Morton was killed.

During the afternoon a Mrs. Sayers, from Watertown, called at the Cambridge jail and told Sheriff Fairbairn she wanted to see Mason, because she believed from the pictures which had appeared in the newspapers that he was the man who had annoyed her last summer in a library room in this city. Mason again was placed in a line with other inmates of the jail, and with them was subjected to a rigid scrutiny. Mrs. Sayers identified Mason.

EAST END POLICE HAVE STRANGE CASE

Nathan McDowell's Friends Allege He Was Poisoned by Rival in Love Affair.

Nathan McDowell, 21 years old, who lives with his mother at No. 5927 Broad street, East End, nearly died Thursday from a dose of acrid poison, which, he told his mother, another young man was instrumental in making him take. McDowell refuses to name the man, but his friends profess to know whom he means. They say McDowell has a rival in a love affair.

On Thursday night the young man's mother, who had retired early, was awakened at 10:30 by moaning. She located the sound in the bath room. She could not force the locked door, so she went out on the sidewalk and asked two strange men to help. The men broke the door open and found young McDowell on the floor unconscious, with blood oozing from his mouth. A doctor brought him out of danger.

When the young man recovered he said he had been out with a girl and another man. The man had a small bottle and handed it to McDowell, telling him to drink the contents. McDowell put the bottle to his mouth and tilted it up, and then, he says, the other man jogged his elbow and the liquid went down his throat. He went home and in a few minutes was unconscious. Police Inspector Gray is investigating the case. No arrests have been made. The girl whom the two men were with is highly respected.

DEMOCRATS GAIN ONE.

They Elect an Additional Member from Luzerne County.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The official returns from Armstrong county are as follows: Pennypacker, 4,398; Pattison, 3,263; W. M. Brown, 4,382; Guthrie, 3,032; I. B. Brown, 4,450; Nolan, 2,940. The county ticket was elected by the Republicans by a majority of about 1,000.

The official returns from Luzerne county elect James Flanagan, Dem., to the legislature from the Third district, instead of Morgan, Rep. In that county Pattison received 16,816 votes and Pennypacker, 13,178. Guthrie ran 1,219 votes behind Pattison.

The official count of the Bucks county returns show the election to the legislature of Rice, Dem., instead of Edwards, Dem.

The change in Luzerne county makes the next house stand 157 Republicans and 47 Democrats.

Elder Judge Baker Resigns.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—The resignation of Judge John H. Baker of the United States district court of Indiana was received by President Roosevelt today. When Judge Francis N. Baker of the Indiana supreme bench was appointed judge of the United States circuit court at Chicago it was understood that his father would retire. The elder Judge Baker was appointed by President Harrison in 1892.

Woman Fatally Burned.

Mrs. Albert Varley of Fourth avenue, Homestead, is dying at her home from burns received in a lamp explosion yesterday. She attempted to extinguish a lighted lamp when it exploded. Her clothes were set on fire and she was so badly burned that she cannot recover, according to the statement of the physician.

Homestead Troop to Shoot.

The second trophy shoot of the Homestead troop will be held today on the rifle range at Highland station. This shoot is for the silver cup presented by Burgess J. C. Miller. Fred Atkinson won the first last Saturday. Five more are to be held.

MASONS CELEBRATE FOR GEO. WASHINGTON

Exercises in Memory of His Initiation Mysteries—Patriotic Speeches.

The sesqui-centennial anniversary of the initiation of Washington into the Masonic fraternity was observed last night at Carnegie Music hall. The local lodges paid tribute to the memory of their distinguished brother. The meeting was largely attended and many men prominent in Masonry and in civic life took part.

Sacred music was a feature of the celebration. A double quartet, composed of John Prichard, director; Morris Stephens, Thomas E. Edstrom, Robert R. Smith and Harry B. Brockett, tenors; Thomas Hanna, Samuel Amberson, James N. Bebout and George F. Wagner, bassos, sang.

The exercises opened with the singing of "Old Hundred" and Bishop Whitehead offered prayer. William M. Hamilton welcomed the visiting members. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Leak spoke of "Washington as a Patriot," and James M. Lamberton, on "Washington as a Free Mason." Warren LaRue Thomas, past grand master of Kentucky, read extracts from the records of Washington's Masonic history. Congressman-elect James W. Brown, deputy grand master of Pennsylvania, spoke extemporaneously of Washington's career and County Superintendent Samuel Hamilton followed with a short talk on the institution of Masonry.

The committee in charge of the celebration comprised Harry M. Landis, Charles M. Johnstone, Howard H. Parker, Charles A. Smiley, James Little, William M. Hamilton and George H. Quaill. An attractively printed program, bearing a fine engraving of Stuart's painting of Washington and the imprint of the eagle and the banner was distributed to the members as a souvenir of the occasion.

ELECTION QUARREL RESULTS FATALLY

James McCord, an Aged Expressman, Struck by James Devlin, an Old Friend.

In a quarrel over the outcome of the election on Tuesday, William Devlin of Conklin street struck James McCord, an expressman, 55 years old, at Eleventh street and Liberty avenue shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, and he died later in his wagon, which was being driven by his son to their home at Erin street and Bedford avenue. Devlin made his escape, and at a late hour last night nothing had been heard of his whereabouts. Devlin is also an expressman.

Both men had been drinking heavily and were old acquaintances. After they were through with their work last evening they started to argue over the outcome of the election. Devlin was a regular Republican and McCord worked for the Citizens party on Tuesday. They became angry in their argument and Devlin struck McCord, knocking him down. The old man was unconscious and his son James and Devlin picked him up and placed him in the express wagon. Young McCord drove him to the stables. On the way to the stable McCord regained his senses and seemed to be recovering from the effects of the blow.

As they reached the stable at Erin street and Bedford avenue he fell over in the wagon, dead. His son notified a physician and he was taken to his home in Bedford avenue. Later his body was removed to the morgue. Superintendent of Police John McAleese was notified and officers were sent in search of Devlin. McCord was a well-known character about the city, having been in the express business for 25 years. He was married and leaves a large family.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—Three new cases of smallpox were reported to the bureau of health yesterday. The patients were all sent to the Municipal hospital.

—Louis Low, proprietor of a Chinese restaurant at No. 511 Wylie avenue, yesterday complained to the police that he had been beaten by three negroes at Grant and Diamond streets yesterday morning.

—Frank Chief, 9 years old, of No. 102 Porter street, Allegheny, was badly injured by being run over by a buggy driven by Adam Schwartz of Brighton road, while playing in Preble avenue yesterday morning.

—Andrew Good, a puddler at the Keystone rolling mills, tried to walk to his home, No. 19 South Twelfth street, after having his leg crushed. He became exhausted and was found in the street and removed to his home in a patrol wagon.

—Frederick Petrie, a cattle dealer of Elliott, has been held on a charge of false pretense by Alderman Walsh. Mrs. Sarah Cunningham alleges he gave her a note for $40 in payment for cows a year ago, but never made any effort to pay the amount.

—William Bricket, 13 years old, living in Brownsville avenue, pounded a railroad torpedo with a brick yesterday afternoon, and it exploded. A fragment struck Bricket on the chest, making a severe wound. The boy was taken to the South Side hospital.

—Willie Marshall, colored, 15 years old, of No. 535 Jones avenue, had his right leg crushed yesterday evening by being run over at Twenty-eighth street and Penn avenue by car No. 4? of the Shady avenue division. At the West Penn hospital his leg was amputated.

—The regular meeting of post 259, G. A. R., of Pittsburgh will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in National Volunteer league hall, No. 227 Fifth avenue, at which the post will be inspected by Assistant Inspecting Officer J. E. Porter. Department Commander R. P. Scott will be present.

—Vice President Uriah Bellingham of the Pittsburgh district miners last night organized the men at the Bishop mine at the head of Millers run. The night before a local of 49 members was formed at the Clift mine on Montour run by Secretary William Dodds and Organizer Stephen Pezzarossi. Both of these mines are owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Wolter, Box 212, Algoma, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

OLD FAMILY TO HOLD REUNION

Descendants of John Colvin, First Settler in Fayette County to Gather

MEET AT THE HOMESTEAD

Redstone Creek, Where Progenitor Built First House in County Will See Big Gathering of Descendants and Connections.

For the first time in many years the Colvin family, the oldest in Fayette county, will hold a reunion today at the old homestead on Redstone creek, two miles from Brownsville. The Brown and Arnold branches of the family, who are prominent in Western Pennsylvania and throughout Ohio, will be represented. The Jacobs branch, from which some of the best-known rivermen in this vicinity have come, will also be there. Those who go from Pittsburgh and Allegheny to take part in the festivities are: William and Levi Colvin of the firm of Colvin, Atwell & Co. and their families, and Nelson Jacobs, son of the late Capt. Adam Jacobs. Lee H. Colvin of Seattle, Wash., arrived in Pittsburgh several days ago and will be present at the reunion. The late Joseph T. Colvin, president of the Tradesmen's bank, was one of the family.

The story of William Colvin is an interesting one. He was the son of Dr. William Coulvin of Glasgow, Scotland, who came to this country in 1745, settling in Philadelphia. After living there for several years he struck out over the Alleghany mountains and arrived, early in 1749, at Redstone creek.

William Coulvin and a half-breed companion built a log cabin, the first building erected in what is now Fayette county. The young man established a trading post, making occasional trips to Philadelphia for his wares. On one of his visits to the east he married a young Philadelphia woman and brought her west with him. Coulvin prospered in his trade with the Indians. Several children were born, only one of whom survived, who was named after his father. When independence was declared Coulvin took his wife and family to Philadelphia and entered the Continental army.

He returned after the war and lived to the age of 91. Before his death the pioneer built a stone house, the material of which was used in building the first hotel in Brownsville. The "u" was dropped from the family name by the son of the first settler.

Other connections of the family who will probably be present at the reunion today are Attorney John A. Murphy and Edward Kouse, a local newspaper man. Three generations will attend. The affair is to last for two days.

A THIRTEEN MILL LEVY FOR 1903

Controller Larkin and Councils Propose to Cut Tax Rate.

EXPENSES TO BE REDUCED

Recorder Brown to Be Called Upon to Furnish Estimates of Next Year's Expenditures This Month.

Pittsburgh councils will call upon Recorder Brown to furnish to them at once estimates of expenditures of the departments for the fiscal year beginning February 1, 1903. These estimates are to be used by councils in preparing the annual appropriation ordinance for 1903, on which work will begin without delay. They will also aid in fixing the tax levy for the coming year, which the reform element in councils and Controller Larkin propose to reduce materially.

A meeting of the finance committee has been called for today, and at this session the annual appropriations and taxy levy will probably be taken up. At the next meeting of councils, a resolution asking the recorder for estimates of next year's expenses will be passed.

Controller Larkin gave a pledge to reduce the tax rate and he proposes to redeem this promise. He will make it his business to show councils how this can be done, at the same time providing the city treasury with ample funds for all expenses and giving the city efficient service in all its departments.

Thirteen Mill Tax Levy.

It is Controller Larkin's aim to give the people a 13-mill tax levy in 1903. The levy for the last two years has been 15 mills. For some years previous it was 17 mills. The reduction two years ago was forced by the anti-machine element of councils and the results have been satisfactory. The service of the city has not been impaired, and the financial condition of the government at the close of the last fiscal year was better than for years before.

Controller Larkin claims that still another cut of 2 mills can be made. He said it is justified by the increase in taxes exacted from new property and the necessity of eradicating extravagance, which he claims exists in several departments. Extravagance can be remedied, the controller figures, by weeding out many high salaried employes who are mere ornaments.

The controller is of the opinion that the firemen and laborers should get more money, while deep cuts should be made in places where men draw fat salaries for doing next to nothing.

An Instance of Extravagance.

The recorder's office is cited by councilmen as an example. Five men are employed to do the work formerly done by two, the chief clerk and an assistant. The recorder has a chief clerk, an assistant clerk, a filing clerk, a stenographer and a police magistrate clerk, who draws as much money as the recorder's chief clerk. In almost every branch of the city service, men are on the pay roll whose services, the controller claims, can easily be dispensed with.

The framing of the appropriation ordinance will include a general revision of salaries, already started by a special committee of councils. The first session of this committee, at which Dr. J. C. McNeill, city veterinarian, and Philip Demmel, superintendent of detectives, testified, has been fruitful of results.

Controller Larkin and the reform leaders in councils believe that further probing will disclose additional extravagance and incompetency in other bureaus and departments.

Breaking a Machine Custom.

The demand upon Recorder Brown for estimates in November is breaking a precedent long in force under machine rule. The custom was to hold back estimates until the last minute and rush the appropriation ordinance through so fast that it could not be closely inspected by council.

With a safe majority in both legislative branches, this could be done, although the minority often made a fierce attack upon items in the budget. Two years ago the opposition of the minority was so strenuous that the machine was compelled to cut down the appropriations and reduce the tax levy from 17 to 15 mills. This was the entering wedge, which has been followed with other defeats sustained by the machine in the City hall and the loss of the controllership and control of councils.

Relief Is in Sight.

With the Citizens in control of the common branch, and almost an equal division in the select body, the reform element is hopeful of affording the people substantial relief from the tax burden.

The task of preparing the appropriation ordinance will not be delegated this time to three or four men, and it will not be put through councils with a dizzy whirl. Two months will be taken to consider the measure and every item will be subjected to critical inspection.

Controller Larkin estimates that the assessors' report, which will be soon completed, will show an increase in the property valuations of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 above last year. A tax levy of 13 mills upon this increase in valuation will add $130,000 to $195,000 to the revenues for 1903. The increase in the annual assessment is almost wholly upon downtown buildings erected within the year.

THE WEATHER.

Fair.

Fair and warmer weather is forecasted for Pittsburgh and vicinity today, with cloudy conditions for tomorrow, by the Washington weather bureau. Although reports have been received of falling temperatures in the far northwest, there is so far no indications that a cold wave is coming this direction. Yesterday the temperature dropped somewhat, the maximum being only 55 degrees. The minimum was 52, and occurred at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The Gazette weather service thermometers at Kaufmann's corner at the following hours yesterday registered:

BOGGS & BUHL, Allegheny.

DETECTIVES FOOLED BY BADGER WORKER

Lillian Harris, Participant in Notorious Case, Had Police Arrest Companion.

Lillian Harris, of badger-game fame, had the audacity to walk into the Central police station on Tuesday night and demand the arrest of J. E. Reed, the man with whom she was living. She stated that he had beaten her. Moreover, she got away with the trick, but Reed betrayed her. As a result the woman is in the toils on a charge by Reed of stealing a diamond pin from Gen. Jacob S. Coxey of Coxey's army fame.

The Harris woman was arrested with her husband, Roland Harris, several months ago on the charge of working the badger game on John Lewis. The arrest was made by Detective Richard Kelly and George Waggoner. Harris pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to two years in the workhouse. When the sentence was read in court Lillian wept and fainted and the sympathetic jury acquitted her.

Since then she has been living in the heart of the city at No. 308 Grant street under the very eyes of the police. It was supposed by outsiders that she had left town. It is evident that her nerve has increased considerably since her acquittal, and on Thursday night she walked up boldly into the police station and said she was Hazel Reed and that she wanted an officer to arrest her husband. Inspector Fred Will made an investigation and placed the man under arrest.

When Reed was arraigned for trial before Magistrate Bernard McKenna yesterday morning, Lillian said he was a thief, would not work and was always beating her. Reed was fined $25.

While Reed was being led to a cell he told Inspector Will that the woman was not his wife, but Lillian Harris. The woman was immediatey placed under arrest. She denied her identity and fainted.

Reed then confessed to having stolen to buy her clothes and keep her. He said she stole a diamond pin from Gen. Coxey in Cleveland, O. They pawned it in Allegheny. That the woman has lived in the center of Pittsburgh all these months is not creditable to the detective bureau, and that she had the nerve to enter the police station and demand the arrest of another man, escaping recognition of the dozen "sleuths" who constitute Supt. Demmel's "reorganized and efficient" force, speaks for itself.

WILSON SEES MITCHELL.

Long Conference Held by Leaders of Mine Workers' Union.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 7.—W. B. Wilson, national secretary of the United Mine Workers, arrived tonight from Indianapolis. He was closeted for some hours with President Mitchell. It is understood that Secretary Wilson will be the spokesman for the miners in the American Federation convention to be held at New Orleans next week.

Mr. Mitchell will be unable to attend the convention, all his time being taken up in preparing the anthracite miners' case for submission to the arbitration commission.

LAND DECISION REVERSED.

New Trial Awarded in Suit Involving $12,500,000.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Nov. 7.—The circuit court of appeals today reversed the decision of the lower court in the land suit of Henry C. King of New York against Watkins and 500 other defendants and a new trial will be had.

This suit involves the title to 500,000 acres of land in the counties of Mingo, Wyoming, Mercer, McDowell and Logan in West Virginia, and one or two counties in Kentucky and Virginia. The land is valued at $12,500,000.

Many Wish to Be Mayor.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The fight for mayor next spring has already been started and three candidates have announced themselves. The candidates are Mayor Frank L. Brown, Frank L. Baldwin and Justice C. H. Webb. Among the other candidates who will announce themselves within a few days, it is said, are George M. Summers and John H. Ruhlman, all for the Republican nomination. The Democratic candidates have not been announced.

Charged With Gambling.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The arresting of gamblers started last night when six men were taken before Justice Smith on the charge of keeping gambling houses. Those arrested were George Taylor, Joseph Bayliss, Peter Higgins, George Kelly, Michael Welsh and Clyde D. Fall. They were released on bond and their trials were set for next Wednesday morning.

DIRECTED TO MARRY BY MESSAGE FROM SPIRITS

West Virginia Couple Obey Edicts of Departed Friends.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 7.—That marriages are made in heaven is firmly believed by John Wilgus, a prominent merchant and farmer living at Proctorsville, a little town in the Ohio valley below here, and that belief is shared by his new wife. Both are spiritualists, and they were married after an acquaintance of less than a week because they say they were told to do so by visitors from the spirit world.

Mr. Wilgus lost his wife by death several weeks ago, and about the same time Mrs. Lizzie Griffin lost her husband. Before his death, Mr. Griffin told his wife that he would communicate with her after his death and tell her his wishes through a medium.

About two weeks ago, she says, the message came through a medium from the departed Mr. Griffin to his wife that he wanted her to marry John Wilgus. Mrs. Griffin wasn't aware of the existence of Wilgus, but made up her mind that she would follow the advice of her husband if she ever met a man of the name of Wilgus.

About the time that Mrs. Griffin's advice came from her departed husband word came through another medium to Wilgus, he says, that his wife wanted him to marry Mrs. Lizzie Griffin. He did not know Mrs. Griffin, but he at once started to find her. They met. John told his story and she told hers. Both were impressed with the message and they became engaged at the first meeting and were married within three days. Each is impressed with the belief that their marriage was ordained and that perfect happiness must be the result of their following the spiritual guidance of those who had gone before them.

The second Mrs. Wilgus is the mistress of the handsome home in Proctorsville into which she was directed by the former Mrs. Wilgus and her own former husband.

WOMAN DROWNS HERSELF.

Miss Lizzie Campbell Jumps Into Ohio River at Wellsville.

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Miss Lizzie Campbell, aged 57, committed suicide early this morning by jumping into the Ohio river opposite this city. She was a well-known seamstress, having resided in this city for 30 years. She was an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

Loss of money through a business deal a year ago caused her to become demented. She intimated to a physician a few months ago that she would drown herself. The physician advised that she be sent to an asylum or sanitarium, but nothing was done for her. Coroner John H. Straughn held an inquest this afternoon, and after hearing the testimony of three witnesses, returned a verdict of suicide.

LIVE STOCK POISONED.

Hollidaysburg Man Arrested, Charged With Causing Animals' Death.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Patrick Delaney of this place is under arrest charged with feeding poisoned apples to the live stock on the farm of John Henry of Blair township. Within two years there have been deaths by the wholesale of all the cows, horses, hogs and dogs on this farm due to systematic poisoning. Small chunks of dynamite were found in the fields where the cattle grazed. A favorite trick of the poisoner was to hollow out an apple, fill it with poison and then place it where a cow or horse would see it.

Delaney was an unsuccessful bidder at a sale of the farm.

Washington Landmark Burned.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The oldest building in Washington was burned today, when an old log dwelling house owned by S. W. Hall was destroyed. This building was erected a century and a half ago. How the fire started is not known. Some of the inmates had narrow escapes. Two adjoining buildings were also burned. The loss is covered by insurance.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

BURGETTSTOWN, PA.—The Westminster Presbyterian church of Burgettstown has called the Rev. J. M. Travis of Allegheny as pastor.

WASHINGTON, PA.—Warren Billingsley of California, aged 18, was held by the Washington county grand jury for trial on the charge of forgery.

HARRISBURG—Hoffman & Shelton's underwear factory at Williamstown was destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $40,000, with an insurance of less than $30,000.

WARREN, O.—A discovery of great importance to Warren was made when two veins of pottery clay were found on the farm of W. H. Dubendorf. One vein is two feet thick.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Milton Clark, a conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, has brought suit for $30,000 against the company. He was injured in the wreck at Seabrook, Pa., on July 9.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—During a quarrel Samuel Savick shot another foreigner, Pete Popovich, in the back, inflicting a serious pound. Popovich is in the hospital and Savick is locked up.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—A large section of the roof of the Baltimore & Ohio tunnel at Ellwood fell and Harry Treese of Ellwood, who was walking through the tunnel, was badly injured by the falling mass.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—Harvey Rexroad of Pennsboro was brought here to the hospital fatally injured. He was a fireman on a freight train and fell off at Pennsboro. He lay for several hours before he was discovered.

SHARON, PA.—Gustave Blanche, 47 years old, met death in the rod mill of the Sharon Steel Company. He was drawn through cog wheels. It is stated that Blanche was worth $50,000, but on account of domestic trouble left Buffalo, N. Y.

MARIETTA, O.—Coroner McClure rendered a verdict that Lewis Delp's death was due to strychnine taken with suicidal intent. Delp's partly decomposed body was found in the woods a mile from his home at Napier. He was rich, handsome and had a beautiful wife.

JAMES MURRAY.
Marshal of Toronto, O.

TORONTO, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—James Murray, the town marshal, combines two rare characteristics, being a first-class police officer and a faithful and consistent church worker. He has held his present position for several years, but always finds time to attend to his duties as class leader, steward and treasurer of the First Methodist Episcopal church, with which he has been identified for 12 years. He is a fearless officer and keeps Toronto well cleared of undesirable characters.

SCOTTDALE SHOOTING MAY PROVE FATAL

Alleged Assailant Walks Out of Hotel and Escapes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCOTTDALE, PA., Nov. 7.—Frank Moon, who lived near Broadford, was shot and fatally wounded by a stranger in the Scottdale house barroom this evening. Moon and the stranger were in the rear of the room talking when the latter drew a revolver. Moon remonstrated with the man for carrying a weapon of that kind. The stranger stated that he was a moonshiner, and, pointing the weapon at Moon, fired. The ball entered the upper portion of Moon's abdomen and took a downward course.

After firing the shot the stranger said: "Fellows, some one has shot this man. Come and help him. The shot came from the back door."

He immediately walked through the crowd, out the front door and disappeared. He is described as being of average height, with a smooth face and wore a light brown suit and light slouch hat. Moon was sent to the hospital at Connellsville. There is little hope for his recovery.

SCHOOL FIGHT IN COURT.

Ohio Judge Restrains Trustees from Erecting a Building.

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The most bitter neighborhood fight in the history of Coshocton county got into the court here today, when Mrs. Josephine McNabb brought suit against L. N. Staats and others and secured a temporary injunction from Judge Maxwell restraining Staats and others as trustees of the Nellie school district from continuing the erection of a $5,000 school house.

The Nellie school district was organized last May after bitter opposition in an outlying township. Bonds were sold for the erection of a school building. The enemies of the movement claim they will make the injunction permanent.

Western Pennsylvanian Dead.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—One month ago John H. Kane was arrested here, as he was insane. Nothing could be learned of his relatives and he was sent to the Massillon insane hospital, where he died yesterday. It was learned that he has a wife in Irwin, Pa., and is well known in Uniontown. He was an engineer in the Spanish war.

COUNTRY SCHOOL HOUSE WRECKED BY CHILDREN

Parents Entered Bail for the Appearance of Alleged Miscreants.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FREEPORT, PA., Nov. 7.—Halloween jokes generally go, but about 20 youths between the ages of 12 and 18 have got themselves into the clutches of the law, and what they probably thought to be a joke may turn out very costly.

Halloween night a crowd of boys proceeded to the Loneville school house, South Buffalo township, Armstrong county, broke into the building and destroyed the contents.

They first tore down the American flag and decorated themselves with sashes from it. They destroyed a new chart costing $40, broke up the chairs and desks, emptied all the ink, broke in the windows and filled them full of fence rails. The school had to suspend for a while till it could be put in shape.

The school directors made the necessary repairs, while they also gathered the names of those who had been instrumental in the destruction of the property. The directors went before Justice J. M. Boyd, made information against the boys and Officer John Duff notified their parents to appear last night before the 'squire and enter bail, which they did for a hearing next week. It is alleged that several girls were participants in the mischief.

WHOLE BLOCK BURNED.

West Virginia Town Suffers Loss of Fine Residences and Business Buildings.

SPENCER, W. VA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Two business buildings and 10 residences were destroyed by fire this morning, entailing a loss of from $30,000 to $40,000.

The flames wiped out one entire block and came within a hair's breadth of burning down the entire town. The fire was discovered shortly after midnight and in spite of all that could be done by several hundred people, formed in numerous bucket brigades, the flames spread to Walter E. Pendleton's law office and library, the finest in the state. From there they leaped over to Miss Mary McMillan's millinery store and then had undisputed sway for the remainder of the square.

The town has no fire fighting apparatus, and after they had exhausted all the means at their disposal to check the flames, the residents had to sit idly by and see their homes burned.

Several men were seriously burned.

Candidate for Speaker.

MERCER, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The Hon. Harry K. Daugherty of Grove City, who was re-elected to the legislature, has consented to become a candidate for speaker in the house of representatives.

At a special meeting of the board of fire underwriters of Allegheny county held Friday afternoon, November 7, the following minute was adopted:

"It is but a few days since the members of this board, desiring to show their respect for advanced age, elected as an honorary life member one of our number who had, in the providence of God, been permitted to live much longer than the average allotted time of man upon earth.

"Today we are called upon to record the death of this man whom we endeavored to respect, our only life member,

"MR. WILLIAM COLLINGWOOD,

"who has passed to the life beyond the grave, and we are assured is now enjoying the rest which remaineth for those who believe in our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Our deceased friend and business associate passed into eternity on Thursday, the 6th of November, in the ninety-first year of his age, and in his death an honorable career has been ended. A quiet, unassuming man of devout Christian character and a lover of the rule and principle which commands, 'do unto others as you would have others do unto you.'

"We extend our sympathy to the wife and the sons and daughters who are called upon to give up an affectionate husband and father, and we all bear testimony to the truth that we have been glad of the privilege of calling their loved one our friend.

A. B. CHASE ART GRAND PIANOS HIGHEST TYPE OF ALL INSTRUMENTS

The very atmosphere at Hamilton's music store is filled with suggestions of Christmastide. The number of customers who are anticipating their wants in the way of pianos and other musical instruments for holiday gifts exceeds that of any corresponding period in the history of this old reliable house. Orders are being placed every day for Christmas delivery. And it is a significant indication of the trend of the cultured taste in these matters that a very large proportion of the orders for pianos are for A. B. Chase grand pianos. The fact is, that in the finer homes of Pittsburgh, just as in all the other large cities of the country, the A. B. Chase grand piano is constantly obtaining a larger vogue, and is, indeed, the accepted favorite of refined and cultured people. An inspection of the superb collection of A. B. Chase grands on display at Hamilton's shows that the manufacturers have not been content with producing the finest piano in the world from a musical point of view only; they have made the exterior of their pianos marvellously beautiful works of art as well. Here are pianos in white mahogany, some in woods exquisitely enameled in the highest style of art, some hand-painted pianos that are perfect gems of art. For those who prefer the plain mahogany, that style is here. In fact, there is nothing that the most fastidious taste could demand in a piano that cannot be found here in the A. B. Chase grand. Of course, the demand for A. B. Chase upright pianos is, and probably always will be, very large. And the uprights are made to satisfy equally exacting tastes. In these the same charming variety of woods and finish prevails as in the grand pianos. In fact, every A. B. Chase piano is work of art.

The brilliantly vibrant Fischer, the sweetly sympathetic Schumann, the popular Smith & Barnes and Hamilton pianos are among the leaders of this incomparable stock.

Prices of pianos here range from $200 up, and they are sold on easy terms of payment to suit the convenience of purchasers.

We are pleased to announce that we have just received a carload of Angelus piano players of especially fine finish. The cases are somewhat similar to, and some of the designs even more beautiful, than those which we sent out last year to grace so many of the homes of the wealthier musical people in the East End. The demand this season bids fair to exceed that of last year, which was enormous.

Store remains open Saturday evenings till 10 o'clock.

D. B. HENDERSON'S NEXT STRUGGLE

It Is Said Secretary Shaw Has Persuaded Him to Run for Governor.

AGAINST GOV. CUMMINS

The Speaker and the Present Executive Represent Factions Which Have Separated on the Question of Revision of Tariff.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.

Widespread interest attaches in administration and political circles to a story from Iowa relative to Speaker Henderson. The statement is made that Speaker Henderson and Secretary Shaw, former governor of Iowa, had a long conference a few days ago at Des Moines, and that the result was an understanding that Speaker Henderson should next year enter the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination against Gov. A. B. Cummins.

The bitter factional struggle in Iowa is a matter of history. One of the results of this fight, and of Speaker Henderson's resentment of Gov. Cummins' control and his policy of tariff revision, was the declination by Speaker Henderson of the Republican nomination for congress in his own district on a platform dictated by Cummins. The Cummins faction advocates a revision of any tariff duties that shelter trusts.

The old dominant element in Iowa, composed of Secretary Shaw, Speaker Henderson and nearly all the other Iowa congressmen, do not and will not go that far in tariff revision, and their dislike for Gov. Cummins has not been concealed.

Plausibility to the Iowa story is given by the close personal relations between Secretary Shaw and Speaker Henderson, and it is believed that if there were found to be a good opening to overturn the influence of Gov. Cummins, it would be seized instantly. Speaker Henderson is regarded as the strongest man to make the fight.

It has been customary to give an Iowa governor two terms, and Gov. Cummins will aspire to succeed himself. He has built up a powerful following and is able and popular.

There is said to be no love lost between Secretary Shaw and Gov. Cummins; but so far, Secretary Shaw has done nothing that would give Gov. Cummins opportunity to complain to the president. Naturally, President Roosevelt could not allow a portion of his administration, one of his cabinet officers, to become identified with a factional struggle in a Republican state, and so there would be a dangerous outcome should charges be made at any time by the Cummins faction.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

MRS DENNIS' ASSAILANT.

Cole, a Colored Porter, Arrested on Strength of Evidence Before Coroner's Jury by Another Negro.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—Richard Cole, a colored porter, 20 years old, was arrested today and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of committing the assault upon Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, a well-known dressmaker, at her home in this city, over 10 months ago. Mrs. Dennis died about a fortnight ago without recovering sufficiently to talk rationally.

Julius Van Brakle, colored, formerly proprietor of the Brunswick hotel, testified today before the coroner's jury that on March 19 Cole said that he would be a happy man if Mrs. Dennis were dead; and also had said once, when he looked worried: "Yes, if you had on your mind what I have on my mind, you would look worried, too."

Van Brakle said Cole made certain statements regarding the reason why he did not care to visit the sick woman, among other things that Mrs. Dennis might say something which would reopen the investigation.

Detective Hartigan, who has been working on the case ever since the crime was committed, testified that Cole is the only person among those he investigated who wavered in his statements.

Cole, who also testified before the coroner's jury, denied making the assault, and protested that he had assisted the authorities. He denied using language attributed to him by Van Brakle.

INDEPENDENTS COME IN.

Individual Operators in Anthracite Region Agree to Accept Finding of Arbitration Commission.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—Col. Wright and Gen. Wilson of the anthracite coal strike commission had a brief interview with the president today. They reported that the individual operators in the anthracite region had agreed to abide by the findings of the commission and had so notified Judge Gray.

President Roosevelt was particularly pleased at this information, as it tended materially to simplify the problem which the commission has to solve. The commissioners explained in some detail their work up to this time.

The president expressed his gratification that the work had been satisfactory to those engaged in it.

RAIDS ON POSTOFFICES.

Robbers in Indiana Get Stamps to Write Many Thousand Letters. Two Safes Blown.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Nov. 7.—The safe in the postoffice at Cloverland was blown open last night by five masked men, and the contents, consisting of several hundred dollars in stamps and cash, were carried away.

Robert Gabbert, who was passing the postoffice, was captured and tied to a chair.

CULVER, IND., Nov. 7.—Burglars belw the postoffice safe here early this morning and got away with $1,000 worth of stamps. There were three explosions of dynamite and the safe door was blown through the side of the building.

POSTOFFICE CLERK ARRESTED.

Prisoner Is Said to Have Confessed Rifling Letters.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 7.—Postoffice Inspector Kyle today arrested Clinton J. Robbins, a clerk at the local office, for the theft of letters containing money. Through a hole in the ceiling the inspector, who has been here for two weeks, said he saw Robbins rifle a number of letters and that Robbins has admitted his guilt.

The Hayner Distilling Company, which was the only concern reporting losses, says the company has been robbed of between $2,500 and $3,000. Robbins is a young married man, and well connected in this city.

Competitive Consular Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The civil service commission, in its annual report, urges the president to recommend to congress the enactment of a law furnishing facilities for determining the comparative qualifications of applicants for the consular service by means of open competitive non-partisan examination.

CORBIN WANTS CANTEEN AGAIN

Attributes Increase of Desertions and Laxity of Discipline to the New Law.

OUTSIDE BARROOM EVIL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The annual report of Maj.-Gen. Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, begins with a statement showing how the army is to be reduced by December 1 to 60,020 men.

Regarding the canteen he says:

"The restoration of the exchange as it existed prior to the passage of the act of February 2, 1901, prohibiting the sale of beer, is desired and urged by the great majority of officers and men, and by none more than those of pronounced temperance views. Numerous reports confirm the views long held by this office, that the old exchange contributed to sobriety, health and contentment of the men. The increase of desertions and of trials for infractions of discipline is, by those best informed attributed to the abolition of the former privileges of the exchange."

Young Officers Should Not Marry.

He has the following to say concerning marriage:

"The early marriage of the younger officers of the army, many of whom are entirely dependent upon their pay and allowances for support, is greatly to be deplored and should be discouraged. A young officer should have but one allegiance, and that should be to the service. Officers without private means must necessarily divide their pay between the demands of their office and family. A considerable number are required for service in the Philipppines, where living is expensive, and the accomplishment of this tour of duty results in actual hardship to officers with families."

The adjutant general has obtained the number and kind of arms in the hands of the national guard in the several states and finds less than 4,000 United States magazine rifles in their possession. Of the multitude of other types, he says: "This heterogenous collection of obsolete arms is a very serious detriment to the efficiency of the entire national guard, which, in organization, drill, instruction, etc., assimilates closely to the regular army and should be armed with the same arms as the latter."

What the Maneuvers Developed.

In reviewing the reports of the officers who participated in the army and navy manoeuvers last September, Gen. Corbin says that much valuable information was acquired. He says:

"The manoeuvers have proved that the rank and file of our army can be depended upon in every emergency, that apparently impossible tasks can be accomplished under the spur of necessity, and that there is an immeasurable gulf between practice and theory. The lessons learned by both officers and men were of more practical value than years of ordinary garrison routine and instruction."

The wireless work, as conducted by the signal corps, established the fact that wireless telegraphy is an important factor in the defensive operations of an artillery district, increasing by many miles the extreme distance at which the enemy's approach can be detected and his ships located.

In conclusion, he says: "The instruction of our men in vocal music would be a step in the direction of contentment and better discipline. Every regiment should have its marching song. Frequent practice in singing, particularly during the long winter evenings, would do much to make our men satisfied to remain in quarters and away from the baleful influence of the barrooms that exist in too great numbers in the vicinity of all our military posts. These barrooms are under the protection of license and laws of the several states and are beyond the control of the military authority."

WOMAN EDITOR IN JAIL.

Mrs. Annie O'Mahony Sentenced to Prison Under the Crimes Act in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Annie O'Mahony, the first woman imprisoned under the crimes act during the present campaign, was arrested at Waterford this morning and sent to jail, where she will undergo a two-months' sentence.

Mrs. O'Mahony, who is the proprietor of the Waterford Star, refused to furnish bail to guarantee that she would cease the publication of boycotting notices.

H. P. Lynan, editor of the same paper, was also arrested and sent to jail for a similar term.

IN ATKINSON'S BEHALF.

Senator Scott Wishes the Ex-Governor Made United States Judge.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Senator Scott of West Virginia called on the president today to again urge the appointment of ex-Gov. George W. Atkinson to the court of claims to fill the vacancy that has existed since the death of Judge Davis. Senator Scott has repeatedly urged Mr. Atkinson's claims, and is thought to have made a strong case out for his candidate. The president will not take up the judgeship before the 23d of this month.

Senator Scott is asking a place in the government service also for the Rev. C. H. Payne, a colored man of Huntington, W. Va.

Swallow Prefers Freedom.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Dr. Silas C. Swallow, the unsuccessful Prohibition candidate for governor, has resigned as superintendent of the Methodist bookrooms in this city, to take effect at the close of the conference year in February. He says he is tired of the exacting routine of the establishment, and prefers to be free to make speeches when called upon and to do as he likes generally.

Lady Somerset Sees the President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—Miss Rissley Seward of this city today introduced to the president Lary Henry Somerset, who for many years has been identified with temperance and philanthropic work in Great Britain. Lady Somerset is the guest here of Miss Seward, who is engaged in a similar line of work in this country.

GOVERNOR SHARP ENDORSES PE-RU-NA.

He Says: "I Can Earnestly Recommend Pe-ru-na."

Isaac Sharp, ex-Governor of Kansas, in a letter from 1227 I street, N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I can earnestly recommend your Peruna as an excellent tonic. Its reputation as a cure for catarrh is firmly established by my friends, who have been benefited by its use, and the public should know of its great curative qualities."—Isaac Sharp.

Mr. Edwin F. Whitten, 3 Otis st., Worcester, Mass., writes:

"I am pleased to add my testimony relative to the great benefits which are derived from Peruna in cases of catarrh.

"March last I was taken ill with congestion of the lungs and bronchitis, which left me with a severe case of nasal catarrh. The discharge from nostrils and throat was vile and sickening. In May I began taking Peruna, and in less than ten days the discharge had ceased, and before the second bottle was used the soreness back of nostrils, over eyes and head, generally, had disappeared.

"It has prevented the annual attack of hay fever and my general health is by a large per cent. better than it has been for many months.

"Peruna, certainly, if taken wisely and faithfully will in a very short space of time do good work in ridding one of catarrh."—Edwin F. Whitten.

Congressman Thompson of Kentucky.

Ex-Congressman Phil. B. Thompson, from Kentucky, writes:

"My friends have used your remedy, Peruna, and I take pleasure in testifying to the merits of your medicine. Besides being one of the very best tonics, it is a good, substantial catarrh remedy."—Phil. B. Thompson.

Clean Mucous Membranes.

Anyone who has taken Peruna has clean mucous membranes.

Anyone who has clean mucous membranes is not liable to catch cold, cannot have catarrh and need not fear catching the grip or having malaria or contracting any contagious disease.

As the skin protects the outside of the body so the mucous membrane protects the cavities of the body, that is to say, if it is a clean and healthy mucous membrane.

A congested or catarrhal mucous membrane, a mucous membrane dotted with little ulcers or spotted with canker sores will not protect the body.

Such people always have colds, are sure to have the grip and would acquire any contagious disease that is going in spite of all antiseptics and precautions.

Peruna makes dirty mucous membranes clean.

Peruna makes diseased mucous membranes well.

This not only rids the patient of catarrh but fortifies the body against the reverses of all climates, epidemics and contagious diseases.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Hats Popular With Men.

The unexcelled quality and correct style which is always found in an "S. & R." hat have had much to do with the popularity of our Hat Department.

Our Waldorf Derby and Country Club Soft Hat.

These two hats illustrated here are the acknowledged fashion leaders for this fall. They are priced right, their style is right and their quality and finish is right. In fact, they are the best that modern hat making can produce. Choice of either derby or soft hat at $2.98, $3.00 and $3.50

The New Telescope.

This new variation on an old shape has found many admirers, especially among young men. Its curving brim prevents the drooping common to soft hats. A choice of black, steel or pearl at $1.98

Our Ben Hur Derby

Needs no introduction, for it has been the most popular $1.98 hat in the city for several seasons past. Better than ever in quality and up-to-date styles, at $1.98

PROTEST RAISING OF THE BRIDGES

People Will Take Exceptions to the War Department's Scheme.

WILL PROTECT WHARF

Director McCandless Says the City's Interest Will Be Jealously Guarded at the Public Hearing to Be Held Next Week.

The battle being waged by citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny against the disfigurement of the downtown thoroughfares by the raising of the bridges spanning the Allegheny river has been more than half won.

Next week, when the people will be given an opportunity to voice their opinions before the United States engineers, they will learn how the advocates of high bridges have been obliged to abandon some of their pet plans and, in accord with the pressure of public sentiment, no longer talk of the gigantic scheme for the regrading of all the streets between Penn avenue and Duquesne way.

It is now intended to build a wall in front of the river terminal of Sixth street, and divert traffic from that thoroughfare to Fifth street, Barker alley and Scott alley, leaving Sixth street isolated so far as its communication with Allegheny is concerned. In other words, the plan to reach the proposed elevation of the Sixth street bridge is to build two steel or stone viaducts for vehicles on the river front from points opposite Fifth and Seventh streets, and by stairways for pedestrians at the present entrance of the bridge.

Bridge Hearings Next Week.

"All persons interested" in the war department's proposition for the raising of the bridges have been invited to meet at the United States engineer's office in the government building for the consideration of the measure. Notices to the public fix the dates for the hearings on November 14 for the Union bridge, and the day following for the consideration of the proposed alterations to the Sixth street structure.

The outlook is that the engineer's offices will not accommodate the crowd. If all who are interested in the project attend, half the population of the two cities would doubtless be there to join in a protest. The matter of raising the other bridges across the Allegheny, within the city limits, for obvious reasons is not being discussed at this time. The promoters of the scheme are thankful that the war department is moving slowly and that the United States engineers are not advancing any detailed plans for the elevation of the other structures, but the people are not blind to the fact that it would be impossible for all the bridges to be reached by viaducts on the wharf, and that in the end the city would have to expend millions in order to regrade its streets.

Director McCandless Watchful.

"Vigorous measures will be taken by the city to protect its interests," said Director J. Guy McCandless, of the department of public works. "I have received no notice of the hearings aside from the newspaper reports, but will be ready when the time for action comes. I have not yet decided what course I shall take in behalf of the city, and will spend some time investigating the matter before I venture to express my attitude. I will consult the city's engineers, of course, and shall look carefully over the section of the wharf that will be affected by the building of the proposed viaducts.

"We must foster our river interests, but at the same time we must protect our privileges on the wharf. These advantages are as sacred to the city as the cause of free navigation is to the rivermen."

The plans made for the elevation of the bridges have been greatly and wonderfully changed since the original scheme was hatched. Two years ago it was intended to stand streets on end, cover up old landmarks, submerge buildings to the second floor and erect an artificial "hump" below Penn avenue that would cost more than the entire effacement of Court house hill.

How a Former Scheme Was Nipped.

No thought was paid to the burden of debt that would be heaped upon the back of the city. The outrage was to be perpetrated under the guise of the promotion of free navigation of the Allegheny when the business people called a turn on affairs. A committee of citizens drafted resolutions setting forth the folly of the proposition and the publicity that was given this document nipped the colossal undertaking of the bridge raisers in the bud.

The suggestions which will be given to the owners of the bridges, the city of Pittsburgh and the hundreds of thousands of people who will be placed at inconvenience and financial loss if the government succeeds in altering the heighth of the bridges, provide for the shifting of the Union bridge 75 feet down stream at the southern end, and for the building of a grade of 4.15 per cent on Duquesne way from Point alley to the entrance of the bridge.

The two viaducts which have been planned for the approach to the Sixth street bridge would ascend from Fifth street on the west, and from a point near Seventh street on the east. The Fifth street viaduct would be built at a grade of 4 per cent. A stairway would be the inviting prospect that tired pedestrians would find when they would walk out Sixth street toward Allegheny.

Great Artery Between Cities.

The Sixth street bridge for half a century has been considered merely an extension of Sixth street and Federal street, forming one of the principal arteries of traffic in the two cities, and the building of the viaduct, it is argued, will virtually mean the erection of a wall across the thoroughfare at its busiest point. The result will be found in a serious blockade which will have a disastrous effect upon trade in that district, as well as the clogging of all the streets in the downtown section.

Not less than 30,000 persons traverse the bridge each day and thousands of wagons, carriages and street cars which use it would be placed at an inconvenience which, measured in dollars and cents would mean a useless waste of time and money to a large portion of Greater Pittsburgh's population.

WOMAN FOUGHT ROBBERS.

Negro Housebreakers Were Attacked and One Rendered Unconscious.

Two negroes, supposed to be employed at the Wabash railroad camp in Greentree, Thursday night forced their way into the home of James Hepplewhite, a Carnegie butcher, and attempted to rob the house. At the point of a revolver the negroes demanded from Mrs. Hepplewhite all the money in the house.

She took the men upstairs and was in the act of handing over $6 and a ring when her widowed sister, Mrs. Lucy Johnston of Fountain street, Allegheny, who was visiting at the house, attacked the men with a heavy glass decanter. After stunning one of the negroes she dragged her sister, who was semi-conscious, from the house and aroused the neighbors. The negroes escaped.

Surveys Finished for B. & O's Proposed Cut-Off to Hancock

A special dispatch to The Gazette from Baltimore says: "The Baltimore & Ohio engineers, who have for four months been surveying from Hancock, on the main line, to Locust Grove, have about completed their work. They have made their last locating survey and are now surveying for property rights, for the right of way purchases. The road runs through Bedford and Fulton counties. The survey has been made through a rugged, mountainous country and was very difficult. Several tunnels are on the route. One is over 2,000 feet long."

This dispatch revives the report printed in The Gazette last summer that the Baltimore & Ohio seeks a new crossing of the Allegheny mountains, for its traffic between the Atlantic seaboard and the Pittsburgh district. This is said to be desired, both on account of a shortening of the route and more favorable grades, although the Baltimore & Ohio already has in its present crossing at Sand Patch a lower grade than that of the Pennsylvania. No denial has ever been made of this plan. It was stated at the time of first publication that such surveys are always in progress. This one, however, has evidently gone much farther than mere prospecting.

The completion of this cut-off will mean the further reduction of Cumberland as a terminal point. Already it has lost considerable, under the new division arrangements. It is the present junction point between the Pittsburgh division and the main line. Hancock will be that point under this survey. The line, if built, will be the2 first railroad to enter Fulton county, the only county in the state without a railroad.

The significance of this survey is also apparent in another way. The line from the east to the west, passing through Pittsburgh, is to be some day the main stem of the Baltimore & Ohio instead of the present line via Benwood, W. Va. The reconstruction of the old Pittsburgh & Western, now progressing at a cost of $4,000,000, is part of this general plan. The other large plans of the company in this city, which await only the sanction of the city for carrying out, all point toward the time when Pittsburgh will be in all respects the most important city on the Baltimore & Ohio system. It now exceeds all other points in revenue.

MAY GO TO ARBITRATION.

Rival Lines Will Not Countenance Lake Erie's Boston Rate.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is contesting what is regarded as an arbitrary rate made by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie of $18 to carry passengers over their all-rail route Pittsburgh to Boston. The Baltimore & Ohio is unwilling to meet the rate, holding that it should not be less than $15.50, and will not consent to the lower rate becoming an established, or so-called card, rate.

Charles W. Bassett, general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, was here from Baltimore headquarters yesterday and attended a conference with L. A. Robison, general passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and other interested passenger officials. Mr. Bassett said afterward:

"We cannot consent to this rate. The Lake Erie people claim it by adding our Duquesne limited rate of $9 and the $4 sound rate from Brooklyn to Boston. This is unfair, for a traveler with baggage could not get to the boat from New York terminals for less than $1. The matter will probably have to go to arbitration."

NEW LINE GROWS FAST.

Lake Erie, Alliance and Northern Rapidly Stretching in Both Directions.

An inspection of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Northern railroad, the new line formed by amalgamation and construction by the Morris-Garfield syndicate of Cleveland, has just been completed. A party of Cleveland bankers and railroad men passed over the line of the prospective Wheeling-Lake Erie route.

During the year the road has been extended from Bergholz to within two miles of Dillonvale, a distance of 18 miles. In another year the line will be extended from Phalanx to Fairport on Lake Erie, where the company has purchased 175 acres for dock purposes. The southern link, from Piney Fork, O., to Wheeling, will next be completed. The line will enter Wheeling by means of the Wheeling Bridge & Terminal Company's facilities. Over a dozen coal mines are on the line of the road and many more are to be opened. The railroad is capitalized at $35,000,000.

BRICK RATES GO UP.

Increase of Freight Planned West of Pittsburgh.

The freight rates on brick are to be raised. A meeting of the brick committee of the Central Freight association, which fixes the rates between Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago, was held at the Chittenden hotel, Columbus, this week to line up the territory with the new tariff. The product is now on a commodity basis, less than sixth class. The advance, it is said, will be from 5 to 10 cents a ton, according to the kind of brick.

There is now another general movement evident toward a stiffening of freight rates. The continued prosperity of the country, which has given the railroads more than they could transport satisfactorily, is responsible for this. The fact that the great supply has killed all competition, all lines having too much, gives excellent opportunity to increase rates.

AN EXPENSIVE TRIP

But the Air of Old England Failed Him.

The brain is composed of thousands of little cells and these contain a vital substance which is used up during active work and can only be replaced by the right kind of food and drink.

With many people, coffee drinking excites the brain and prevents it from getting the necessary rest and breaks down and destroys the cells and the soft gray matter therein, nor does coffee supply the food to replace these cells and this naturally leads to mental exhaustion and nervous prostration.

"Some two years ago, I was laid low with a very severe attack of nervous prostration, and had to resign my position with a large mercantile house of this city," writes a gentleman from Brooklyn.

"The doctors said my complaint was due to over work, long hours and insufficient exercise, and recommended a trip to Europe. More dead than alive, I followed their advice, and went to England for a short visit, but came back very little improved, and unable to work, sick and disheartened.

"On my return my wife and I went to boarding and a gentleman living in the house told me of the beneficial results he had experienced by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

"I at once stopped drinking tea or coffee and used Postum, drinking it three times a day, and in a short time found a decided improvement in my condition, and now, I am glad to say, am following my profession again. I do not feel the slightest effects of my old complaint, and I am confident that I owe my present good health to the use of Postum.

"We have two children and our little girl who is now 2 years of age has been brought up on Postum and Grape-Nuts, and today weighs 40 pounds. Pretty good for a child only 2 years of age." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ALL READY TO BUILD.

Pennsylvania Wants Only on Ordinances for Its East End Line.

The engineering department of the Pennsylvania railroad has all in readiness for the start of the work on the new East End line connecting the main line with the Allegheny Valley and the West Penn. The surveys necessary for the award of contracts have been completed. Nothing but the delay in the franchises holds back the work.

Bids will be asked, as soon as the franchises are granted, and the contracts let at once, as the need of the new line is urgent and the management of the road is impatient at the delay. The surveys are now in the office of the chief engineer in Philadelphia.

Pennsy Leases Four New Engines.

How eagerly railroads are seeking motive power is evidenced by the fact that the Pennsylvania lines have leased four new freight engines built at the Rogers locomotive works for the Mexican National railroad. These engines were built standard guage, while the greater part of the Mexican National is still narrow guage. The change of the tracks is now going on and the lease provides that the Pennsylvania shall have the use of the engines until such time as the progress of the Mexican National's work allows their use there.

Panhandle Buys Property.

BURGETTSTOWN, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The Panhandle railroad has purchased the Panhandle hotel property from D. J. Dowden and the store room of Vance & McGregor, with a view, it is said, of erecting a new passenger and freight station thereon.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Capt. A. P. Boller, consulting engineer on the bridge work of the Wabash extension, is in Pittsburgh.

Charles Eddy, traffic manager of the B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, was in the city yesterday.

The change of time on the Vanderbilt system of which the Lake Erie is the Pittsburgh line, has been postponed from November 16 to November 23.

John Beal, traveling freight agent of the old Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. Mr. Beal was known as a valuable man on the old road and his services will be retained under the new ownership.

Senator W. A. Clark of Montana authorizes the statement that he has bought the interest of several other western men in the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake and now controls the new road absolutely. He paid about $1,200,000 for this stock.

Ralph J. Lawrence, general agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Wheeling, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday, says that parlor car service will be initiated on that road between Wheeling and Toledo very shortly. The cars are now rebuilding in the shops.

At the meeting of the Pennsylvania railroad directors Wednesday next, resolutions of regret will be adopted upon the death of Judge Logan, the late general solicitor. The new general solicitor will without doubt be George V. Massey, the present assistant.

Freight conductors and brakemen on the river division of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh are said to be formulating for the shortening of their hours. They say they work 12 hours for the same pay as the men on the main line work 10 hours. They ask also 5 cents an hour increase for overtime.

BUTCHERS WINNING THE PRESENT STRIKE

Two Other Big Employes Sign Scale and General Break Is Expected Soon.

At a meeting of the striking butchers held yesterday morning in Moorhead's hall, the reports of the several committees were favorable, and it is thought the strike will be ended before the close of the week. After the meeting had been called to order it was announced that the firm of Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Beef Company, at Penn avenue and Twelfth street, had signed the scale. The announcement had hardly been made when William Smith of Allegheny entered the hall and signed the scale, taking his butchers with him.

T. H. Flinn, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, said that Mr. Smith came unannounced to the meeting, and after he had signed the scale called his men and they left the hall together. The outlook last evening was for a general break on the part of the employers, and that all the firms will sign the scale.

As was previously stated in The Gazette, the strike tied up all of the big meat firms. Four of them have already signed the scale and others are expected to do so today.

Officers of the organization were unanimous in the statement that they will win, and expect the strike to be settled soon. They say it will be impossible ot fill the places of the men now out. Pickets have been stationed at the plants, and all railroad stations, to intercept any new men that may have been engaged in other cities.

The strike has been indorsed by the Iron City Trades Council, and if it is continued will be indorsed by all the labor organizations of the county.

Fight Is Settled.

It was stated in labor circles yesterday that the long-drawn fight between the Coopers' International union and the Guckenheimer Distilling Company, of Freeport, has been settled. The fight lasted 18 months. The firm agreed to the demands of the coopers and has been taken off what is called in labor circles the "unfair list."

Will Mine in West Virginia.

The new Wellsburg Coal Company, formed by Pittsburghers and some local business men, will develop 1,200 acres of coal in the panhandle of West Virginia, and a subsidiary concern will extend a branch railroad of six miles to the property from near Wellsburg. Two mines are to be opened to produce, ultimately, 1,000 tons of coal each day. The officers of the company are Joseph A. West, president; William Glyde Wilkins, vice president; L. F. Barrall, secretary, and C. C. Law, treasurer. A hundred miners' houses will be erected on 135 acres of surface property owned.

The Chauncey Pianos Are Great Home Favorites.

Perhaps you have children who are listening with rapture to the piano playing of some neighbor and longing for the day when they, too, can bring forth melody from a piano.

Nothing is more indicative of latent talent than this yearning for ability to do something requiring special ability and training, and parents who have such children owe it to themselves to afford the little ones an opportunity to learn to play on the piano as early as possible. What the little ones learn early they are not likely to forget. And it is equally true that the best foundation of a musical education is that which is formed when the mind is eager to learn everything about music.

It was because of the demand for an instrument to meet the peculiar requirements of children learning to play that Mellor's produced the excellent piano known as the Chauncey. It is an instrument for the home—one whose mission is to bring happiness into the household. The sweet tone of the Chauncey is equalled only by this instrument's ability to withstand the hard usage to which children invariably subject an instrument. Another thing which contributes to make the Chauncey piano popular is the moderate price at which it is sold. And you can pay for this piano as it is convenient for you. The terms will be arranged to your satisfaction.

In fact, it makes no difference what make of piano you select at Mellor's, the matter of payments need not trouble you, for the policy of this house is to offer every inducement to customers that is consistent with good business.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks of Cornell university, who was sent by the government to investigate colonial government, has made his report to the war department. He studied the work done by the various European powers in the government of Oriental peoples, and he finds that the United States, in the short time it has had control, has introduced self-government among the Filipinos to an immensely greater degree than what exists among any other Oriental people. We have not given the right of suffrage to them by wholesale as we did the negroes in our southern states, but we have established elective institutions to an extent which no Oriental country has ever known since the world began.

The nearest approach to our policy in the Philippines, although so remote as hardly to be mentioned in comparison, is found in British India. In general the policy of the English officials is to govern the country in accordance with the traditions and habits of the people, who know nothing and care nothing about representative institutions. In their village communities the elders are the rulers, and in regard to any higher grade of government they regard authority as the natural attribute of power, whose sufficient warrant is its actual presence. In deference to home sentiment in England an attempt was made 20 years ago to constitute local assemblies of elected representatives. Prof. Jenks finds that these assemblies are regarded as mere shams, and those who still approve the policy do so on the ground that an educative influence is exerted which in time may establish habits of self-government. At present, however, the village representatives come to the meeting rather sulkily, seeking to find out what the English presiding official wants, do it and get through. Prof. Jenks explains this by saying: "They had been in the habit of doing as they were told in matters of taxation, road making and other local matters, and in many cases they felt that this self-government was an imposition upon them of an added burden of work rather than a privilege bestowed."

In the Malay states under British rule no attempt has been made to introduce self-government, but native authority is everywhere utilized under the control of British resident officials. The natives receive their orders through their own chiefs, whom they are accustomed to obey, but the chiefs, while treated with great outward show of [illegible], and well satisfied with their position because of the security and affluence in which it places them, are really the agents of British authority, taking their instructions from an English adviser. The progress of the country under this system has been simply amazing. The Malay states have railroads, telegraphs and telephones, and their macadamized roads are described as being superior to anything of the kind in the United States. Over one important road a regular line of automobiles is running as an up-to-date substitute for a trolley line. Prof. Jenks remarks that "in the municipalities one finds almost everywhere incinerators for disposing of garbage, systems of water works and many other provisions such as only the most highly civilized states enjoy." Although there is "not even a vestige of self-government," Prof. Jenks remarks that the native "has been granted liberties of action, of holding property, of self-education and self-development such as he never dreamed of before."

Dutch government in Java is conducted on the same principles as British government in the Malay states and with the same general results. The government aims to secure the welfare of the native Javanese, and this requires close supervision. Any leases or rentals a native may make must be submitted to the approval of the Dutch resident in order to be valid. Chinese traders who would find the unsophisticated villagers an easy mark are not permitted to visit the country districts and are subject to restrictions upon their activity in the cities. Prof. Jenks remarks: "Knowing the superior ability of the European and the Chinese and the certainty that the simple-minded Javanese would soon find himself landless and practically absolutely in the hands of the foreigner if unlimited freedom were left to all parties, [illegible] government watches over him in a paternal [illegible] and on the whole the Javanese seem content and prosperous."

[illegible] the Philippines we have endeavored to introduce American institutions as fast as possible. Suffrage is restricted to those who pay taxes [illegible] read or write either English or Spanish, [illegible] local officials are elected. In the provincial governments the governors are elected by the municipal councilors, but the treasurer and the supervisor are appointed. It is also proposed to give to the Filipinos within a short time the election of a general legislative assembly which will have a veto on practically everything proposed by the appointive officials. Congress has granted the Filipinos the right to send two delegates to represent them in congress, so that the plain tendency of our policy is to provide the Philippines with a territorial government on the American model. Prof. Jenks notes that our policy is not only directly opposed to that which other powers have thought wise in dealing with Oriental peoples, but even educated Filipinos doubt its wisdom. Prof. Jenks says he has not found one in favor of extending the suffrage and "many of them even question the wisdom of the election of governors of provinces and the members of a legislative assembly at the present time."

While in countries where there has been no attempt to introduce self-government the natives are peaceful and contented under administration considerate of their welfare and susceptibilities, in the Philippines we have had to contend with stubborn insurrection, and there is chronic unrest and discontent. In order to understand this it should be borne in mind that while liberty means to us the right to govern ourselves it means to Orientals the right to be governed in accordance with their own customs, and they resent the imposition of political duties as requiring them to do the work of officials without pay. Hence in introducing elective government we are imposing institutions hostile to their ideas of liberty. Only those whose education has given them some knowledge of western institutions can understand our purpose, so that if it is our settled policy to make them govern themselves according to our ideas, it will require many years of effort and constant pressure of force. A comprehensive system of education designed to fit the Filipinos for self-government has been started, but Prof. Jenks does not think it "can make any serious impression much short of three or four generations"—that is to say—we must not expect to see the new order of things established before 75 or 100 years from now, if then.

RUSSIA'S WAY.

During the disturbances in China shocking reports were published in regard to the ruthless way in which Russian forces suppressed outbreaks in Manchuria. The murder of Russian officials by Chinese mobs was avenged by such destruction of life as to appear like wholesale massacre. Chinese administration in Manchuria always has been weak and the country has been so infested with brigands that what might be called a robbers' trust had been organized among the Chinese, selling protection to merchants and insuring protected caravans against attack. The construction of a Russian railroad under a concession granted by the Chinse government interferred with established commercial interests and menaced the profits of the robbers' trust, as well as offending the prejudices of the people, so that the Boxer disturbances in China were the signal of the rising in Manchuria which the Russian authorities drowned in blood.

It will be interesting to note the progress of events since and the effect of Russian occupation. A London Times correspondent has recently made a journey through the country and has described the present situation in detail. The facts which he gives affords astonishing evidence of the ability of Russia to establish order and stimulate industry wherever her power extends. He reports that in places where five years ago there were only a few Mongol tents there are now flourishing towns with shops, hotels, hospitals, public parks and schools. Steamers are plying upon the rivers and the correspondent remarks that "every town is overflowing with abundance." It appears that the country is one of the richest graneries of Asia, and that under orderly government the production of live stock and food stuff seems inexhaustible. The Chinese ability for business transactions is displaying itself in a surprising way, now that Russian control has suppressed brigandage. The correspondent remarks that the vast Chinese caravansaries all along the highways to accommodate the traffic are one of the sights of Asia, and he mentions that he has seen as many as 2,000 heavily ladened carts drawn each by seven mules passing a given point in a single day.

Regarding the treatment of the Chinese by the Russians he says that Chinese officials admit that there is no present ground of complaint, and the correspondent himself remarks that during two months intercourse he did not hear of a single instance of mal-treatment. "On the contrary, the Russians, especially the officers seemed to treat the Chinese with more consideration, friendliness and familiarity than one is accustomed to see elsewhere." The correpondent goes on to say that the occupation has brought a great accession of wealth to the people and that the Chinese are experiencing a material prosperity they have never before known.

It will not be supposed that the London Times is in any way biased in favor of Russia, and the statements it publishes only confirm other evidences to the effect that Russia is the great civilizing power of Asia. Russian officials have to deal with a greater variety of races, speaking a greater variety of languages than is to be found in any other region of the world. They beat down armed resistance mercilessly and spread such terror that the people know once and for all that they must be obedient, and then immediately they seem to be able to secure the confidence, respect and good will of their subjects. There is no mystery about the method. They do not attempt to force any particular set of institutions upon the natives, nor to introduce self-government, nor to tamper with their religious beliefs, but they give them the sort of government they want, availing themselves of any native authority which may exist, practicing a gracious and friendly policy in all matters involving native taste and native culture, and promptly recognizing and rewarding native talent. The turbulent elements in the population who find enforced tranquality unendurable, are enlisted in the armies of the czar under some form or organization adapted to the native character. Thus it is that every native race who have passed under Russian rule accept it with satisfaction and obtain from it peace and prosperity.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

The greatest drawback to business at the present time is the inability of the railroads to handle the traffic pressing upon them. This is not so much the result of a shortage of cars as a deficiency of motive power. After the shipper has filed his cars and started them on the way the time consumed in reaching destination is double and quadruple that ordinarily required. This lack of management, or foresight, or whatever may be the cause, has resulted in the clogging of railroad yards and sidings with loaded freight to an unprecedented degree. The condition is not only exasperating to the shipper and consignee, but is expensive to the railroads. This is seen in the decreased net earnings reported in the face of large increases in gross. The effect does not stop here, however. The congestion of freight disturbs commodity values, reduces production and increases cost of operation generally. This condition of affairs is widespread. In Western Pennsylvania it is most severely felt in the coal and coke trade, where the price paid for prompt delivery greatly exceeds the normal price. In the west grain buyers have been compelled to restrict operations on account of the inability of the railroads to furnish cars and motive power, thus interfering with the marketing of the crop.

No doubt the increased cost and delay attending the distribution of merchandise is responsible for the feeling expressed in some quarters that general business has passed high tide and that a recession has begun. If a furnace is banked or a mill closed down the public may not learn that it is due to inability to obtain fuel and raw material. If the latter accumulates at points of production the true explanation—a lack of railroad facilities—may be known to only those directly affected. Last week 18 furnaces in the valleys and the Pittsburgh district were compelled to bank on account of inability to obtain coke, while some of the coke ovens were compelled to remain idle because of inadequate transportation facilities.

Receipts of wheat at primary points are averaging about 500,000 bushels a day over the corresponding period last year, the weather having been favorable for the movement of the crop. Export clearances have been fair, the total for the week reaching 5,700,000 bushels, but the total since July 1, when the new crop began to go to Europe, is about 14,000,000 bushels smaller than for the same time last year. Corn has not yet begun to move in volume but the revised estimates increasing the probable yield of cotton, and the decline in market value of the latter to the lowest quoted for this year's crop, have stimulated exports of this commodity. Reports from the agricultural states of the west show that the farmer is in an unusually prosperous condition, and the mercantile trade outlook for that territory is unusually bright.

The result of the elections had only a temporary effect upon the stock market, but the latter has remained dull within a narrow range of fluctuations. Liquidation has continued on a more or less extended scale, and the banks continue to pursue the policy of discouraging a revival of speculation. Opinion is still divided as to whether this country will be called upon to export gold in large quantities, or whether our shipments of breadstuffs and cotton will offset our debts to foreign lenders. The present demands upon banking credit are larger than ever before. This condition is not local, but is general, because commercial and industrial activity is widespread. It is, therefore, evident that the needs of domestic borrowers and the possible requirements of foreign creditors cannot be met at the same time and leave anything for stock market operators to carry on a fresh bull campaign. Therefore the banks are disposed to strengthen their position, or at least hold loan rates firm. This is a safe policy to pursue to avert a recurrence of a money flurry at the end of the year; but it restricts the buying power of the public and for the time being makes the stock market more vulnerable to bearish attacks.

NETWORK OF SUBMARINE CABLES.

The development of submarine telegraphy in the last 50 years is a marvelous exhibition of the progress made by the human race in providing itself with the means of disseminating information and bringing together distant points of the world's surface. Persons who have not kept informed of the rapid laying of cables will be surprised to learn from the treasury's bureau of statistics that there are no fewer than 1,750 submarine telegraph lines in the world at the present time, with an aggregate length of nearly 200,000 miles. This elaborate network of wires has cost $275,000,000, and they carry each year something like 6,000,000 messages. These statistics give some idea of the general use of cable communication, and cause one to look with pity on the inhabitants of this old globe only a brief half century ago, when news was so slow in traveling and so meager when it arrived. Those were the days when half the world really did not know what the other half did, but those days have gone by forever.

GOOD NEWS FROM BELGIUM.

The United States consul at Liege, Belgium, sends home the cheerful news that the backbone of the hard times for that part of Europe is broken. It is always pleasant to learn that people are prosperous, but in this case it is particularly pleasant to learn that Belgian prosperity is an overflow from America's abundant supply. The extraordinary industrial activity in the United States has done much to stimulate industries in Belgium. Consul Winslow gives statistics which show that orders for steel rails are quite numerous in Belgium mills, as well as orders for structural steel. Demand outran supply in this country and Europe was called upon to help. The increased business between Belgium and the United States is not all on one side, however, for the Belgians are ordering more goods from America than ever before. The demand is greatest for electrical supplies, industrial machinery and agricultural implements, and the consul intimates that the openings for these lines of goods are widening.

It was rather rough on that innocent visitor to the sultan's grounds who paid the monarch the compliment of a "hurrah," to be taken for an assassin and promptly beaten into insensibility; but then Abdul cannot afford to take any chances these days.

Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas declares that the results of Tuesday's election constitute a Democratic victory. It has been so long since Jones has seen a Democratic victory that he has doubtless forgotten how it looks.

At the cabinet meeting yesterday the members confidede to President Roosevelt their opinion that the Republican victory at the polls was a signal indorsement of his administration. That's what the people think.

Government officers suspect that spurious dimes and quarters are being manufactured near Homestead. This is one way of making money that cannot be approved.

Now that the election in the south has put all bigger game out of mind President Roosevelt is disposed to tackle the bears in that section.

The eastern paragraphists are referring expectantly to the Thanksgiving turkey now that they have anthracite coal over which to roast him.

Cabinet members gave the president some message pointers yesterday, but it is safe to say that none told him to cut it short.

John Dalzell and Joseph G. Cannon are the two big guns mentioned for the speakership of the house of representives.

Tomorrow will be Decision Day in the Sunday schools. Last Tuesday was decision day at the polls.

The official count will arbitrate the differences between George Shiras III. and William H. Graham.

Perhaps D. B. Hill rather shares Croker's opinion now and believes politics to be "ancient history."

If the butchers' difficulties cannot be adjusted it may be a meatless Sunday for some citizens.

It cost 15½ cents each to count us in the last census, but we were worth the expense.

In calling him a human refrigerator, Devery handed out a warm opinion of David B. Hill.

This is the night the Citizens celebrate.

TIGER PREPARING TO CAPTURE CITY

Coler Picked by His Friends as Suitable Timber for Mayoralty Chair.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

Bird S. Coler, having found that he cannot be governor of the state this time, is thought to have his eye on the mayoralty of Greater New York. His friends have for him, certainly. There has been talk that a movement on his behalf might be started by the first of the year, but it does not appear that the powers that be, Tammany hall, care much about it. The large Tammany vote for Coler is not to be ignored, however, and around the Wigwam there is a disposition to hedge by saying that it is too early to go into details. Murphy, the present "boss" of Tammany hall, has other things to engage his attention. There have been persistent rumors that Richard Croker is likely to come to New York to look things over, now that Tammany has done so well, and that he would take the leadership of the organization if he did come. This does not suit Murphy. He ridicules the idea of Croker ever ousting him from his seat at the head of the Tammany table, now that he has such good results to show last Tuesday. Murphy takes to himself the credit for the Tammany majorities in the greater city, and in effect asks the world whether Croker or anyone else could have done better. When he was asked today what he thought of the report that the 'squire might return from Wantage, he laughed as he answered: "Personally, I am paying no attention to such rot." Most likely, Murphy used the right word when he called the rumor "rot," because no one thinks that Croker will bother himself any more about New York politics. All reports from him that are authenticated are to the effect that he is interested in his farm and his horses on the other side of the Atlantic, and that he cares nothing about the trend of political events in New York. The most interesting fact, to the mere onlooker, is that Tammany means to make a desperate fight for the mayoralty next year, and that it is much heartened by its good showing last Tuesday.

Chances Seem to Favor Molineux.

The Molineux case is adjourned until Monday. Then the opposing counsel will have a field day, after which Judge Lambert will deliver an unimpassioned charge and the jury will have the case. The general opinion is that the chances are about even for a disagreement or an acquittal. It is possible that Molineux will be found guilty, but few people think so.

New Commodore of Cup Defenders.

With a challenge from Lipton on their hands, members of the New York Yacht club realize the importance of their organization being well officered next year. There will be a change of officers in a few weeks, and it is understood that there will be a new commodore. He will be F. G. Bourne, most likely, as it is understood that the present commodore, Lewis Cass Ledyard, intends to retire, thus clearing the way for Vice Commodore Bourne to step into his place. Next year will be an important one in yachting in these waters, and the club expects to be ready for anything that may come before it.

Handy for the Burglar.

Sneak thieves got into a Madison avenue house at dinner time last evening and stole $5,000 worth of jewelry from upstairs rooms while the family was in the dining room. What wonder there was a robbery when a ladder was standing against the wall at the back of the house, inviting any passing crook to do a little "second-story work." In a town like New York, where doormats are chained down and iron braces are used to secure front basement steps, is it strange that a thief took advantage of that inviting ladder? As no doubt he would say, "De snap was jist too easy."

Some Grade of Liar.

The man who has been upsetting the nerves of the Brooklyn police for several days by declaring that he killed Albert Lattimer is still in a cell. He insists that he was the mysterious burglar who shot the man to death in the presence of his wife, and the police do not know what to do with him. A young woman appeared today and said she recognized the prisoner as an old sweetheart of hers, remarking that he was nothing more than "a plain, ordinary liar." Physicians say he is "a pathological liar," but the police find these distinctions too much for their collective, overwrought brain, and it looks now as if the prisoner might wind up in the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital.

Largest Retail Store in the World.

Macy's new store in Herald square will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is said to be, and probably is, the largest retail store in the world, and the opening, therefore, will be an event in the city. It will interest Pittsburgh to know that 26,000,000 pounds of structural iron and steel were used in the building, with more than 2,000,000 pounds of ornamental bronze and iron. One of the strictly up-to-date arrangements are a set of four escalators, each with a capacity of 10,000 persons an hour. One of the startling assertions of the management is that the floor space of 24 acres, included in the edifice, would, if reduced to a shop 20 feet wide, be nine miles long, reaching from the Battery to One Hundred and Forty-first street. These ingenious calculations are the work of the advertising department of the store, of course, but they are none the less interesting and impressive on that account.

Osborne's Poison Theory Smashed.

Osborne, the demon prosecutor in the Molineux case, was made to look ridiculous this afternoon. It was when several witnesses, men of good standing in the community, showed each a bottle of cyanide of mercury—the poison which Osborne had insisted could not be procured in New York save by special effort and by persons known to have legitimate use for it—and swore that they had bought it in separate drug stores in different parts of the city without trouble, the only thing required of them being their names for the "poison book." Osborne evidently did not like it as the witnesses stepped up and coolly knocked over his theory that cyanide of mercury was a rare and almost unknown poison, not likely to be at the disposal of anyone but a chemist, like Molineux. Osborne had nothing to say when this part of his case was smashed. In fact, it seemed as if he had pretty well given up the fight altogether, in his own heart.

Furs Will Be in Vogue.

Weather prophets say there is a cold wave speeding from the west. If it comes across the country altogether, it will strike Pittsburgh before it gets to New York; but the women are ready for it. Back yards all over the city are decorated with furs hanging on the pulley lines, ready for the frost, and it is a truth which no one can doubt that this is to be a great fur winter. One of the favorite furs, it is said, will be the Siberian squirrel.

Clever Skits.

Two burlesques on current serious attractions were produced at Weber & Field's Music hall last night, and both were hits. One was on "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," in which Willie Collier made up as a laughable caricature of John Drew, long nose, heavy mustache and all, while the other skit was on Ethel Barrymore's little comedy, "Carrots," with Fay Templeton mimicking Ethel. As Pittsburgh has not yet seen the originals, I need not go into detailed descriptions of the travesties, but may say that they are even better than the rest of the performance at the popular little music hall.

New York's Chrysanthemum Show.

Pittsburgh has not a monopoly of free chrysanthemum shows. In Central park there is the usual autumn exhibition of chrysanthemums, orchids and foliage plants, and brilliant and beautiful they are. There is a steady stream of people to the great greenhouses every afternoon and I do not know a pleasanter place in which to spend an hour on these lovely days. Comparisons are odious, but I must say I do not think there is anything here to throw into the shade the display in the Phipps greenhouses in Schenley park, as I remember it some four years ago.

Schurz's Illness Soon Ended.

Carl Schurz, who was taken suddenly ill last night at a festival in celebration of the 70th birthday of Andrew D. White, is reported to be quite well today. Colic was the trouble, but a good night's rest brought the patient around, and he was going about as usual today.

Freak Election Bets to Be Paid.

There will be fun in "Big Bill" Devery's district tomorrow night. A number of election wagers will be paid, and Devery will be there to see that all is fair. There will be a procession along Fifth avenue and elsewhere in the famous Ninth district, amid a blaze of fireworks. A drum and fife corps will be in the van, with two men on donkeys and other men in gorgeous uniforms on horseback. There will be a wagon, in which will sit in triumph a man who bet on Odell, while a supporter of Coler will drag the vehicle. Devery's headquarters at the pump will be the end of the route. Then there will be beer, sandwiches, cigars and cheers for the "big chief," all in true Ninth district style. It will be a great night for Devery and his hosts.

The Big Circus at Home Again.

Barnum & Bailey's "greatest show on earth" is in New York again. It arrived tonight on the steamer Minneapolis, one of the big vessels of the same steamship line that had the important task of conveying to Europe The Gazette's teachers' excursion in the summer. The circus left New York on the 12th of November, 1897, for England, and has been abroad ever since. Now that it has come back, we are told that it will stay in America indefinitely. This information comes from Tody Hamilton, and, therefore, is official.

Library Corner Stone Laying.

Mayor Low will lay the corner stone of the new public library at Bryant park on Monday. The edifice will be of white marble and the total cost is estimated at $3,000,000. It is comforting to New Yorkers to know that some definite progress has been made on this great work, for they are tired of seeing the confusion and unsightliness that have existed at the park and Forty-second street for so many years. It will be years before the building is completed, but the fact that it has progressed as far as the corner stone laying, is satisfactory, and we all hope for a speedy opening.

An Up-to-Date Chinaman.

Another example of the ease with which Chinamen learn the ways that are dark of the Caucasian came to light today. Ing Ging is a meek-looking chap, who has been in this country 14 years and speaks the language fluently. He went to the Astor on Saturday last and registered as from Martinsville, W. Va. On election day he paid his bill with a check for $11. It was a business-like looking check, drawn to his own order on the Mutual bank. Mr. Thompson, proprietor of the Astor house, indorsed the check and sent it to the bank. It came back marked "N. G." Ing Ging was arrested today, and then it was found that he had written several checks on this bank, although he had no funds there. He smiled propitiatingly at the magistrate in the Tombs police court today, but it is to be feared that he will have to go to jail unless he can wriggle out of the meshes of the law as smoothly as he wriggled in.

English Actor in American Courts.

Since Clement Scott set the fashion of attending murder trials, when Molineux was tried the first time, many prominent Englishmen visiting New York have sat in court, noting how the proceedings are conducted in America. Sydney Paxton, a member of Weedon Grossmith's company, playing in a Broadway theater, has been in court every day for the last week watching the trial. It is explained in his case by the fact that he was a barrister in England before he became an actor and has often defended persons charged with murder at the Old Bailey. He said this afternoon that he never saw a more masterly defense than that conducted by ex-Gov. Black for the benefit of Roland B. Molineux.

Kleptomania No Excuse.

They have no respect for the clothes over in Brooklyn when the person inside them is convicted of a crime. A stylishly-dressed woman caught stealing articles to the value of $3 75 in a department store was today sentenced to six months' imprisonment, despite her plea that she is a sufferer from kleptomania. Two different stories about her are that she is the wife of a bank cashier and a wealthy widow.

The Independent Republicans.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The election is over; its results are known and measured; its bearings can be judged; and it is an appropriate hour for review.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania who have been independent in thought and action, but who accepted and supported the regular ticket, have been subjected to reproach in some quarters for their course. Success does not justify wrong. If their attitude had been open to condemnation the triumph following it would not have redeemed it. But as they stand in the presence of the result and go back over the history of the year, we think they can feel fully justified in their conscience and deeply gratified that events permitted their action.

These patriotic Republicans are Republicans from principle and conviction. If they have protested and resisted at times in the past, it was because the requirements of true Republicanism were not met. But when the Republican organization responded to their appeal in the nomination for governor of a pure and upright jurist, free from all complications, there was no longer any reason or justification for opposition. It was a frank concession to their sentiment. To have rejected it would have been to show that they were opposing, not for the sake of good government, but for the mere sake of opposing. It was a test of the integrity of their representations, and they were bound in good faith to accept what came up to their declared standard.

Looking over the broad national field today they cannot fail to rejoice that the course was clear for their hearty enlistment in the Republican cause and that they earnestly followed it.

Johnsonism Squelched.

From the Steubenville Herald-Star.

Ohio can always be depended upon to do the right thing when she gets down to business. Unlimited greenbackism, the rag baby, free silver, free trade, and a lot of other vagaries have in turn received their quietus here. The latest squelcher was applied to Johnsonism.

PERSONALS.

A banquet was tendered last night by the Order of the Iroquois to Supreme Secretary Walter A. Rice of Buffalo at the Hotel Henry. Covers were spread for 30 and representatives of the three local lodges were present. The menu was elaborate, and between courses the banqueters were entertained by music and toasts. It was the first annual banquet of the order in Western Pennsylvania, and was held to celebrate its successful growth in this section of the state. The toastmaster was Dr. J. H. Robinson, and the following toasts were responded to: "Our Country," H. K. Silversmith; "Our Order," Walter A. Rice; "Loyalty," L. F. Casper; "Charity," H. D. Kimber; "Justice," L. S. Levin; "The Ladies," W. S. Lyon. The Order of the Iroquois is the youngest fraternal and social order in the country, and it has now a membership in this state of about 1,000. Many of the wives of the delegates attended the banquet.

"We are developing the coal resources of Somerset county rapidly," remarked F. B. Black, president of the Meyersdale Coal Company, last night. Mr. Black came into Pittsburgh yesterday for the purpose of conferring with the officials of the Garrett Coal Company.

Dr. D. M. Anderson of Finleyville, Washington county, a member of the special committee to visit the state institutions for the insane, went to Philadelphia last night to attend a meeting of the committee. He refused to discuss the coming session, but thought that when the business of the committee was finished, it would be of benefit to the state institutions.

M. M. Garland, collector of the port, returned from Cleveland yesterday. Mr. Garland was very much surprised to hear that he had been indorsed for the vacancy on the board of inspectors of the Western penitentiary by Iron Central Labor council. He refused to discuss the indorsement.

A special car carried the wife and son of James P. Orr, general freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines west, to North Carolina last night. Mr. Orr is ill with typhoid fever in the tar and pine state, but has been convalescent for the past week. He will be brought to his home in this city.

The Rev. Dr. James D. Moffatt of Washington and Jefferson college, was in Pittsburgh yesterday.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Among those at the hotels last night were the following persons from nearby points:

Victoria—F. M. Brown, New Brighton; H. Rice, Wheeling; G. N. Storm, Erie; J. W. Harris Warren, O.

Newell's—J. L. Wuxell, Coshocton; J. P. Fitch, Morgantown; G. E. McGuire, Parkersburg; E. E. Davidson, Indiana.

Lincoln—L. G. Seldome, Sistersville.

Monongahela—L. C. Ebeling, Wheeling; R. H. Burnside, E. A. Burnside, White Pleasant, W. Va.; N. Osborne, F. L. Buene, Youngstown.

Griswold—Charles Hosling, Rochester; F. T. Waters, Oberlin; G. O. Bailey, Mt. Pleasant; C. F. Johnson, Parkersburg; W. Barbe, Morgantown.

Duquesne—J. E. Morten, Coal Center; R. B. Drum, California; A. Zack Grafton, W. Va.

Seventh Avenue—J. A. Millikin, Washington; J. M. Weyman, Cincinnati; F. M. Gardner, Washington; D. G. Strubic, Greensburg; G. A. Johnston, Cadiz; A. B. Long, H. D. Keffer, Altoona; A. J. Williams, New Castle.

Henry—J. L. Miller, J. M. Field, Uniontown; W. N. Miller, Parkersburg; W. W. Blake, Altoona; C. E. Clark, Youngstown.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Lorenzo B. Snyder.

Mrs. Lorenzo B. Snyder died suddenly Thursday night at her home, No. 809 Maryland avenue. She had complained of not feeling well during the day and retired early. When the doctor called he found Mrs. Snyder dead. Mrs. Snyder was a sister of J. Palmer O'Neil, Edward O'Neil and Giles H. O'Neil, residents of this city; also two surviving sisters, Mrs. W. G. Naylor of Philadelphia and Mrs. Alice A. Kelly, wife of the Rev. E. J. Kelly of Stockbridge, Mass. Mrs. Snyder was born in Ulster county, New York, in 1831. Her father was prominent in educational and church work; he erected and established the first school house in the township in which he resided, and built at his own expense the first church in the town. Her grandfather was a great Methodist worker, and was baptized by John Wesley. Her mother was a granddaughter of Jeremiah Halsey of Connecticut, who, with Ethan Allen, received the surrender of the English at Fort Ticonderoga. Mrs. Snyder was married in June, 1874, and removed to Pittsburgh with her family in 1852. Mr. Snyder acquired an interest in the firm of J. Palmer O'Neil & Co. and some years later was appointed cashier of the local agency of the National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, which position he holds at the present time. Mrs. Snyder and her family were all members of Christ M. E. church of this city. She leaves two surviving daughters, Mrs. Hattie M. Harper, wife of the Rev. E. P. Harper of the M. E. church at Fayette City, and Mrs. Emma H. Jones, wife of Everett W. Jones of the Keystone Bank of this city. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Blake of Christ church at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Edward Farley.

Mrs. Edward Farley, 70 years old, daughter of an old-time iron manufacturer of Pittsburgh, died Thursday midnight at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mullooley, wife of Justice James Mullooley, in Braddock avenue, East Pittsburgh. She had been a resident of Pittsburgh almost her entire life. She was a member of St. Coleman's Roman Catholic church, Turtle Creek. Mrs. Farley is survived by three daughters.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. J. J. Cullivan, 33 years old, is dead at the family home, No. 2530 Penn avenue. Her husband and two children survive.

John Giblin, 31 years old, is dead at his home, No. 803 Wylie avenue. He was a well-known glassworker, and a member of St. Paul's cathedral congregation.

Charles E. Rivers, 40 years old, proprietor of the Hoter Rivers, Sixth street, is dead at his hotel. He was a native of Pittsburgh and was formerly proprietor of the Pennsylvania Union house and the Park hotel, in this city.

Dr. John W. James, 65 years old, is dead at his home, No. 119 Seventh street. He was a native of Rochester, N. Y., where he studied medicine under his father. He had been a resident of Pittsburgh since 1885. His wife and one daughter survive.

WEAK PARTY LINES.

Practical Results of Discarding Party Considerations in Electing Candidates.

From the Era.

To catch the vote of the peasants in France, as elsewhere, the best thing is to live among them, to own plenty of property in the rural district, to render them many services, to build roads, to improve bridges, to repair churches, to embellish the village, and find work for all the poor people who are out of a job.

That is why so many rich property owners get elected, no matter what their platform may be. Ten years ago a well-known French politician, M. Wilson, whose career seemed doomed to end by an unfortunate trial in which he was accused of selling the decoration of the Legion of Honor, was re-elected in his district three times in succession in spite of his unpopularity and unsavory reputation in the rest of the country. A bankrupt banker and swindler was likewise elected by a provincial constituency in Cantal, until one day he ran away and was never heard of again. M. Humbert, who has become famous as an accomplice of the Crawford swindle, was once a deputy of Seine et Marne. Wealthy business men, millionaires anxious for political honors, young noblemen who have married American heiresses, thus easily find a rotten borough upon which they shower their favors and expect in return a solid majority which they hardly ever fail to get.

Excellent Preparation.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

The anthracite commission is proceeding in a very systematic manner. The personal examination of the coal fields and mines was an excellent preparation for their work, and the filing of the miners' statement prepared by Mr. Mitchell lays the foundation for a thorough investigation. The statement is somewhat in the nature of the complaint in a legal proceeding, and will be followed by the answer of the operators. On the issues thus joined the commission will be ready to take testimony and reach conclusions.

BOBBY MISSING WITH NOTHING ON

Woman Told Her Troubles to a Policeman, but Sympathy Was Chilled.

A well-dressed woman, extremely agitated, ran into the East Twenty-second street station house, says the New York Times. She took some time to calm herself on reaching the sergeant's desk. Sergeant Walsh talked quietly to her and asked what had happened.

"Bobby's been kidnaped," she said at last.

"When? Where? How?" asked the sergeant. "Who are you, madam?"

The woman explained that she was Mrs. Mary Samuelson of 213 West Eightieth street. She tried to tell what had happened, but began to cry bitterly. The sergeant soothed her.

"How old is he?" he asked.

"Three years. Oh, he was the dearest I ever knew."

Walsh went behind the desk and began to write and ask questions. The woman answered.

"No; he's not tall. The usual height for 3. Black eyes and fine hair. Oh, what shall I do! You must find him for me, sir. I shall go crazy if he is lost."

"What did he have on, madam?" asked Walsh, soothingly.

"Nothing. Oh, he was such a dear! Can't you do something for me?"

The astonished sergeant stopped writing and said:

"Madam, do you mean to say he had nothing on?"

"No; nothing. He was running down the street and turned the corner and was lost."

"Well," said the sergeant, "a boy with nothing on ought to be easily found. I'll tell police headquarters and send out a general alarm, and—"

"Sir!" cried the woman, "I don't want any boy. I want my Bobby, the sweetest terrier I ever saw. Took prize at the dog show, and—"

"Madam, is Bobby a dog?"

"Of course he's a dog. What did you think I was talking about, a boy?"

Sergeant Walsh could not speak for a minute, but then said he would tell the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Mrs. Samuelson appeared astonished at the sudden coolness of the officer, but gave a minute description of Bobby, and went away weeping.

HE WAS IN A HURRY.

Somehow, he seemed to get up to the counter at one of the uptown hotels before anybody spied him. In fact, before any of the clerks on duty had noticed him he was undoing a parcel and was reeling off English so fast that nobody could have interrupted him, says the Washington Post. While he talked he kept undoing the package, and, presently, he drew forth a lot of glistening silverware—knives and forks, big spoons and little spoons.

"I'm in a great hurry and must get back to Boston," he said, "and I haven't much time to talk. If any of you gentlemen want the bargain of your life, you'll buy these things. Look at 'em, and tell me if, on your honor, you ever saw anything as fine, and perhaps when I mention the price you'll think I stole 'em. But I didn't; they are my samples, and I don't want to lug them home.

"My time is short, but if any of you gentlemen want these things at $6 50, take 'em, though it's like making a present. I'd almost as soon throw 'em in the Potomac as to take that price. Do I interest you, sir," shoving the aforesaid ware toward the one of the clerks that looked most like a married man.

"They are pretty," said the clerk, scrutinizing the brand of the knives, which carried the additional legend 12-pennyweights. "I'll give a five spot for the lot."

"They are yours," said the fakir. "I was never any hand for an argument." Then reaching into his hip-pocket, he produced another package identical with the first. "As I'm in a great hurry to get my train, you can have this set, a duplicate of the other, at the same price," said he to Clerk No. 2. That young man could hardly get into the money drawer fast enough to extract a $5 note, which he tendered the smooth one.

The vender then smilingly bade them adieu, walked away a few paces, and suddenly turned, as though he had forgotten something. "Excuse me," he said, digging into his overcoat, "but I've one more lot. Won't one of you take it? Even if you have no use for a second set, it will make a lovely Christmas present."

This looked a bit fishy, and the purchasers began to wonder if they had been done. They bade the vender begone, but ere he left the house he sold that last set to a bell boy, who had slyly followed him, for $3, upon hearing of which a pair of irate hotel clerks used language not seemly to put in type.

IN OLD KENTUCKY.

A Detroiter, who has just returned from old Kentucky, has some good stories to tell. One of them is about Senator "Joe" Blackburn. One day after the adjournment for the day of the senate, two of his colleagues approached him with the proposition to help along one of the most important industries of the Blue Grass state. "Can't do it," replied Blackburn; "I'm taking nothing but water now."

"The deuce you say," responded the other, "and how long since, I'd like to ask?"

"Well, it's going on three years now."

A momentary expression of surprise was pictured on the faces of the other two. Then a smile crept about the mouth of the first and he said: "Senator, how long has it been going on three years?"

The senator glanced at the clock. "Well, to tell the truth," he answered, "I think it's about 10 minutes."

And shortly afterward some one was overheard ordering three straights.—Detroit Free Press.

One More Unfortunate.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Another man of destiny has been knocked out. This is ex-Gov. Pattison of Pennsylvania. When he carried that state in 1882 it seemed to his friends that he would be the logical candidate for 1884 for president. Unfortunately for him, Cleveland carried New York in 1882 by that big plurality of 193,000, and carried off the prize in 1884. When Pattison, in 1890, again carried Pennsylvania, Cleveland was once more ahead of him as presidential aspirant, and got the nomination in 1892. If Pattison had won Pennsylvania this year there would have been no formidable aspirant in his way for the big nomination two years hence. Pennypacker, however, is the man who carried Pennsylvania in 1902, and this sends the Pennsylvania man of destiny to St. Helena.

IT IS TO SMILE.

She was a sweet young thing, and as he walked along by her side he suddenly remembered that she had been vaccinated and hastened to make inquiries. "You have been vaccinated, haven't you?" he asked. "How is your arm?" She turned to him a face that only too plainly showed that she was suffering and replied mournfully, "Oh, it's so sore I can hardly walk on it." And then she wondered why he laughed.—Lippincott's.

"Hello!" said the heavy man. "I thought that you started out two weeks ago with a hot show?"

"So did I," replied the low comedian; "but we struck a frost."—Judge.

He said that rth, in firing, after challenging times, was simply executing the ers of superior officers.

Question of Martial Law.

Justice Mitchell said the underlying question was whether or not the town was under martial law, and Mr. Fleitz argued that, while it had not been exactly declared to be so, the orders of the governor indicated that such was the case. Mr. Fleitz argued that if a justice of the peace had the right to arrest a soldier while he was in the performance of duty, a justice could issue warrants and take a whole regiment into custody, charging them with riot, thus thwarting the ends of justice and destroying the purpose of the national guard.

"What is the purpose of this application—to release on bail or to discharge?" asked Justice Brown.

"To discharge," replied Mr. Fleitz.

Mr. Fleitz cited several similar cases, one where an innocent bystander was shot by a soldier during the street car riots in Buffalo, where no prosecution followed.

Concluding, Mr. Fleitz said: "I am here thinking this a most important question, most unusual and requiring the attention of the highest tribunal of the state. This man was carrying out the orders of his superior officers, and I think he should be released. However, if the court feels that it would rather have some time in which to decide the case, I will ask that the prisoner be admitted to bail until such time as a decision is given."

District Attorney McLaughlin of Schuylkill county declared it was not for him to say whether Wadsworth is guilty or not, but that the inquest decided that he should be tried by jury, and that the county of Schuylkill is the place to try him.

Case Is of Great Importance.

At the conclusion of the remarks of the district attorney the court retired to discuss the petition, and 20 minutes later, when the court again sat, Justice Mitchell said:

The entire court regards this case as one of great importance, requiring careful deliberation. Inasmuch as counsel states that they ave only made a hasty preparation for this earing, that the record is incomplete and atters are before us of which we have no ecord; that there is a motion to quash the rit of habeas corpus, of which there is no ecord, and that no answer to the petition ppears of record, we have decided to con- nue the case and set it down for rehearing ntirely in Philadelphia, the first Monday of anuary. In the meantime the petitioner can e released on bail. If he is amenable to the ivil law at all, it is for a very low grade of homicide, and the bail can be merely nominal. In the way of suggestion we would say $500 be given.

Bail in this sum was at once given and Wadsworth was released.

Wadsworth, who has been on duty in the Oakland armory since his return from the coal fields, to make it impossible for the civil authorities to arrest him, was relieved from these duties. No further action will be taken by Col. Rutledge. Wadsworth left for his home at Garrettsville, O., last night.

FLINT BOTTLE PRICES 30 PER CENT HIGHER

Manufacturers Announce Organizations of Their Sub-Districts.

Official circulars giving the new discounts decided on by the American Association of Flint Bottle Manufacturers show the average price advances to be 30 per cent over the prices before the association reorganized, instead of 25 per cent, as has been stated before.

The functions of the organization have been enlarged to make it of more value to the entire trade than ever before. The four sub-districts of the organization have named the following general officers:

Western district—President, Alexander McKee, Anderson Flint Glass Company; vice president, C. P. Rau of Rau Bros.; secretary, Oscar Thompson, Thompson Bottle Company; treasurer, George R. Legget, Woodbury Glass Company.

Eastern district—President, J. P. Whitney, Whitney glass works; secretary, M. F. DuBois, Moore Bros. Glass Company; treasurer, I. M. Schellinger, Diamond Glass Company.

Pittsburgh district—President, Jos. S. Hamilton of W. H. Hamilton Company; secretary, G. W. Yost, Bellaire Bottle Company.

Northern district—President, T. H. Pancoast, Olean Glass Company; secretary and treasurer, J. R. Spencer, Lancaster Co-operative Glass Company.

Each district contributes three or four members to what will be known as a general executive board of bottle manufacturers.

ELECTION OVER, ORDERS ARE OUT

Thieves and Crooks Must Seek Another Refuge Than Allegheny.

WORKED ON TUESDAY

Allegheny, which has so long been the harboring place for thieves, safe blowers, burglars, and pickpockets, has at last, through political necessity, closed its gates to these characters. The members of the "under world" of Allegheny have been told to go and stay until after the recordership election in February.

Recorder Murphy has become convinced that these characters are more of a burden to the city administration than the protection they afford is worth. Yesterday William Moore, alias "Burly Bill," Edward Foley, alias "Kid" Foley, and William Foley, alias "Midget" Foley, were arrested by Detectives Johnson and Steele for crimes committed in other cities. Moore was wanted in Wheeling for blowing a safe, and the Foley brothers were arrested for robbing a Bradford banker of a diamond pin, valued at $1,600, at the Bradford races last September. The three men will be turned over to officers who have been sent from these places for them.

The result of the election on Tuesday partly convinced Recorder Murphy of the mistake of protecting the city with thieves. These men were permitted to remain in Allegheny as long as they did not steal there and reported to the police when outside burglars and thieves came to the city to ply their nefarious trades.

This seemed to work satisfactorily until October 9, when the safe of the Pittsburgh & Western railroad station was blown open and robbed of $800. Then Recorder Murphy became indignant because the thieves had broken faith with him. It was later learned that it was some of the protected safe blowers who had robbed this safe. Orders were then circulated that thieves would have to leave the city after election day. Their services were utilized at the polls on Tuesday, but the vigilance of the fusion watchers prevented a large part of the repeating. It is freely charged, however, that they worked in some districts, which with delayed returns, made surprising majorities for Congressman Graham.

Recorder Murphy went further than this and said all thieves found in Allegheny, who were wanted in other cities for the depredations they had committed there, would be taken into custody and held to await the arrival of the officers from those cities.

ONLY SURVIVOR HAS A SHATTERED MIND

Cawley Mystery May Never Be Cleared, Because of Malady of Agnes.

The Cawley murder mystery will now be more difficult to determine than ever. The mind of Agnes Cawley, the only survivor of the wounded in the tragedy, has become affected from the blows she received with the ax on the morning of October 9. The child was removed from the South Side hospital on Sunday to the home of her uncle, P. J. Boyle, No. 2506 Carson street. Yesterday she was removed to the sanitarium of a private physician, who will attempt to save her mind.

Coroner McGeary has set the inquest for November 11. Mr. Boyle has attempted to have the inquest postponed until a later date so that Agnes Cawley will be in better physical and mental condition to testify. He went to see District Attorney Haymaker yesterday afternoon to have him use his influence in having the inquest deferred. District Attorney Haymaker will confer with Coroner McGeary this morning and the inquest will probably be postponed.

Mr. Boyle refused to divulge the name of the physician who is treating Agnes. He said that the wound in her head had healed, but her mind was shattered. She does not know what has become of her mother, three sisters and brother. Physicians have attempted to test her memory, but she seems to be unable to recall anything of the tragedy.

District Attorney Haymaker has been working on the case and was recently talking to Charles Cawley, who is accused of the crime. From what could be learned yesterday Charles still denies that he had anything to do with the killing. James Cawley, who was arrested for highway robbery at Glenwood, also denies that he was implicated in the murder.

JUDGE BUFFINGTON'S SONG.

Grand Opera House Orchestra Rehearses It Under Victor Herbert.

The celebrated college song "The Trinity True," composed by Judge Buffington, will be heard for the first time in this city on Wednesday evening at the Grand Opera house. At the close of the matinee in the Grand Opera house yesterday afternoon the orchestra, under the direction of Victor Herbert, rehearsed the music for the first time.

The composition of Judge Buffington was sung for the first time at the commencement last June at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., and met with great success. The opera house orchestra will play it during the week. At the close of the rehearsal yesterday afternoon Victor Herbert expressed himself as pleased with the orchestra rehearsal and complimented the members for the fine rendition of the music.

Benjamin Harrison Ran Away.

Benjamin Harrison has disappeared. Benjamin is 14 years of age and made his home with his uncle, George A. Harrison, of Tasso street, Twenty-third ward. He left the house on Thursday night presumably to look for a lost dog, and has not been seen by his friends since that time. He wore a blue cap, jeans trousers and a cheviot shirt. The boy was short and stout. In leaving home he followed the example of two elder brothers, who ran away several years ago.

Gas Company's Gang Arrested.

The police of West Homestead yesterday locked up a gang of men employed by the Philadelphia Company, because the men were laying pipes without a permit. At the hearing before Justice Horner it developed that the gas company was moving the lines from property owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and had neglected to get permission from the borough. The men were held for court on charges of trespassing.

Careless With Revolver.

The careless handling of a revolver by an Italian at a fruit stand in Ann street, Homestead, yesterday morning, almost caused the death of John J. Rattigan, one of the best known real estate men of Homestead. Rattigan was passing the store, when a bullet crashed through a window and passed through his coat sleeve. The Italians said that the revolver had been accidentally discharged.

Robbers Do Not Miss Anything.

DOVER, TENN., Nov. 7.—The Stewart County bank was robbed of $2,100 last night. The vaults were blown open with dynamite and all the cash taken.

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.

"I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited."—MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 270 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

These women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

See What Enterprise and Money are Carrying There!

You get sewered, graded, curbed and paved streets, electric lights, both gases, city water, police protection, fire department service, traction cars—everything that heart could wish and for less money than these advantages can be secured for in any other locality.

Persons who know the quality of West Park property and how rapidly shrewd investors got in and picked up opportunities in WEST PARK AND WEST PARK ADDITION NO. 1, understand that they are sure to gain no small advantage by making the trip to the property at once.

Beautifully situated lots on graded streets will go to quick-acting purchasers at $50 and $75. Splendid lots on graded and sewered streets can be bought for $300. Very choice lots on the traction line are priced as low as $400.

Notwithstanding that Pittsburgh's marvelous growth is such that new residential sections are taking root and spreading out in all directions,

One Fact Remains Paramount

—the most successful real estate that has been opened up in this grand new era of progress is unquestionably with her tremendous building activity and accessibility to the great mills and workshops which are expanding the most.

In West Park three plans of lots have made a wonderful record in point of number of sales and volume of money spent in street improvements. No other property was ever improved so much in so short a time. At the first great sale more than 1,000 lots were disposed of. Most of these lots have been built upon. Between have sprung up in less than a year. Broadway, 60 feet wide, the main thoroughfare, is lined with handsome brick structures for half a mile, having been paved and supplied with every modern highway facility. It has traction cars to and from the city extending on up through Dohrman Street and Singer Avenue.

500 and 600 Houses

Lot Prices in West Park Addition No. 2 Range from

$50 to $800

Terms! Any reasonable amount down and balance $5 or more per month; 10 per cent discount for cash when paid within 60 days.

No Interest! And taxes free until deed is delivered! Title guaranteed by the Fidelity Title & Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

And interest is not even charged on back payments in the event of purchasers falling behind by reason of sickness. In other words you are given a fair, square chance to hold on under conditions that usually require purchasers to forfeit, the names of the stockholders in the West End Land Company being a sufficient guarantee that you will receive upright and lenient treatment at all times.

Railroad Men Should Remember That West Park Is Within the P. & L. E. Calling Limits.

There is a great deal going on in McKees Rocks which people cannot believe without making an investigation. The mint of money the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company is spending in the erection of new car shops where it will manufacture its own cars complete is only one of the interesting facts.

The new Panhandle shops will bring another army of railroad men to live in West Park. It is already the greatest railroad men's home in the state. While Altoona's railroad population is growing at the rate of 9 per cent, McKees Rocks is growing at the rate of 130 per cent. A RECORD UNHEARD OF UNTIL NOW! But one that will have its influence on West Park real estate and help make WEST PARK LOTS THE MONEY MAKERS OF THE FUTURE, as which they have been famous since the day they were first put upon the market.

CORNELL AFRAID OF WASH.-JEFF.

Regards Western Pennsylvania Team a Strong One.

YALE AND HARVARD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Cornell may suffer another defeat at the hands of Washington and Jefferson tomorrow, and even Capt. Warner admits that victory for the red and white is by no means certain.

Coach Green brought his eleven to Ithaca today and when they ran through signals on Percy field this afternoon, they looked like formidable players. Cornell's demoralized condition, taken together with the visitors' known strength, makes the situation very complex and the outcome of the game doubtful.

During the past week Coach Reed has found it impossible to accomplish much, owing to the fact that the best scrub players refused to report, and the practice on the last two afernoons has been but little better than a farce, it being almost impossible to get out two full elevens. Neither Capt. Warner nor Hunt will be at their best tomorrow, while Purcell and Coffin will not be able to go into the game at all.

Yale Ready for Bucknell.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The fact that Yale's football eleven has failed to get back into strong physical condition led the coachers to give it only a five-minute line-up today as a final preparation for the Bucknell game, scheduled for tomorrow to close the Yale practice season. Ralph Kinney is still in the hospital with a wrenched knee. Holt and Glass, the bulwarks of the eleven, are in bad shape through overwork.

Two veterans who have been on the team all the season were displaced today. They are Fritz Wilhelmi, left end, and Samuel D. Ward, right halfback. Metcalf, quarterback, was given Ward's place at right halfback and will play it tomorrow. Charley Rafferty of Pittsburgh was given left end. The Yale coachers deny that they have any idea of protesting King, the Harvard center.

Don't Expect a Hard Game.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The Harvard football squad was given a rest today on account of the game with Pennsylvania tomorrow at Cambridge. The crimson team is confident of defeating the Philadelphia eleven without great difficulty, as the wearers of the red and blue are extremely light and will not be able to withstand the rushes of the heavy Harvard men. Pennsylvania will rely on fast end plays to advance the ball. All the Harvard men, with the exception of Jones, right end, are in good shape and will start in the game. It is quite likely that many of the subs will win their "H's" as the halves are to be 35 minutes long and coach Farley does not intend to work his regular men too hard. The team went through signal practice this afternoon and the backs were drilled in catching punts.

READY FOR SHADYSIDE.

The Rayen School Eleven Hopes for a Victory.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Everything is in readiness for the big game between Rayen school and the Shadyside academy tomorrow here. The local team is much encouraged over the victory over Kiskiminetas last Saturday and the team will go into the game in the best shape that it has been in this season.

Capt. Osborne is once more in the game, as are several players who were injured in the early part of the season. This will be the last game of the season here until Rayen meets Hudson here on Thanksgiving day.

THE FIGHTING CONDUCTOR.

Young Mowatt Evidently Afraid of Jack McClelland.

The Columbia Athletic club of Jackson, Mich., has been trying for some time to secure young Mowatt, the "Fighting Conductor" of Chicago to meet Jack McClelland, but he would give no decided answer until yesterday and then refused.

The club yesterday wired to know if Jack would meet Ole Oleson, but the best weight the latter would do is 130 pounds at 3 o'clock, but still Jack answered that he would meet him at that weight. Mowatt has fought two draws with Benny Yanger, but will not agree to meet McClelland.

RAN A DEAD HEAT.

Race for Liverpool Cup Was a Great Contest.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 7.—The race for the Liverpool Autumn cup today resulted in a dead heat between Kings Courier and Throwaway. Pellisson was third. Thirteen horses started. The race was magnificent. It was difficult to separate the first five horses. Throwaway joined Kings Courier in the last few strides and a dead heat was the result, while only a head separated Pellisson from the leaders. Scullion and the Cubliette colt were close up and ran a dead heat for fourth place. In the run-off Throwaway beat Kings Courier.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WON.

Lincoln Club Was Very Close to a Score.

Class D team of Pittsburgh High school defeated Lincoln club team of Alegheny by a score of 5 to 0 at Friendship park.

The feature of the game was the playing of Colvin and Woriell, who scored High schools touchdown and prevented Lincoln from scoring by a hard tackle 10 yards from the goal line after a chase of 60 yards down the field.

TRACK TOO BAD.

Bobby Walthour Made Better Time Than Cresceus.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 7.—The bad condition of the track today at Piedmont park prevented anything like a record between Cresceus and "Bobby" Walthour. An exhibition mile was given, however, Walthour's time being 2:22½. Cresceus' time, 2:32 flat. Cresceus did not go against time, as expected, on account of the muddy track.

Will Be a Warm Struggle.

What is looked upon as the most important game among the amateurs scheduled to take place today is the contest between the Cottage-Verners and Primrose to be played at Friendship park. The friends of both teams will turn out in large numbers. The Primrose boys expecting a hard game have practiced hard and are in good form. The Cottage-Verners are ready for the struggle. Some of the boys have not yet recovered from injuries received in the game with Pittsburgh last Saturday, and will not be in today's game.

Another Cable Chess Match.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A letter was received by the Brooklyn chess club today from J. Walter Russell, secretary of the City of London Chess club, in which an official challenge was sent for another cable match for possession of the Sir George Newnes trophy, to be contested in the spring of next year.

merican Experts Will Take Part.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND JOHNSON'S ACTIONS

Pittsburghers Are Puzzled Over American Leader's Failure to Act on a Franchise.

Charles J. Pedder, the real estate dealer, who represents the syndicate of Pittsburghers desiring an American league franchise for this city, said yesterday that he and those associated with him are at a loss to account for the actions of Ban Johnson, whose enthusiasm seems to have died out. Mr. Pedder said:

"When we went to Chicago and laid our project before Mr. Johnson, showing him that we had both the grounds and the necessary capital, he was most enthusiastic over the matter and from his talk our people figured that the franchise would be forthcoming at once. There appears to have come a change, and I can't understand why. The entire matter is now up to Mr. Johnson, and it is for him to act. We have wired him on different occasions, but got no answer, and he has not kept his promise to pay us a visit."

Pedder further explained that when the committee visited Johnson in Chicago, Wettingil, cashier of the Diamond National bank, who was one of the committee, offered any amount of security the American league might require, and this offer seemed to please Johnson very much. The committee also informed the president of the American league that he was not expected to pledge himself to turn over any players to Pittsburgh. All the committee asked was the franchise and Mr. Johnson was assured the backers would hustle and build up a team themselves.

Regarding the report that the Pittsburghers could not secure the Charles J. Clarke property for their grounds, Mr. Pedder said that things were so arranged that the property could be secured in an hour. More than that, everything had been arranged so that there would be no complaints against the use of it for a ball park and place of general amusement. Mr. Pedder also stated that, even if there should be a slip in the Clarke property, he had another site closer to the downtown district and one that will cause a good deal of surprise when he cares to name it. Just at present the Pittsburgh people are tied up by Johnson's peculiar action.

A special from Chicago says: "President Ban Johnson returned from Cincinnati yesterday morning, and while the American league executive was inclined to be rather evasive, from his manner it is believed there is no real foundation for the recent rumors regarding the American league's contemplated entrance of Pittsburgh.

"After reading the plaints of an apparently disgruntled coterie of Pittsburgh capitalists who wished to back an American league club there, Johnson explained the situation as follows: 'Three weeks, perhaps a month ago three Pittsburgh men came to Chicago and wanted to back an American league club in Pittsburgh. They were gentlemenly fellows, and apparently good sportsmen. I told them we had decided to locate a club in New York, whereupon they offered to buy the Detroit franchise, and offered to pay a reasonable price, too, but I could not encourage them, as the Detroit franchise was not for sale. That's the status of the Pittsburgh case.

" 'Pittsburgh is a good baseball city, and I would like to see the American league located there, and perhaps it will be some time. There is nothing to lead to that belief at present. Perhaps we may yet have to take in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, and make a 10-club circuit, just to save them from Brush baseball.'

"But Johnson smiled, and destroyed the effect of this remark."

SOME RADICAL CHANGES.

The New Shamrock Will Differ Largely from Other Yachts.

GLASGOW, Nov. 7.—The Associated Press understands that in the Shamrock III. will be embodied some radical departures in the matter of yacht construction, which have not appeared in any previous challenger. These changes are said to be due to an accidental discovery made during the trials of the Shamrock I. and the Shamrock II., which convinced Designer Watson that there had been a fundamental error in the construction of all the recent challengers.

This discovery was made too late to admit of the remodeling of the Shamrock II., but when its nature was explained to Sir Thomas Lipton it had great weight in deciding him to try for the America's cup a third time. Both Designers Fife and Watson are convinced that they possess solid data upon which they will now be able to build a yacht superior to any previous cup racer. They are certain that they have evolved an idea which affects the whole theory of the propulsion of sailing yachts.

FARREN KNOCKED OUT.

Tony Moran Landed the Blow in Fourth Round.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—Tony Moran of Philadelphia knocked out Jimmie Farren of this city tonight in the fourth round of their 20-round bout before the Eureka Athletic club. From the call of time Farren forced the fighting, but none of his blows told on the sturdy little Philadelphian, who awaited an opening and landed a right swing on the point of Farren's jaw after two minutes and 45 seconds of fighting in the fourth round.

Farren seemed to be strong when the final blow reached him. He was carried from the ring by his seconds, but recovered in a few minutes. Billy Roche of New York was the referee.

THREE CLUB LEAGUE.

Interscholastic Hockey Teams Will Play on Saturdays.

At a meeting of the Interscholastic Hockey league, held last night at Duquesne Garden, it was decided to only play contests on Saturdays of the coming season, and to have a three-club, instead of a four-club, organization.

Western University of Pennsylvania was dropped, and the application of Pittsburgh academy, presented by Albert Comfort, was acted upon unfavorably. Pittsburgh High school, Shadyside academy and East Liberty academy were represented at the meeting, and R. S. Guy was elected president.

The Aspinwalls Play Today.

The Aspinwall team will be greatly strengthened by the presence of Thompson and Sunderman in the line-up against the Oakland Reserves today. These two players will play with Aspinwall the balance of the season. The Aspinwall team has good grounds and desires games at home with all good teams at 85 and 90 pounds. Address all communications to Mr. Briton, Aspinwall, Pa.

Newsdealer Is Discharged.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The Washington county grand jury has decided that the crying of newspapers on the streets on Sunday is not an offense punishable by law and is not calculated to disturb religious meetings. The finding was made in the case of E. H. Sackville, a local newspaper man, whom the Rev. J. W. McIntyre, pastor of the West Washington Methodist Episcopal church, charged with having disturbed his services by calling papers in front of his church.

Ohio Teachers Visit Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 7.—The Central Ohio Teachers' association, which is holding its anual session here on invitation of Supt. Kendall, was addressed tonight by the president, Superintendent Werthner of Dayton and Superintendent W. H. Maxwell of the New York city schools. The business session will be held tomorrow. There are 700 teachers here.

STARS ARE READY FOR ATHLETICS

Pittsburgh Eleven Does Practice Work in the Quaker City.

ASKING BIG ODDS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Pittsburgh will do battle with the Athletics at Columbia ball park tomorrow afternoon. The contest promises to be the greatest ever witnessed in this city, and, as the Penn-Harvard game will be reproduced at the same time, a large crowd is expected.

Twenty-five strong, the Pittsburgh aggregation arrived in this city today, and after resting a few hours, put in a couple of hours' limbering up practice on the Philadelphia ball park. They are a stockily built set of players, but in meeting the Athletics they will "run up again" a tougher proposition than they did when they met Capt. Kennedy's men.

Capt. Wallace has a genuine surprise for the visitors, and says he will put in a team that will give the Pittsburghers all they want to do for a couple of hours.

When the Athletics met Philadelphia, three of their best men were on the hospital list. This is all changed now, and the eleven men that face Pittsburgh will be in the finest possible physical condition. Capt. Wallace has also secured several first-class substitutes, so that should any man be hurt he will be able to replace them with players almost their equal. This will give him a big advantage and he hopes to win.

The visitors brought a big crowd of rooters who have all kinds of money to get on their team. Local supporters of the team are taking odds of 2 to 1, which they think justifiable, in view of the score of the two teams. The Pittsburgh delegation do not feel inclined to offer better than even money, but the locals are holding out for odds and will likely get them before the game begins tomorrow afternoon.

Capt. Richardson of the Pittsburgh team said tonight that he considered the Athletics would be the hardest team they have played this season, and that he would take no chances. He was satisfied the team as it now stands is much stronger than the Phillies, and he was prepared for a stiff argument. If he wins tomorrow's game he thinks his club will win the championship, but Capt. Wallace says he was never so satisfied in his career of winning a contest. The teams will line up as follows:

Athletics.		Pittsburgh.
Baeder	L.E.	Poe
Pierce	L.T.	McNulty
MacFarland	L.G.	Kirkhoff
Sweet	Center	Shirring
Kindgen	R.G.	Lawier
Wallace	R.T.	Lang
Merriam	R.E.	Shrontz
Hewitt	Q.B.	Richardson
McNulty	L.H.	McChesney
Reiter	R.H.	Crolius
Davidson	F.B.	Ellis

The officials for the afternoon will be: Referee, Samuel A. Boyle, Jr., U. of P.; umpire, Al. Sharpe, Yale. The teams will play 35-minute halves.

Nearly Whips Griffin.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Nov. 7.—Charlie Neary of Milwaukee defeated Harry Griffin of Chicago in a six-round bout before the Badger Athletic club tonight. Griffith was knocked down three times in the fourth round. The bout ended with Griffin very groggy. Tommy Sullivan of St. Louis knocked out Jack Dougherty of Milwaukee in the fourth round, on a chance stiff right swing to the jaw.

Sentenced for Shooting.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Clyde Snider, who was arrested last Sunday night for the shooting of Officer George Mershimer at the opera house Saturday evening, after the policeman had ejected Snider from the theater for disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty before Judge Wallace to felonious assault with intent to murder. Sentence was made to the Huntingdon reformatory. Edward Mills, who was with Snider Saturday night when the shooting occurred, was released.

Skiff Sank in the Ohio.

Capt. Thomas McCleery of Esplen was almost drowned yesterday afternoon in the Ohio river at Brunot island. He started to cross the back channel in a leaky skiff. Some distance from the shore the boat sank and he had to swim. He was almost exhausted when he reached the shore.

Suggested for Burgess.

Chief of Police Floyd Ross of Wilkinsburg is put forward by his friends in the race for burgess at the February election. Because of his familiarity with the duties of the position and the excellent record he has made as chief of police, it is believed he will be a strong candidate.

W. U. P. Eleven Wants to Make Up for Defeats—Ohio Team a Strong One.

The recent defeats suffered by the W. U. P. eleven at the hands of the Geneva and West Virginia elevens have stirred up Capt. Martin and his players, who are determined to make up for lost ground, and will start right out today to regain prestige when they face the eleven from the Ohio university at Athens.

The contest, which will be played at the Colosseum, promises to be a very interesting one. The Ohio eleven brings with it a fine reputation, having met and defeated some of the best teams in the presidential state. The eleven is made up of sturdy players, who have had a long, hard siege of training, and whose team work is said to be perfect. The team arrived in the city yesterday and the players were reported to be in fine shape for a hard struggle.

For W. U. P. Capt. Martin will have out the strongest eleven he has been able to gather this season. In the previous games the local team was handicapped by the absence of Hawkins and Paul McLain, who were up in the coal regions with the national guard. These players are in line again and add great strength to the team, as does Doc McChesney, who has been recently added to the list of players. The W. U. P. rooters will be out in force, and some fun may be expected. The teams will line up as follows:

W. U. P.		Ohio University.
Pattison or Stroud	L. E.	Glozer
Martin or G. Jackson	L. T.	Eddy
Boyd	L. G.	Murphy
Hankey	Center	Pelter
Kerr	R. G.	Sexauer
McChesney	R. T.	Methany

FRAUD TURNS HUMORIST.

Clews' Banking Firm Gets a Queer Letter from Man Who Has Been Forging Drafts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Following a flood of spurious drafts representing several thousand dollars, which for weeks has been pouring into the office of Henry Clews & Co., bankers, from various parts of the country, a mysterious and suave letter has been received from a man who, in the missive, as well as on many drafts, calls himself George Francis Duncan. The letter, which is dated Colonial hotel, Cleveland, Nov. 5, says:

Gentlemen—I herewith ask that you withhold proceedings against me, because from this date Capt. Jack ceases to exist; also Howard Melville, and in their stead an honest man is born into the world. I intend to make complete restitution for all the moneys that I have obtained, and as fast as the amounts arrive please reduce my account until nothing remains against the name of
GEORGE FRANCIS DUNCAN.

Members of the firm are wondering whether the man is afflicted with periods of repentance, during which he gets relief by writing letters; whether he likes to create mysteries, or whether he is just a plain humorist. No such man ever has had an account with the firm.

HUNDRED-TO-ONE SHOT A WINNER

Duke of Kendal Was the Good Thing at Aqueduct Track.

MOSKETO ALSO WON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

THOUSANDS HAVE BEEN CURED OF RHEUMATISM
BY DREF'S GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS
AFTER OTHER MEDICINES AND TREATMENTS HAVE FAILED.

Rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and allied diseases cured. Sharp, shooting or dull aching paines are relieved almost instantly. Lame back, neuralgic pains are cured to stay cured. Swollen joints become relaxed under this treatment, and stiff joints are made pliable and flexible. Old chronic cases of rheumatism that have failed to find relief in other treatments and alleged cures are especially invited to come and try this remarkable treatment. It is unlike anything ever known for the cure of these diseases. It has cured hundreds of cases of rheumatism and kindred diseases, and is absolutely unfailing in its results.

HERE IS THE PROOF:
Rheumatism Cured
After 30 Years' Suffering.

"I had Rheumatism in my right knee for 30 years; sometimes better, sometimes worse, until finally it moved up into my hip and across my back, until I could hardly get about to do anything. The doctor said it was Sciatica, and nothing did me any good until I used Drefs' Gout and Rheumatic Pills. Now I can say I am as nearly without pain as any man of my age in the county. I am nearly 75 years of age and can walk ten miles in three hours without being much fatigued."—James Goetz, Dunkirk, N. Y.

Drefs' Gout and Rheumatic Pills are sold at 25 and 50 cents by progressive druggists everywhere.

HENRY VAN DYKE WILL SPEAK HERE

Moderator of Presbyterian General Assembly to Attend Union Banquet.

MARTIN LUTHER'S BIRTH

Y. M. C. A. and Several Churches Will Celebrate Anniversaries Tomorrow—Decision Day Will Be Observed—Pulpit Topics.

"Martin Luther" is the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Samuel A. Ort, which will be delivered in the Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny, tomorrow morning. Monday is the four hundred and nineteenth anniversary of the birth of the great reformer.

Sunday schools all over the world will observe tomorrow as "Decision Day." The golden text is, "Choose you this day whom you will serve." Several Pittsburgh ministers have taken this for the topic of their sermons tomorrow. "Decision Day" is set apart for the purpose of making a special effort to persuade children to enter the church.

Col. J. B. Finley of Pittsburgh has accepted the presidency of the Presbyterian union of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, to which office he was elected last Monday night. He has been an elder in the Presbyterian church at Monongahela for many years. The Rev. A. R. Van Fossan has accepted the vice presidency of the union.

Van Dyke Will Attend.

The Rev. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton university, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, has accepted the invitation to address the Presbyterian union banquet next month. Dr. Van Dyke has a world-wide reputation as an author and orator. He has never appeared before a Pittsburgh audience.

The third lecture in the course of Sunday services at the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom will be given tomorrow morning in the Temple, in Eighth street. A new departure having taken place in the Temple, in the introduction of oil paintings and art decorations, Rabbi Levy will address the congregation on "Art and the Synagogue." The service will be in English and the general public is invited.

The members of the Second Methodist Protestant church, Pittsburgh, have completed arrangements for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Reisville Mission Sabbath school, out of which the church grew. The services will commence tomorrow morning and continue until November 16. Thomas F. Scott of Castle Shannon, who organized the school, and a number of the original scholars will be present at the reunion of the Sabbath school tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

The thirty-sixth anniversary of the Central Branch, Young Men's Christian association, will be celebrated in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening. The services will open with a scripture reading and prayer by the Rev. David McAllister.

Scovel the Chief Speaker.

The address of the evening will be made by the Rev. Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel of Wooster university. A collection for the current expenses will be taken up. In addition to membership fees, $9,000 is needed. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock a prayer meeting service, held in all the Young Men's Christian associations throughout the world, will be observed at the Association building, Penn avenue and Seventh street.

The third anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. George Marsh, in the Puritan Congregational church, South Side, will be celebrated tomorrow evening. The pastor will give a practical talk to the congregation entitled "Hearts Touched by God." Other addresses will be made, and special music will add to the occasion.

The Rev. Duncan MacGregor of the Allegheny Christian church will preach a sermon in Kenyon's hall, Federal street, Allegheny, tomorrow evening, on "Five Important Lessons, Read Through the Smoke and Dust and Fumes of Recent Great Battles."

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of St. Joseph's German Catholic church, Braddock, will be celebrated tomorrow. The opening service at 10:30 o'clock in the morning will be a solemn high mass; Weigand's St. Patrick's mass will be sung. The celebrant will be the Rev. Charles Hipp of Allegheny, formerly of this parish. An augmented choir of 30 voices will take part in the services, which will conclude in the evening.

Pictures of the Oberammergau Passion Play, as seen by the Rev. S. Edward Young in 1900, will be reproduced by stereopticon just prior to the sermon on the "Crucifixion" at the Bijou theater tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Other works of Christian art will be shown and a portion of the Passion Play music, with the German words, will be rendered.

LEMARE AT THE ORGAN.

Regular Recital Programs at Carnegie Music Hall Today and Tomorrow.

Edwin H. Lemare, whose return to Pittsburgh on Founder's Day was an event of wide interest to Pittsburghers, has decided to resume at once his bi-weekly organ recitals at Carnegie music hall. He has arranged a program to be played tonight, and also on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Lemare has not been heard by the general public since early last summer, when with Mrs. Lemare he returned to spend some time with his friends in London. The program for tonight is as follows:

Overture in C major............Alfred Hollins
"Waldweben," "Siegfried".............Wagner
(a) Andantino in D flat (No. 2), first time.............Lemare
(b) Chanson d'Ete, first time............Lemare
Prelude and fugue, "St. Ann's"...........Bach
Angel Scene, "Hansel und Gretel"..........Humperdinck
Fantasia in E flat..............Saint-Saens
Overture to "William Tell"..............Rossini

Workmen Had Narrow Escape.

A wire cable holding a swinging boom of a large derrick, which was raising six heavy sections of structural iron at the Farmers' Deposit bank building, Fifth avenue and Wood street, parted yesterday and dropped the iron into the excavation between the new building and the Mellor building. Many men were working in the hole, but the iron fell on the only spot not occupied by workmen.

SICK MADE WELL WEAK MADE STRONG.

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

Wonderful Cures Are Effected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret of Long Life of Olden Times Revived.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realms of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 3405 First National Bank building, Fort Wayne, Ind., makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

DR. JAMES WILLIAM KIDD.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissues, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail.

SYRUP OF FIGS

Acts Gently;
Acts Pleasantly;
Acts Beneficially;
Acts truly as a Laxative.

Syrup of Figs appeals to the cultured and the well-informed and to the healthy, because its component parts are simple and wholesome and because it acts without disturbing the natural functions, as it is wholly free from every objectionable quality or substance. In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal virtues of Syrup of Figs are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially.

SMALL PARTY SAW LAST OF REUBER

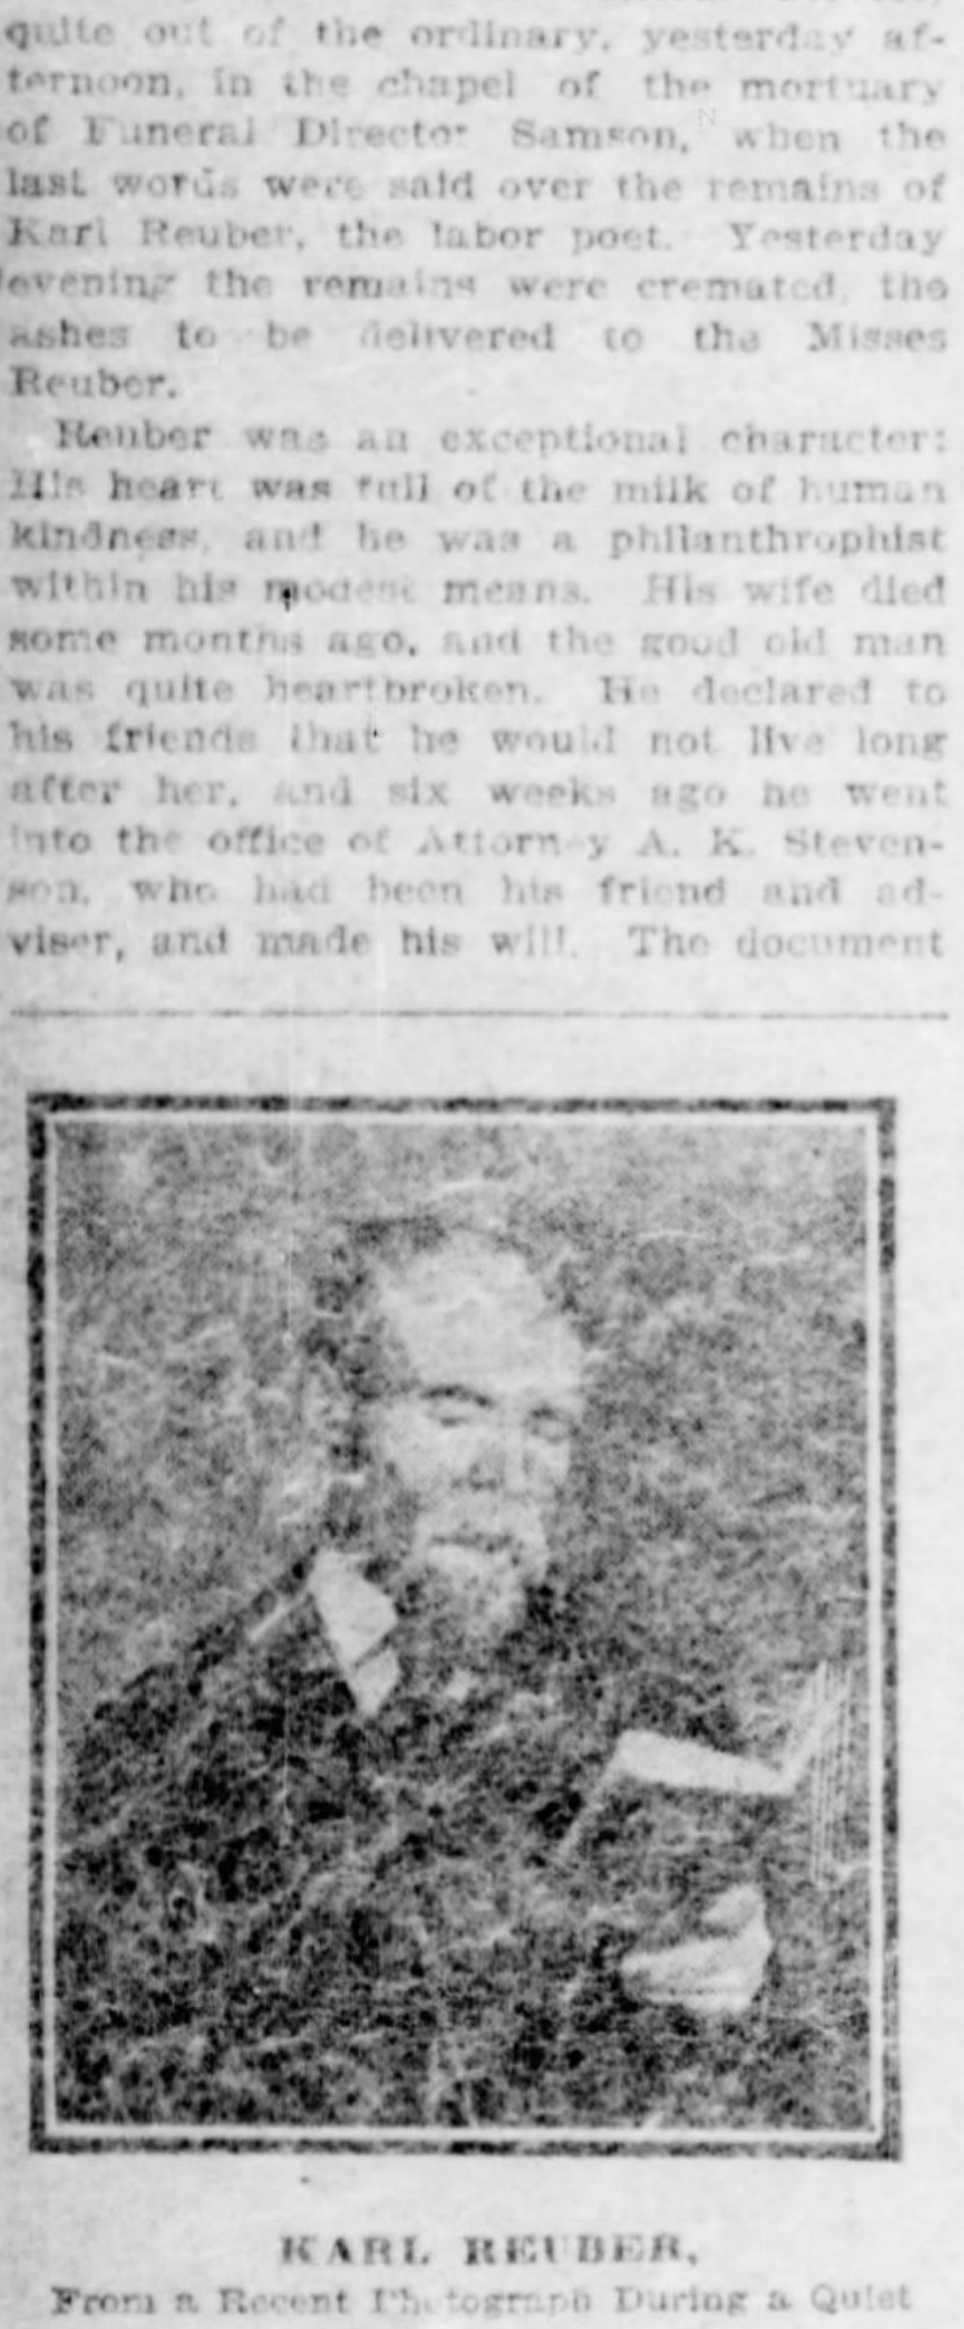
Memories of Labor Poet's Goodness Forgotten Except by a Few.

BODY WAS CREMATED

A Remarkable, Kind-Hearted Character, Dominated by Charitable Sentiment—Made Characteristic Will.

There was a little funeral service, quite out of the ordinary, yesterday afternoon, in the chapel of the mortuary of Funeral Director Samson, when the last words were said over the remains of Karl Reuber, the labor poet. Yesterday evening the remains were cremated, the ashes to be delivered to the Misses Reuber.

Reuber was an exceptional character: His heart was full of the milk of human kindness, and he was a philanthropist within his modest means. His wife died some months ago, and the good old man was quite heartbroken. He declared to his friends that he would not live long after her, and six weeks ago he went into the office of Attorney A. K. Stevenson, who had been his friend and adviser, and made his will. The document will be probated on Monday. In it he bequeaths his little home in Boston street, near Fifth avenue, to the United Mine Workers, as a trust, and on condition that within two years a structure, to be used as a place of meeting for labor organizations and to cost not less than $2,000, be erected there. He walked away from the attorney's office in Fourth avenue and a few hours later fell and broke his leg in several places the injuries causing blood poisoning, which resulted in his death.



KARL REUBER.
From a Recent Photograph During a Quiet Study at Home.

Tributes Paid the Old Man.

It was a short funeral oration in German, which the Rev. F. Ruoff of the First German United Evangelical Protestant church pronounced. A small choir sang a few hymns in English. There were not over a score and a half of people present, among them Patrick Dolan, Uriah Bellingham, William Dodds, William Little and Matthew Kerrigan of the United Mine Workers, and Harry O'Neil, formerly a miner. Dolan said afterward: "He was an exceptionally kind and gentle-hearted old soul, giving his whole mind to the cause of humanity, and I am surprised that more representatives of labor organization, whose friend he has always been, were not present."

Reuber was one of the interesting characters of Pittsburgh and many people knew him as he wandered about, usually with a basket of flowers, for he was something of a florist, his latest verses, the old vanilla-scented snuff box and a disposition to talk by the hour. He worked as a piano tuner and at odd jobs of tinkering.

The editors of the trade papers of Pittsburgh had a frequent visitor in the labor poet. Frank Gessner, editor of the National Glass Budget, some years ago dipped his pen into the subject of the labor poet for a column or two of the best description ever produced. It was all kindly enough, but did not hesitate to disclose Reuber's harmless faults. As an instance:

"He goes on talking, and is always wound up for an hour. The busier you are, the longer he stays and the louder he talks. And he talks sense, too. He is a flatterer. Perhaps that is the reason we think him possessed of such a deal of good sense. Good friend, we enjoy you: you are a physician to wounded hearts and troubling souls."

Gessner, in his honest article, expressed his faithlessness in Reuber's rythm and meter, but as a reflection of the sentiments of the man here is one of his last productions, which Pat Dolan of the miners yesterday took down from its place in a frame as it hung on the wall to read it over again: "These little verses certainly give a glimpse into the soul of the man, and I shall always treasure them," said Pat. Here they are:

What Is Success?

Is it to worship earthly, groveling gold,
And, dollar-blinded, to look only down;
To rake muck-heap and forget the crown
Until youth's bounding blood creeps strangely cold;
To dwell with envy, arrogance and dread;
To barter all benevolence for dross;
To lose companionship, nor feel it lost,
Because the flower of sympathy is dead;
Is that success?

To labor for the rainbow bubble, fame,
Afloat so fairly in the morning air,
A perfect jewel for a prince to wear,
Is it a recompense for all its claim?
Thro' careful night and crowded, strenuous day,
Thro' iron rebuff, or flattery, like snow
That leaves one thirsty, it is grasped, and, lo,
It vanishes in nothingness away;
Is that success?

With comrade duty in the dark or day,
To follow truth, wherever it may lead;
To hate all meanness, cowardice or greed;
To look for beauty under common clay;
Our brothers' burden sharing when they weep,
But, if we fall, to bear defeat alone;
To live in hearts that loved us when we're gone
Beyond the twilight, till the morning break—to sleep—
That is success.

BUY SOMETHING NEW TO WEAR TOMORROW

Climax Days Now in Campbell's Cloak and Suit Departments.

Perhaps it will be cold today. Certainly it will be chillier before long. Why postpone all your cold-weather purchases until zero weather comes. Many a woman wins the reputation of being well dressed by appearing in new garments before newness becomes so common that it ceases to attract attention.

At Campbell's just at this stage of the season the cloak and suit department is at its best—thousands of graceful garments in the most stylish textile, cut a la mode, made with due attention to the little details that impart that delightful perfection of finish which is the hall-mark of good tailoring—not the garments where characteristic is garish display, but the kind of clothes you would select for your mother, wife or sister.

Campbell's prices are not pitched at a high key at this time of the year because the demand is now urgent, but start at figures that can be maintained, with prompt and plentiful sales, until the winter is well nigh spent.

Heeler of Shoes is Healer of Persons.

Harry Dodge, a shoemaker of Station street, Wilmerding, is acquiring a record as a healer. During the last two weeks he is said to have cured nearly a dozen people in Wilmerding after physicians failed. Dodge claims he can cure the sick by laying on his hands. He cannot account for his power and is not allied with any particular religious sect. He says it is not a faith cure, neither does he use medicine. He cures free of charge and people living in the vicinity of his small shop have unbounded belief in his power. Dodge has lived in Wilmerding for two years and was a former resident of Allegheny.

DEPUTIES INVALIDATE COUNT BONI'S ELECTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Nov. 7.—After an exciting debate, the chamber of deputies today, by 278 to 235 votes, invalidated the election of Count Boni de Castellane as a member of the house. The committee on contested elections presented its report without recommendation, leaving the chamber to pass on the question. Emile Chauvin made a bitter attack on Count de Castellane, declaring he had been guilty of irregularities, and saying that the count had accused his opponent of being of German descent and a Dreyfusard.

Count de Castellane said the charges were false. He said he had been accused of buying the election and practicing charity for election purposes. Nothing of the kind had ever been proved, he declared, and he appealed to the chamber to uphold his election, which, he asserted, truly represented the wishes of the inhabitants of the Basses Alpes district.

There was much disorder, the members of the left applauding the attacks on Count de Castellane and jeering at his reply, while the count's Republican associates gave him hearty applause. The result of the vote necessitates another election in the Basses Alpes district.

MISS MARY FOWNES WON TAYLOR CUP

Her Victory in Yesterday's Handicap Gave Her Total of Eight and One-Half Points.

Miss Mary Fownes was winner of the C. L. Taylor cup for women yesterday afternoon on the course of the Highland Golf club, with a total of 8½ points scored in six contests. Her nearest opponent was Mrs. Louis Brown, with 8 1-3. Miss Fownes' victory was one of good playing over handicaps, as she has had by far the best gross scores. The scores yesterday were:

	Gross.	High.	Net.
Miss Mary Fownes	98	2	96
Miss Ada Gerdea	114	12	102
Mrs. E. L. Allen	120	18	102
Miss Louise Elkins	11	4	107

Qualifying Round at Logans Ferry.

The 16 players of the Westmoreland Country club, who had the lowest scores in the round of medal play will compete today in the first round of match play for the club championship cup. The names of the 16 and their order of pairing are as follows: F. M. Steiner played his match yesterday with Walter Stevenson, beating him 5 up and 3 to play. He is playing about the best golf of any with 81 strokes for 18 holes. F. S. Viele beat W. W. Woodruff by 1 up; D. D. Pendleton is paired with W. E. Collier; M. A. Preston with B. C. Bakewell; E. E. Giles with W. T. Drill; C. C. Preston with W. A. McConway, Jr.; R. C. Long with W. A. Nicholson, and E. C. Darling with J. T. Moore.

Today's Local Golf Schedule.

The golf schedule for today consists entirely of club events. On the Allegheny Country club course the second 18-hole round for the Cresson cup and the final contest for the president's cup are scheduled.

The Country club of Pittsburgh holds the fifth handicap contest for the Hotel Schenley cup and a handicap sweepstake.

The first medal play round for the club championship will be played on the Edgewood course, and the first match play round for the Westmoreland championship on the Logans Ferry course. The eight lowest scores qualify at Edgewood.

On the Schenley course of the Pittsburgh Golf club a mixed foursome will be decided for cups offered by Mrs. J. R. Speer and Lawrence Dilworth.

Porter and Thayer Play for Cup.

In the semi-final match play competition for the president's cup on the Allegheny Country club course, Walter Thayer defeated B. S. Horne by 4 up and 3 to play, while J. E. Porter won from O. D. Thompson by 3 up and 1 to play. Porter and Thayer meet in the final 36-hole match today.

COST OF RURAL DELIVERY.

If the System Were Complete It Would Amount to $24,000,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The annual gross cost of a complete rural free delivery service throughout the United States will approximate $24,000,000, according to the annual report of First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne. The remaining 700,000 square miles not now covered will require the employment of 26,000 or 27,000 carriers in addition to those now employed.

December 1 two rural free delivery routes will be established at Freeport, Harrison county, O., with two carriers. The routes cover an area of 36 square miles, containing a population of 872. The postoffices at Clendining and Tariff are to be discontinued and mail sent to Freeport.

Yaquis Massacre Seven

TUCSON, ARIZ., Nov. 7.—J. E. Sullivan, superintendent of a mine at Lameza, Sonora, Mexico, while en route to San Marcial in company with half a dozen Mexicans, was attacked by Indians and the entire party murdered. Indians in that vicinity have taken to the warpath and are beyond the control of the small Mexican force.

Orchestra Concert This Afternoon.

The first afternoon concert of the Pittsburgh orchestra's 1902-3 season will be given at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. The inaugural program, with Mary Muncheff, soprano, who made so fine an impression Thursday night, will be repeated. In the history of the orchestra no season was begun so auspiciously as the present one, and there is every indication of a fine attendance this afternoon.

First of the Series.

The Braddock club, a leading social organization of the Monongahela valley, held its second monthly reception and dance last evening of the series to be given once each month during the winter. The affair was held at the Assembly hall, Wilkinsburg, and about 150 guests were present.

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN THAW gave a dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. John Dalzell. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock at the Pittsburgh club, later Mr. and Mrs. Thaw's guests going to the Alvin to see Joseph Jefferson. The dinner was handsomely appointed, with covers for 15 people. The decorations consisted of Liberty roses and violets arranged in a central mound, with corsage bouquets of violets for the ladies, and boutonnieres for the gentlemen. Mr. and Mrs. Thaw's guests included, in addition to Mrs. Dalzell, Col. and Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker, Mr. and Mrs. John Denniston Lyon, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James McCrea, Mrs. William Ralston Crabbe, Mr. Scaife and Mr. Lockhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Thaw closed their summer home, Beach Mound, in Newport, late in September and returned to Pittsburgh a few weeks ago, when they opened their beautiful home in Morewood avenue, Shadyside. At present Mrs. Dalzell is the house guest of Mrs. Frederick Bingaman of Westminster place, Shadyside, but will shortly return to Washington, D. C., to join her husband.

Test in Enunciation.

Miss Louise Root won the prize in the vocal contest for the Curry Conservatory of Music gold medal, held last evening in Curry College hall under the direction of Simeon Bissell. The principal condition of the contest was clear enunciation of words. Each contestant sang the same song, thus giving an equal chance to all. The song was selected by the faculty, and was entitled, "Oh, 'Tis Sweet to Remember," a composition by Clarence Mellinger, one of the pupils of the conservatory. The contestants were Miss Nettie Abiett, Miss Louise Root, Miss Toine Lamping, Miss Estelle Sevin, Miss Charlotte Simons and Miss Adelaide Merriman. In addition to the vocal numbers, Mrs. Mabel Prentice, Miss May Snelsire and Miss Emma Vickeroth played piano selections, and Aloise Hrabak played the flute. As each contestant sang, stenographers took down the words they heard, and at the conclusion of the contest made their report, which, although very close, was in favor of Miss Root.

Late Winter Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Mary Baggaley, the eldest daughter of Ralph Baggaley, and David King Irwin, whose engagement was recently announced, is expected to take place during the latter part of the winter, although no date is yet announced for the affair, which will be one of social prominence. Miss Baggaley, since her debut, which occurred the same season that Miss Florence Carnegie, now Mrs. Frederick Perkins, and Miss Nancy Carnegie, were introduced, has been popular among the members of the younger smart set. She has traveled extensively abroad and two winters ago went to Japan with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Baggaley, who last year made her debut. She was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Florence Carnegie at Mrs. Thomas M. Carnegie's winter home, Dungeness, Ga.

Musicale for Charity.

A delightful musicale was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Harbison in the Brighton Road, Allegheny, for the benefit of the Woods Run Industrial home. The musical program was contributed by members of the faculty of the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, including Mrs. Annie Grace Ribeldaffer, vocalist; Miss Nellie Bender, violinist, and Miss Martha Groff and Miss Etta Bender, pianist.

The musicale had enjoyable social features and Mrs. Harbison was assisted in receiving by Mrs. James Hoag, Mrs. Francis J. Torrance, Mrs. Joseph A. Stevenson, Mrs. Edward Worcester, Mrs. Benjamin G. Follansbee, Mrs. Henry Buhl and Miss Walker. There was a large attendance and the musicale was very successful financially as well as socially and artistically.

Thompson—Stewart.

An interesting wedding took place last evening in the Homestead United Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. J. Lela Vance, officiating. The bride was Miss Nettie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thompson, and the groom the Rev. Walter J. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stewart of Tenth avenue. Both are well known young people of the borough. The groom was graduated recently from the theological school and just accepted a call to the pastorate of the West Beaver and New Lebanon church, near Lisbon, O. A reception followed the wedding, after which the couple left for a trip.

Preparingg for the Concert Season.

The Western University Glee, Mandolin and Banjo clubs have organized for the season and are already at work rehearsing for their concerts this winter. The officers of the association are J. C. Fetterman, president; A. R. Jones, general manager; C. C. Warne, manager of the Glee club; W. S. Cooper, manager for the Mandolin club; J. G. Houston, manager of the Banjo club; J. E. Biggins, treasurer, and John L. High, director of the Glee club; Walter Howard, director of the Mandolin, and J. M. Bright, of the Banjos. Concerts will be given this season in all of the large towns and several extensive trips are being planned.

Another November Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Tenie Dick Greves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Greves, and John R. Hays of Swissvale will take place on Thursday evening, November 20, at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents in Larimer avenue, East End. It will be a quiet home wedding, the guests including only close relatives. Mr. Hays and his bride will make their home during the winter at the Hotel Lorraine, North Highland avenue, expecting in the spring to move into their new house, now being erected in Elgin avenue and Mellon street, East End.

Future Social Affairs.

Mrs. Harry D. Sellers yesterday issued cards for an afternoon tea on Thursday, November 20, at her home in Wightman street, Shadyside, when she will formally introduce her daughter, Miss Elizabeth M. Sellers.

Mrs. Rowland H. Erving will entertain at cards on Thursday afternoon, November 13, at her home in Colonial place.

Mrs. Robert Walker Guthrie gives her tea in honor of Miss Mary Crossan Hays and Miss Marion Sellers on Thursday afternoon, November 13.

Tea in Brushton.

Mrs. Frank Moore will give a large afternoon tea and reception on Monday, November 10, from 4 o'clock until 6, her guests of honor being Mrs. Spicer of Chicago, who is her house guest as well, and Mrs. Whitney of Louisville, Ky., who is visiting Mrs. Edward P. Botsford of Thomas boulevard. The tea will be conducted at Mrs. Moore's home, Glen Craigie, in Braddock road, East End, and will be one of many enjoyable social affairs which will take place on Monday.

Mr. Gilder on "Literary Style."

Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century Magazine, who came to Pittsburgh to attend the Founder's Day exercises, will give an informal talk on "Literary Style" before the Kindergarten college, No. 3439 Fifth avenue, this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The managers and students of the college are cordially invited to attend.

Vassar Students Tableaux.

The Vassar Students Art society gave an elaborate entertainment last evening at the Thurston school in Shady avenue, East End, for the benefit of its scholarship fund. A series of tableaux was presented, the majority of them copied from well known posters and presented with fine effect. The tableaux and those who took part in them were as follows:

"Soldiers of Fortune," Miss Edna McKay; "Golf Girl of 1789," Miss Mary Lloyd; "Golf Girl of 1902," Miss Jane Bennett; "The Smart Set," Miss Elizabeth Berger; "Harper's for May," Mrs. Charles Arbuthnot; "The Ladies' Home Journal," Miss Eleanor Gregg; "Dog Show," Miss Irene Succop; "Yale-Princeton Game," Miss Wilson; "Yale-Princeton Game," Miss Sarah Lyon; "Harper's for March," Mrs. William McKelvey; "The New York Journal," Miss Callard; "Armour's Calendar, 1903," Miss Margaret Brown; "Omega Girl," Master Allen Matthews; "Madame Chrysanthemum," Miss Mary Morris; "Wilhelmina," Miss Gertrude Heard; "Century," Miss Alice McKay; "Thanksgiving," Miss Morris, and "The Vassar Girl," Miss Anne Richey.

The tableaux were followed by a dance. Tables for the sale of lemonade and candy and poster pillows were additional features of the evening entertainment.

Club Organized.

The Professional Women's club organized last evening and held its first meeting at the Westminster school in Shadyside. Officers were elected as follows: Miss May Lynne, president; Miss Estelle McCloskey, vice president; Miss Brown, secretary; Miss Sara H. Pence, treasurer. The board of directors includes Miss Lynne, Madame Kate Lippa, Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, Miss Boardman, Mrs. W. F. Abel, Miss Brown, Miss Suzanne Beatty, Dr. Blair of Sewickley, Mrs. Hammond and Dr. Rachel Robbins. The Professional Women's club starts with a membership of 50.

A Wilkinsburg Reception.

Invitations have been issued for a reception to be given by Mrs. Thomas M. Donehoo of No. 566 Oakwood street, Brushton, on the afternoon of Thursday, November 13, from 2 to 5 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. Jacob Weinman, Jr., formerly Miss Cora Goehring of Wilkinsburg, Mrs. James Francis Bunting, and Mrs. Hollis Wells Jencks.

Mrs. Bishop Entertained.

The second of a series of entertainments in honor of Miss Myra Murdoch was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bishop of Osborne. It was a card party, the game being six-handed euchre. About 60 guests attended.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth King Sanderson of South Negley avenue gave a luncheon yesterday.

Last evening the Keystone Bicycle club gave a euchre at the club house for its members only.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Langfitt of South Linden avenue, East End, entertained last evening the card club of which they are members.

Miss Emma Weeks was hostess at an afternoon tea yesterday, her guest of honor being Mrs. Alexander Steadman of Mauch Chunk, Pa.

Mrs. Schreuder of Edgewood gave a six-hand euchre yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Spicer, who is visiting Mrs. Frank Moore.

Miss Killikelly has recalled her invitations for a tea Monday, November 10, because of the death of a relative, Mrs. Prentice, of Osborne.

On Wednesday evening, November 12, Miss Edith Fiscus entertains the Irondequoit Euchre club at her home on Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg.

A handsome dinner was given last evening at the home of F. C. Murdock, in Fifth avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Collins. Covers were laid for 20.

Mrs. Harry Scott Calvert gave a pretty card party yesterday afternoon at her home in Aiken avenue, Shadyside, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Wilbur Shenk, one of the recent brides.

FEMININE FADS AND FANCIES

Original Engagement Luncheons.

At a luncheon this autumn, to announce an engagement, hearts predominated in the decorative and menu scheme. The luncheon was given by an aunt of the fiancee to a dozen of her girl friends. At each cover were heart-shaped boxes filled with rice, to be kept for the wedding rice-throwing. The centerpiece of pink roses outlined a heart. Over the head of the guest of honor hung a large double heart, gilded, and filled with pink rose petals. This heart was of two pieces of pasteboard fitted together. A pink ribbon hung from the top of one and the bottom of the other, and as the formal announcement was made at the end of the luncheon two girls reached up and pulled, each of them a ribbon, which released the shower of rose leaves on the head of the blushing bride-to-be. One of the courses was heart salad. This was tomato jelly molded in heart shape, each resting on a lettuce and masked with mayonnaise into which broken English walnuts had been stirred. With this were handed round heart sandwiches made of small crustless hearts of brown and white bread put together—white and brown. A large heart-shaped cake bore a double monogram and was pierced by a golden arrow.

While on the subject of announcement festivals, the ingenious method of another fiancee is worth recording. Although her name had been coupled with the right man, nothing definite was known, and the company of young women gathered at the luncheon entirely unsuspicious of the pending word. The name cards were plain small white cards, and the courses were well under way when one guest chanced to turn her card over. On the other side was the engraved name of the fortunate lover, and on teasingly calling the attention of the company to the fact, other cards were turned over, only to find that all were the visiting cards of the same man. So the secret was out.

The Woman With Charm.

If you would be charming, you must take the trouble to be thoughtful of others. You will be considerate of older persons; greet them as cordially as friends of your own age, take the time to talk to them, listen to them when they are talking. You will not be so absorbed in your own interests that you cannot enter into the interests of others. You will look people in the face when you are talking and give your attention to what they are saying. You will not interrupt others or contradict them or show impatience for your chance to talk, and will not try to monopolize the conversation. You will not be effusively gracious to someone because you wish to gain an invitation or something of that sort, while you are coldly indifferent to another who may not be of so much importance in the world or among your set of friends. Sincerity is one of the essential parts of charm. A lack of it is very quickly detected.

* * *

Pretty Cozy Corners.

Cozy-corners can be made effective by introducing wooden scroll or lattice work into an improvised arch made to fit any recess—for instance, that between the fireplace and the wall. The seats must be very wide to be comfortable, never less than 30 inches, and when large cushions are used, 33 inches will not be too wide. Stamped velveteen in the charming Renaissance designs is beautiful for the upholstery used in these corners, and cretonne is also effective. Cover the seats and let a valance reach from the seat to the floor. If made of material light in weight, such as cretonne or denim, a ruffle should be placed at the bottom of the valance. A few cushions are necessary, but a pile of vari-colored cushions is a mistake. Interlined with cotton wadding, they are pleasant accessories to a nap. Put a narrow shelf painted ivory above the line of the headrest and hang from it a curtain long enough to reach the seat. Upon this shelf photographs and dainty bric-a-brac may be pleasingly displayed.

New Ideas for the Housewife.

When glass dishes are used for flowers, it is useful to have the open wire coverings that come for the purpose, through which the stems may be thrust. In this way a few flowers may be used to excellent advantage. These coverings fit long narrow, as well as circular dishes. The mirror mats are most desirable, too, and two or three or more in different sizes and shapes permit much variety in table decorations. It is a good plan, too, to have a set of four individual silver candlesticks, with a round of shades. The open-work silver shades with which a glazed color-piece is used are the most economical in the end. The color-pieces are very cheap, and once a set in pink, white, red, green and yellow is acquired, a wide range in the table scheme is possible. As fresh candles must always be bought, it is easy to get them of the desired color. The detached candlesticks are also better value than the branching ones, when economy is to be considered and frequent entertaining is undertaken, as the arrangement of the former can be widely varied.

A Parisian Touch.

To the various lace insertions used so much as trimming, a Parisian touch may be added with little trouble by dispersing over the lace pattern small rosettes of chiffon, white, black or in color, depending upon the ensemble of the dress. There should not be too many of these rosettes—not more than six or eight to the quarter yard—and they should be placed on the important spots in the design of the lace.

* * *

Pearls the Popular Stone.

There are distinct styles in stones and jewelry as in other fashions, and just now gem lovers are victims of the pearl craze. For years the pearl has reigned supreme in Europe, but only recently has it taken such a firm hold in America. With the very best class of trade it is fairly safe to predict that the pearl will supplant the white diamond though there always will be some to whom a diamond signifies the acme of beauty in gems. There are also green, bronze and blue diamonds which are often called for. They are hard to obtain and exceedingly costly. The zircon is a popular, though less heard of stone. It is much like a sapphire, only harder, and comes in all shades. The best zircons can hardly be detected from colored diamonds.

* * *

The Gingham Cushion Fad.

Washable cushion tops have long been fashionable, as well as sensible, for the winter couches and window seats, as well as for porch and lawn and hammock for comfort during the summer months. A pillow recently finished is one of the daintiest encountered, so far, in the search for Christmas novelties. The gingham chosen shows a block of clear delicate green, alternating with a block of pure white and one of delicate gray-green. Taking four of the deeper green blocks, with a white block center, designs known as the cobweb and Maltese cross design have been worked with white darning cotton with the close "filling-in-stitch," and surrounding these close, firm designs are loose outline-stitch designs, completing a most attractive finish. A double ruffle finishes this cushion; one of plain light green gingham with rows of tucking at the edge, and above this a tucked ruffle of white.

* * *

The Fashion in Shoulders.

It hardly seems possible on first thought that there could be such a thing as fashions in shoulders, but there is. When we stop to think and look at the Venus of Milo and other immortal types of beauty created by the ancient Greeks we see that the shoulders were strong and broad, though at the same time beautifully curved and modeled, and this same type was later gloriously exemplified in the work of Raphael. As we come down to the English and French masters, however, there is a decided change and the female shoulders are represented as slender, sloping and delicate, and it is this type which is now enjoying the favor of fashion.

Keyboard Corner for the Piano.

When the piano is left open, dust accumulates on the keys. Even when it is closed some dust penetrates the crevices and covers the keys and sifts through the apertures between the keys and, in the case of an organ, settles in the reeds and puts the instrument out of tune. A keyboard cover, is, therefore, a great protection. The cover should be a strip of silk or satin matching in color the other decorative accessories of the instrument. Flowers may be embroidered on the silk and some appropriate motto, such as Shelley's lines:

> Music, when soft voices die,

A lining of quilted satin perfumed with sachet powder, with a cord of silk to frame the cover, completes a useful bit of fancy work.

* * *

Home-Made Smelling Salts.

For home-made smelling salts take one gill of liquid ammonia, add to this eight drops each of cloves and oil of bergamot and one-quarter of a dram each of extract of English lavender and of rosemary. Shake this thoroughly in a bottle from which you fill your vinaigrette from time to time as needed. Put into the vinaigrette, which must have a glass stopper, bits of sponge, then pour in as much of the mixture as the sponge will absorb. Invert the bottle with the cork out to see that it is all absorbed and then cork tightly. With your bottle of mixture at hand neither your vinaigrette nor that of your neighbor need ever be empty.

* * *

A Return to Homely Fare.

Novelty is one of the things needful in the fashionable dinner of today. In order to arrive at it the clever planner of a dinner will frequently have recourse to some old-fashioned dish, by many deemed homely fare, which he will have prepared with consummate skill, rechristened in cuisine French, and sent up as one of the crowning triumphs of a smart feast. As an example of this, at the house of one of the best dinner givers at Newport, commonplace bacon and beans appeared as Feves de Marais a l'Ecarlate, and was voted one of the daintiest dishes of a very excellent dinner. Hot ham served as a dinner joint is another instance of so-called "humble fare" returned to fashionable favor.

Housewarming in the East End.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock give a large evening reception and housewarming at their new mansion in North Highland avenue, East End, on Monday, November 10. Mrs. Peacock will have for her assistance Mrs. Daniel M. Clemson, Mrs. Clifton A. Verner, Mrs. Murry A. Verner, Mrs. David L. Gillespie, Mrs. William S. Miller, Mrs. Samuel W. Seymour, Mrs. Omar Scott Decker, Mrs. Margaret Dallmeyer, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Charles H. Bedell, Mrs. James Norval, Miss Jean Wilson, Miss Josephine Laraque and Miss Marie Swalm.

Students Prefer Exile.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 7.—Only a few of the exiled students will return to their universities. The majority have refused to abstain from taking part in politics and have elected to remain in Siberia.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh; catarrh of stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh and much more serious although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head, those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full-sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

Every bright housewife concedes: it's everything that Silver needs.

CHARLES D. LAW HAS PASSED AWAY

Sudden Death Ends Career of Well Known Railroad Official.

WAS SICK ONLY TEN DAYS

He Organized and for Three Years Had Controlled Real Estate Department of All Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh.

Charles D. Law, a widely known official of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, real estate agent of the whole western system since that office was created in 1890, died yesterday at his home, Grant and Woodlawn avenues, Bellevue. His illness was short. The direct cause of death was heart failure, induced by rheumatism. The first serious symptoms were felt while he was attending a theatrical performance in the city last Saturday evening.

The news of his death was a surprise and a shock to many acquaintances. His prominence in Grand Army, Masonic and to some extent in political circles, as well as his railroad positions for many years, had won for him an unusually large circle of friends.

C. D. LAW.

Charles Delos Law was born in Philadelphia, November 23, 1844. His parents moved to Carlisle shortly after his birth, and there he received his early education. He continued his studies at the Polytechnic college of the state of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, from which he graduated in 1863.

A few weeks after graduation he enlisted in Company G, Thirty-second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteer infantry. Later he entered the United States government service as an engineer and draughtsman in the engineer corps of the Army of the Cumberland. He remained in the service until two years later. The associations of his war service always remained strong with Mr. Law, and he was interested in the Grand Army for a number of years. He belonged to Sion S. Boss post, No. 40, department of Indiana.

Leaving the government service in March, 1866, a month later found him in railroad work, to which all the rest of his life was devoted. He served as a rodman, levelman, transitman and assistant engineer of the Duchess & Columbia road. For two years he was connected with the engineering department of several small roads.

In April, 1873, he accepted the appointment of division engineer of the western division of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, and that position he held until February 1, 1880, when his title was changed to engineer of maintenance of way of the same division. November 15, 1881, he was appointed superintendent of the division and this position he retained until April 1, 1890, when the position of real estate agent of the entire western system was created and he was appointed to the office with headquarters in this city.

While he was superintendent of the western division the great Pullman railroad strike occurred and Mr. Law had charge of the Pennsylvania's property throughout those troublous times.

During Mr. Law's superintendency the headquarters of the western division of the northwest system were removed from Chicago to Ft. Wayne, Ind., and the greater part of Mr. Law's activity was in the latter state. He took a prominent part in the Republican campaigns in Indiana in 1888 and 1896.

He was prominent in Masonic work. In 1868 at Matteawan, Duchess county, N. Y., he was initiated. He was a member of Wayne lodge, No. 25, F. and A. M., at Ft. Wayne, Ind., and was past eminent commander of Ft. Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templars. He also received the various Scottish Rite degrees.

In June, 1870, he married Miss Josephine Clarkson of New York city. Mrs. Law died in 1897 at Ft. Wayne. Two children survive. They are Frederick Clarkson Law and William Benedict Law, both now living in Denver. In 1900 Mr. Law married a second time. His bride was Miss Mae Holsapple of Chicago, who survives.

Mr. Law was a member of the Second Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, of which the Rev. S. Edward Young is pastor. The funeral services will be held at the family home in Bellevue at 3 p. m., Monday. Interment will be at Ft. Wayne, Ind., on the following day.

WITNESSES DISAGREE.

Santa Fe Traffic Manager Says Great Western's Rates on Live Stock Are Too High.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western Railroad Company told the inter-state commerce commission today that all rates are established on a basis of an absolutely free market, and the intention of the railroad company is not to hurt Chicago or to build up Kansas City. He further asserted that the live stock rate, all things considered, is not unreasonable.

W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe, took issue with President Stickney. He said the rates established by his company on packing house products are the same as those of the Great Western road, while on live stock it is only 12 cents, compared with 23½ cents as charged by the Great Western line.

The witness said that the cost of both was about equal, and that railroad men generally recognize that rates should be higher on the finished product than on live stock.

Big Robbery in Lawyer's House.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Emanuel Jacobus, a lawyer, reported to the police today that his residence in Madison avenue was entered by thieves last evening while the family was at dinner, and that $8,000 worth of jewelry and a quantity of valuable clothing was stolen.

BETTER TONE IN STOCKS AND MONEY

The Eastern Market Held Up Well Until Just Before the Close, When Prices Declined---Local Securities Dull.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Finanical Editor.

There was a better tone to the eastern stock market yesterday, and while the early gains were not retained at the close, it was apparent that the bears were at some pains to discover fresh reasons for further liquidations. London quotations were not influential at the opening, but prices generally were firmer, and throughout the morning session there was a slow but steady appreciation in values. Whether this was due to shorts covering or to fresh buying for the long account was a disputed point, but the fact was remarked upon that the market took the heavy liquidation since the election better than was expected, in view of the extremely bearish sentiment of commission houses, which is acting as a deterrent upon the general public. During the early part of the day the strength of Missouri Pacific and Manhattan was the principal feature. The former probably receives more attention at the hands of manipulators than any other stock just at the moment, and hence its fluctuations are not regarded as significant. Manhattan was the subject of a critical analysis by a leading house, which gave the results of its labors to the public in the shape of a circular, the final conclusion of which was that the system will earn more than 8 per cent next year. In view of the story that the Delaware & Hudson system had been divided between Pennsylvania and New York Central on the basis of $80,000,000, the latter stocks received some attention, but official denials from both Pennsylvania and Hudson officials robbed the story of its influence as a market factor. Pennsylvania was firm, at one time selling above 160, while New York Central moved within narrow limits. The gross earnings of the latter road for October decreased $116,000, which was accounted for by the statement that the comparison was with a month last year when passenger traffic to the Buffalo fair was abnormally heavy. Norfolk & Western rallied on the announcement that the directors were in session and were likely to take action on the dividend, but when the board adjourned without taking the expected action, the stock sold off. The decline which set in during the closing half hour was ascribed to the break in Sugar. This stock had been heavy all day, on the further cut in the price of refined sugar, but in the final dealings the weakness became more pronounced, the stock selling down to and closing at 115⅝. United States Steel, which had also rallied half a point, lost its gain, and the general list closed at or near the lowest. The sales reached only 432,000 shares.

◆ ◆ ◆

The chief cause cited for the final weakness in the market was an alleged dispatch from Washington stating that Secretary Shaw on his return from the west had decided to discontinue depositing additional government cash with the banks, because the treasury cash balance had [illegible] reduced to about $55,000,000. This [illegible]ouncement, however, was made two [illegible] ago, and was, therefore, not new. [illegible] money rates ranged between 4¾ and [illegible] cent, the last loan being at 6 per cent. Nevertheless there was an easier feeling in the money market, based upon reports of an easing of the tension at Chicago and other western points. Sterling exchange was firm and slightly higher, but there was also a further advance in the Paris rate, which tended to raise the gold-shipping point at New York. It is estimated that the shipments of currency during the week and the operations with the sub-treasury have resulted in a net loss to the banks of about $3,000,000, and if there has been a further expansion in loans, today's bank statement may show a decrease in reserve. Last week's official figures, however, proved how unreliable are the preliminary estimates.

In the local stock market yesterday the interest centered in American Trust, which was one of the most active stocks on the list. It opened lower at 145, and on sales aggregating a little more than 500 shares, broke to 140, a net loss for the day of 8 points, and from the high price of the week a loss of 11 points. The principal buying was by a broker who was supposed to represent inside interests. The latter were undoubtedly buyers around 125, and this accumulation became so apparent that it attracted speculative operations. It was this class of buying that rushed the price up to 151. American Trust had its initial movement shortly after its organization last year, advancing to 171 before the institution was open for business, the rise being in opposition to the desire of the management. The reaction was quite natural, but the revival of interest in the stock, the amount of the latter changing hands on a rising market, and appearances generally, warranted the conclusion that a "deal" was on which might include a closer affiliation with an older and more aggressive bank. The decline yesterday may mean that the deal is temporarily off, or it may be the result of manipulation to get the price down and buy cheap stock. The most striking thing in connection with the whole affair, however, is the success with which details have been withheld from the public. The remainder of this group was rather quiet. Commonwealth Trust sold at 240, a decline of 2 per cent, while Real Estate Trust rallied to 302 at the close, an advance of 1½. Diamond Savings bank did not change hands during the day, but the price advanced to 231 bid at the close, and there were no offers under 245.

The industrial list was quiet and changes in price were only fractional. Brewing sold off to 32⅝, while the preferred advanced to 48. The directors are scheduled to meet on Monday to take action on the dividend on the common stock, and there is some expectation that the rate will be increased. Crucible Steel common sold unchanged at 21, while the preferred remained extremely dull but slightly firmer. United States Steel common rallied to 39¾ and the preferred was a fraction higher at 87¼. Window Glass was unchanged at 52¾. Philadelphia Company preferred declined to 49¼ at the close, a loss of ¾, and the common was offered at 47¾. The only change in the coal stocks was a decline in River preferred to 40⅜ at the close. Westinghouse Electric second preferred declined to 105⅜, and a small lot of the first preferred sold at 105½, a decline of 4½ compared with the last previous sale. The tone of the market at the close was rather heavy, and the total transactions for the day were less than 4,000 shares. Brewing 6s sold at 113, a decline of ½ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The annual meeting of Colonial Trust will be held November 13.

Chesapeake & Ohio was quoted ex-dividend of 1 per cent yesterday.

J. J. Campbell has been elected a member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

At the close Carothers & Co. offered Union Trust at 2,300. There was no bid.

Bar gold to the amount of $520,000 was withdrawn from the Bank of England yesterday.

It is estimated that the car shortage in the Connellsville coke region averages 5,500 cars a week.

Hill & Co. were the largest buyers of American Trust, and Robinson & Orr were the largest sellers.

The decline in Brewing common seemed to imply a doubt as to an increase in the dividend rate on Monday.

At the close Diamond Savings bank stock advanced to 231 bid, 245 asked. South Side Trust was quoted at 102 bid, and German-American Savings and Trust at 174.

Monongahela National bank advanced to 300 bid. A special meeting of stockholders will be held December 19 to vote upon a proposition to increase the capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and sell the new stock at $300 a share.

The American Railways Company has increased its dividend to a 6 per cent basis. In the Philadelphia market the stock advanced to 56 and the bonds to 110½. For the September quarter the gross earnings were $353,183, an increase of $90,251.

The gross earnings of New York Central for October decreased $115,963. On the stock exchange yesterday the next dividend on the stock sold at 1⅜ per cent, and that was bid for the dividend on 1,000 shares. The last dividend declared was 1¼ per cent.

The most diverse views are entertained as to the extent of the short interest in the New York stock market. One authority places it at a half million shares. Another thought that the action of the market the past two days indicated that the short interest had been largely eliminated.

The western clique who a month ago were bullish on Norfolk at 80, on St. Paul at 195, on Baltimore & Ohio at 112, and so on through the list, are now bearish on these stocks and on the market generally. Associated with them are the so-called Waldorf crowd, who now nightly congregate in the corridors of the hotel and explain to their followers how easy it is to make money by selling "any old thing" and waiting, because, they say, the high tide of prosperity has finally been passed.

The northwest, which is usually a good customer in the Chicago money market at this time of the year, is not in evidence, which, bankers claim, shows they are in a pretty strong financial condition out there. Another factor in the market is the large amount of soft corn in Iowa and adjacent states which is being fed to cattle instead of marketed as heretofore. The farmers of those sections are buying live stock. For a number of years the paper made by cattle feeders was placed direct in Chicago city banks, while at the same time the country banks were taking city commercial paper. This year cattle paper is being borrowed on to a large extent at the country banks. For this reason there has been more rediscounting by the latter.

A big increase in shipments of anthracite over the Pennsylvania railroad for the past week was reported yesterday, the gain reaching 30,554 tons over the record of the preceding week, and the total of all bituminous and coke reached 78,618 tons in excess of last week. The statement in detail is subjoined:

Short tons.	Week ending Nov. 1, '02.	Year to Nov. 1, '02.	Year to Nov. 2, '01
Anthracite	42,451	1,600,478	3,894,615
Bituminous	582,372	22,019,680	16,541,513
Coke	186,661	8,183,187	6,822,280
Total	811,484	31,808,345	27,258,408

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Coffee futures opened steady with prices 5 points lower. The feature of the day was the heavy liquidating movement of long interests, brought on by the continued weakness of both the primary and European markets and by indications that the movement will keep up to its present fall level for some time to come. Europe was a seller here, and bull leaders also seemed to be selling moderately. A dull and easier spot market also exerted a bearish influence on the futures market, which closed quiet with prices net 5 to 10 points lower. Sales amounted to 37,000 bags, including November, 4.85c; December, 4.95c; January, 5.00@5.05c; March, 5.15@5.20c; April, 5.25c; May, 5.30c; July, 5.40@5.50c; September, 5.55@5.60c; October, 5.60c.

WALL STREET CLOSE SHOWS MANY LOSSES

Irregular Tone of Market Continues and Realization Brings Final Drop.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The irregular tone of the market continued today. The level of prices was above last night for the greater part of the day, but the advances were exceedingly spotty and not well maintained. In the late dealings as was the case yesterday the efforts of professional operators to realize profits on the early advance wiped out the advance and the market closed weak with net losses sprinkled all through the list. No important gains were left at the close.

The dealings were smaller than yesterday and were even more strictly professional. The operations could not be said to represent any conviction on the speculative outlook, but were simply the result of the efforts of professional traders to find a current of prices for the purpose of making a turn.

The stiffening of the call money rate at the last and the promise of a poor bank statement were contributory factors to the reaction. A decline in bank reserves for the week of upwards of $3,000,000 is indicated. Most of this was transferred to the interior by express and through the sub-treasury for purposes of the circulation. Payments on account of gold at the sub-treasury largely offset the heavy receipts for customs. The collections for this account during the week have reached about $3,000,000.

The announcement from Washington that no further deposits of government funds would be made with the national banks, therefore, had some effect on sentiment, although the deposit of bonds with the treasury department for this purpose has been very slight for some time.

Amongst the early points of strength the soft coalers were conspicuous. Today's meeting of Norfolk & Western directors was expected to advance the dividend rate and when they adjourned without action prices of the group ran off.

The bond market was steady on a small volume of business. Total sales, par value, $1,500,000. United States 2s declined ¼ per cent on the last call.

STEEL CASE APPEALED.

Notice Given Immediately After Judge Emery Signs Formal Decree of Injunction.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7.—A formal decree granting the preliminary injunction against the United States Steel Corporation's $200,000,000 bond conversion plan, which Vice Chancellor Emery allowed last week in the suit of J. Aspinwall Hodge and others, was signed by the vice chancellor today.

Immediately upon the execution of the decree Richard V. Lindabury, for the steel corporation, served notice of appeal upon Robert H. McCarter, representing the complainants.

By agreement of counsel the matter will be argued at the term which opens November 18.

Cubans Presented to Pope.

ROME, Nov. 7.—The pope today received Archbishop Chapelle in private audience and conversed with him animatedly for half an hour, showing evidence of keen interest in the affairs of the diocese of New Orleans and in matters connected with Cuba and Porto Rico. Subsequently Archbishop Chapelle presented to the pontiff 15 young Cubans who are studying here for the priesthood.

THE STOCK BUSINESS NOT SO DEPRESSED

But Conditions Are Unchanged and the Trading Is Still Professional.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says: A somewhat more cheerful sentiment prevailed in the stock market in the early trading of yesterday which resulted in a better opening and some improvement in prices. It was made apparent very early in the day, however, that there was no real change in the character of the trading, and that the dealing was entirely professional.

Traders were induced to cover some of their short contracts, and the advance was due almost entirely to that fact. The market grew dull later on and in the later dealings selling for both accounts was resumed. In the course of this latter movement much of the early improvement was wiped out, and the closing was unsettled, reflecting irregular changes. Only a few of the changes were regarded as having special significance.

Aside from the advance in sterling exchange the news developments of the day were meager and not of a character to stimulate the market. The chief pool operations were those undertaken in Missouri Pacific and Manhattan elevated. They were not particularly successful. Brokers held the opinion that any movement in the Gould stocks is simply an operation "to milk the traders." Again and again the brokerage firm identified in the popular reports with these stocks has started movements, worked the prices upon "in and out" operations and drawn the traders in.

"But once in," as one trader said yesterday, "they have sandbagged us with the stock." The only trouble with the traders appears to be that they have been unable to "sandbag" some other victim in turn. As Mr. Devery says: "They were caught with the goods on 'em." In consequence they do not like the Gould stocks.

Norfolk & Western was advanced early upon a report sent out by Philadelphia interests that at a meeting of the directors during the day the increase in the dividend to 3 per cent would be announced. The directors met, but adjourned without announcing any action on the dividend, and the stock lost all its early improvement and more besides. It was said that there was extensive realizing by insiders on the advance.

Clarence H. Mackay was yesterday elected a member of the board of directors of the American Exchange National bank.

FOURNIER NOT SATISFIED.

His Last Record Made With Everything Against Him.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(Copright Cable.)—Henri Fournier is far from being satisfied with his successful automobile record-breaking accomplishments on the official route at Dourdan, and he intends, as soon as the road is completely dry, to attack his own figures.

"I had everything against me," he said today. "Owing to the slippery state of the road, I was at the last moment obliged to change my gear."

Thousands Witness Execution.

VAN BUREN, ARK., Nov. 7.—Hall Mahone, colored, was executed here today for assaulting Mrs. Rebecca McLoud on September 5. The execution was witnessed by about 5,000 people, the last legislature having passed a law requiring public execution for the offense of assault.

KANAWHA COAL LOADED.

Capt. Burnsides Says 150 Barges Are Waiting Shipment to Cincinnati.

Capt. E. A. Burnsides of Point Pleasant is in Pittsburgh on business. In discussing the coal situation in the Kanawha valley, he stated that many of the striking miners are returning to work and that about 150 barges of coal are loaded and waiting shipment to the Cincinnati market.

"This is considered a large amount of coal in the Kanawha valley," said the captain, "but it would not be a large amount at Pittsburgh." The captain then went on to say that the Big Sandy valley is being extensively developed and that within the next ten years the coal lands along that stream and those adjacent to the railroads would be worth much money. He said that there is a very good grade of coal in that section. Capt. Burnsides is master of the towboat E. A. Andrews and is also master of transportation for the Kanawha & Ohio River Transportation Company. He said there is a good market for coal at Cincinnati and Louisville.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at Davis island dam indicated a depth of 2.8 feet and falling.

The new towboat John F. Klein will be completed in about 10 days.

D. J. Dougherty returned from Cleveland last night, where he went to inspect steel plates to be used in lake vessels.

It is expected that work on the new dam at Herrs island, on the Allegheny river, will be finished in about two weeks.

Capt. Samuel S. Brown, who was in the south looking after some of his business interests, has returned to Pittsburgh.

Capt. James A. Henderson believed that the boats of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line will be running within the next two weeks.

The new towboat Carbon had steam up yesterday and it is said the boat works satisfactorily. The steamer is owned by the river coal combination.

The members of Harbor No. 25 Masters and Pilots will hold a meeting this morning and a number of new members will be received into the association.

Capt. John F. Dravo addressed a meeting of the Men's club at Rochester Thursday night on the question of river improvements, and was warmly greeted.

Steward August Hunt, who was on the Helen M. Gould, has been succeeded by Julius Owens, who for many years ran on the boats of the White Collar line.

John Shields, an ex-mate, and late of the crew of the Morning Star, died at the United States Marine hospital at Louisville of typhoid fever. He was 55 years old.

The Ayer-Lord Tie Company has ordered three new barges for use at Paducah. Three have already arrived, and when all arrive the company will have 85 in use.

The towboat Dick Fulton, which was brought out of the pools yesterday, has been dismantled of all her machinery. The coal combination will use the hull of the boat for storing lines and other river rigging.

Capt. Rush Burnsides has returned to Pittsburgh from Point Pleasant. Capt. Burnsides says that the people of the middle Ohio valley are making great preparations for the annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, to be held at Parkersburg next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Major E. H. Ruffner, of the United States corps of engineers, sent out the following notice yesterday: "The contractors for the renewal of dam No. 1, in the Kentucky river, are reported to have closed the gap in the dam on November 1. There is every reason to believe that navigation will be resumed by November 10.

Capt. Peter Sprague will not go to New Orleans for several weeks. He has contracted for two sets of hog chains, four in number, and as soon as they are made he will take them south and place them on the Sprague. The captain says that the stories sent out from New Orleans about the condition of the boat are exaggerated.

The little steamer Harbor No. 25 will leave below the lock at the Davis Island dam for Wheeling next Monday morning at 9 o'clock with a party of Pittsburgh pilots aboard, who go south on a trip of observation of the stream. The river is now almost as low as it has been at any time this season and the pilots hope to investigate all the bars in the river and learn the danger spots for big coal fleets. The pilots who stay at home will be acquainted with the conditions by those who go on the trip.

Will Deadlock Legislature.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 7.—At a caucus today of a number of Democratic members of the new legislature it was decided that, if the Republicans take revolutionary tactics to unseat Teller men in the house, the senate, which is strongly Democratic, will not meet in joint session with the house, and will deadlock the legislature so that it will be impossible to elect a successor to Teller.

Roosevelt Congratulates White.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Ambassador White opened today the letter which President Roosevelt sent him several weeks ago marked: "To be opened on your seventieth birthday." Mr. Roosevelt said Mr. White had served his country as few citizens had had the opportunity to do, and thanked him personally and in the name of the people for his services.

PENNSY IS ABOUT TO BUY BIG PROPERTY FOR $350,000

Site Purchased for Cemetery at New Kensington—Sharon Fair Grounds Reported Sold—Many New Buildings.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has entered the realty market again by filing a bond for $50,000 against the property of L. S. McKallip & Co. in Pike street. The property extends along the north side of Pike street, from Twelfth to Thirteenth streets, a distance of 300 feet and runs back 100 feet to the property of the Allegheny County Light Company. It was formerly owned by the Hoeveler Storage Company, and when that plant burned was bought by Mr. McKallip. The buildings on the lot consist of a three-story brick warehouse, stables and three tenement houses. The property is valued at $350,000, and although it was stated last night that no deal had been consummated for its purchase, it is understood that it will be disposed of in a few days for about this amount. The McKallip company, who are dealers in builders' supplies and anthracite coal, have already arranged to move to a site in Smallman street, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets. The Pennsylvania is securing the property for additional yards, to be used by the Allegheny Valley railroad, whose tracks run by it.

New Cemetery Up the Allegheny.

A new cemetery is soon to be opened which was sold yesterday through the Real Estate Trust Company for $6,500. The purchasers were H. C. Walley of New Kensington, Attorney John M. Kennedy of Pittsburgh and others, who secured the plot from George W. Eberhart, testamentary trustee under the will of William E. Eberhart. The property includes 10 acres situated in the Freeport road adjoining New Kensington. It lies on a hilltop, is nearly level and commands a fine view of the Allegheny river. The new burial ground will be called "East Lawn," and will be owned and managed by a company. At present there is no cemetery at New Kensington, and the new project will supply a great need.

Trafford City is already getting in line for a big building season next year. In addition to the new $50,000 hotel, announced last week, eight business blocks are to be built at the southwest corner of Third and Cavitt streets at a cost of $40,000. They will belong to Dr. John R. Morrow, who has commissioned Architects E. M. Butz & Co. Ltd., to prepare plans.

Sharon Farm Brings $100,000.

The sale is reported of the George Stambaugh farm, on which are located the Sharon fair grounds, to parties from Westmoreland county and Pittsburgh for $100,000. The deal was negotiated by Miller & Mason of South Sharon. For the present the farm will be held in trust by H. B. Hargrave of Latrobe and J. W. Miller of South Sharon. This is the largest real estate deal near Sharon for many months, and disposes of one of the best known farm properties in Western Pennsylvania. What disposition will be made of the land was not learned.

The property at No. 5703 Fifth avenue has been sold by Harger & Beck, through Burns & Reilly, for $16,000. The lot measures 25.5x180 feet, is on the north side of the avenue and is improved with a store and dwelling house. The buyer is P. B. Boylan, who takes the property for an investment.

A tract of vacant frontage, including 98 lots, most of which face in Flowers avenue, Twenty-third ward, has been sold by George H. Lepper to Alexandra M. McCrickart for $10,000.

Allegheny Ladies Buy Home.

The Ladies Relief society of Allegheny has bought a lot 23x80 feet on the east side of Arch street, near South Diamond street, Allegheny, for $9,000. The former owner was Hetie R. Riddle. The lot is improved with a two-story brick house, which will be used as a home for the society.

J. R. Finley, who has just closed the purchase of a plot 200x93 feet in Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, has arranged to improve it with seven brick houses, to cost $5,000 each.

The deed was registered yesterday in the sale of the John W. Herron property on the north side of First avenue, near Wood street, to Thomas Wightman for $36,000.

A second addition to the West Park plan of lots at McKees Rocks is to be marketed today in a special sale managed by Haas & Lauinger. The first addition to the plan is practically out and over 500 houses have been started on the plan within the last 18 months.

Brighter Outlook for Building.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company yesterday took out a permit for its new power house on Brunots island, to cost $100,000. In Pittsburgh a permit was granted to Henry W. Oliver for the two-story building which he will build at the southeast corner of Wood street and Virgin alley for the Third National bank.

The building will cost $50,000. The Merchants Savings and Trust Company was granted a permit for its building at Nos. 1414-1416 Fifth avenue, to cost $30,000. Other permits were granted in Pittsburgh to the Roselia Foundling asylum for a three story brick extension to the home in Gum street, $45,000; John Alvino, a brick store and house in Penn avenue, $3,000, and Thomas E. Donohue, a brick dwelling in Dinwiddie street, $3,000. Allegheny permits were also granted to George P. Miller for a two-story brick house in Island avenue, Sixth ward, $5,600, and Louis Huchel, a two-story house in Shady avenue, Eleventh ward, $1,000.

New East End Church.

Ground has been broken for the First Unitarian church at Ellsworth and Morewood avenues. The church will cost $35,000 and is expected to be completed within a year.

Architect Elmer E. Miller has plans for a three-story store building in Hazelwood.

Plans are being prepared by Architect M. Nirdinger for two brick and shingle residences to be built in Bellevue at a cost of $3,500 each. One will belong to J. S. Anderson and will be in Thomas avenue, and the other, in Bellevue terrace, will belong to Mr. Nirdinger.

Locust street: E. C. Rowley sold for Henry R. Rea, president of the Steel Car Forge Company, to Jacob Finebery No. 1014 Locust street, a 10-room brick house, lot 21x118 feet, for $5,000.

FAILURE OF FRENCH SARDINE FISHERIES

It Is Boosting Prices—Differential Charges for Flour in Paper Sacks.

Receipts in the hay and grain market were less heavy yesterday and quotations were all steady. Some No. 2 timothy hay, which was not of satisfactory grading, offered at figures below the market, but did not find takers. For all stock which was really up to grade quoted prices were obtained, with no disposition shown to any concessions. New yellow corn was very stiff, while old remained unchanged. Old shelled corn was very stiff, buyers showing anxiety while sellers were very firm, and named their own prices. Oats are steady and top quotations are realized without trouble, railroad blockades delaying transportation to such an extent that stocks here are limited and prices are much higher in proportion than those ruling in the west. Millfeed is firm, with arrivals light. No. 2 middlings are firmly held at $19, while bran is ranging from $17 50 to $18, and is strong at those figures. Rye is steady and has not changed in price for several weeks.

Differential Flour Prices.

A feature in the grocery situation recently introduced is a differential charge on flour in paper, which makes eighths 5 cents a barrel higher than quarters. Heretofore there has been no difference in the price of quarters and eighths, but millers have seen fit to adopt the new method, and jobbers are now charging the extra 5 cents. Of course quotations as listed, where not otherwise stated, are for quarters. New crop molasses is on the market and is higher than old. Molasses is not in great quantity this season, and prices are ruling firm and high. The demand so far is good, even at the advanced figures.

Canned corn continues to rule high, and a wide range of quotations is necessary to cover ideas of all jobbers, fancy now offering all the way from $1 10 to $1 25, with standard brands at 90c to $1 00. Tomatoes are unchanged and featureless. Sardines are attracting attention from the fact that the French catch was almost a total failure, and prices are ranging very much higher than those formerly ruling. There is a good supply of domestic, however, considerable stocks having been carried over, while the new catch was fair.

Increasing Apple Demand.

There is an increasing demand for apples, consumers now taking a hand and buying quite freely, and prices, while not actually higher, are firmer. Some fancy fruit is bringing $3 per barrel, while large quantities of Baldwins shipped here in bulk, are barreled and sold for $2 25@2 50. Some of these apples are in excellent condition, present a fine appearance and find a ready market. Florida egg plant is not arriving as freely as it did earlier in the week, and is commanding higher figures. String beans are scarcer and the demand is such as to cause an advance in quotations, with wax and green now on the same level.

Tropical fruits are steady, with prices holding firm, and with few changes. Pineapples are now in the market and are bringing from 10@15c each. Grape fruit commands $6.00 to $8 00 per box, and is selling freely.

Chickens close the week as they opened it, with the market steady but selling a little slow. Receipts are not large, however, and there is no difficulty experienced in maintaining prices. Other poultry and game unchanged.

Butter is steady, cheese is steady and eggs are very firm. Quotations for strictly fresh select eggs continue to cling to the quarter-dollar line, and are readily salable at that figure.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 12 cars hay, 7 cars oats, 1 car rye, 1 car hay and straw, 1 car oats and corn, 2 cars corn, 1 car feed; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 1 car hay, 1 car oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 5 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 2 cars hay, 1 car corn; total receipts, 37 cars.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—The Commercial Bulletin will say in tomorrow's report on the wool trade of the United States: The market is very active. Buyers, large and small, have bought heavily of about everything for the use of the mills. There has been some speculation also on the part of local dealers. High prices have been paid in the west by Boston buyers. Values here are stiffening all along the line and advances of half a cent to a cent have been obtained. South American markets continue firm, but at Melbourne prices have declined 5 per cent from the top, making the net advance since the season opened about 15 per cent. The receipts of wool in Boston since January 1, 1902, have been 285,284,305 pounds, against 233,617,987 pounds for the same period in 1901. The Boston shipments to date are 243,268,484 pounds, against shipments of 220,330,686 pounds for the same period in 1901. The stock on hand in Boston January 1, 1902, was 77,340,463 pounds; the total stock today is 119,360,334 pounds. The stock on hand November 3, 1901, was 89,215,917 pounds.

BUSINESS SHOWS GOOD PROGRESS

Unusually Heavy Distribution of Fall Goods Reported, Despite Mild Season.

CUT IN PRICE OF TIN

Change Expected to Help Export Business—Many Furnaces Are Banked for Want of Coke—Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Trade and industry are making steady progress, reports from all sections of the country containing evidences of wholesome development. An unusually large fall distribution occurred, and current transactions in heavier goods are liberal, considering the mildness of the season. Complaints of slow freight movement are still heard, testifying to the enormous volume of business handled by the railways, which report earnings for October 4.8 per cent larger than last year and 14.2 per cent above 1900. Prices of commodities proportioned to consumption, as shown by Dun's index number, declined about 1 per cent during October. The decrease occurred in meats and fuel, mainly the latter.

The only development of note in the iron and steel market has been the 10 per cent reduction in price of tin plates to take effect December 1. While some change was anticipated, the trade was not prepared for so large a cut. If the recent lowering of price lists in certain sections of the market should stimulate foreign trade, there will be occasion for gratification, as some exceptional export movement is needed to offset the heavy imports of pig iron and billets. Many furnaces have been compelled to bank because of the poor receipts of coke, and there is little evidence of improvement in the railway situation, motive power being utterly inadequate.

Contracts run far into the future in structural material for bridges and buildings, while plates are sought by car works and ship yards. High premiums are still paid for prompt delivery, but most shipments are on old contracts placed at regular list prices.

Recent enlargement of facilities has greatly increased production in many lines, which explains the slightly easier tone of the market as a whole, but there is no evidence of diminished demand nor unsound conditions.

Taking of inventories interrupts work at New England shoe shops and will probably occupy much of this month, so that cutting will not begin on the large contracts already placed for delivery during the first quarter of next year.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Thursday, November 6, number 148, as against 194 last week, 191 in this week last year, 161 in 1900, 182 in 1899 and 187 in 1898.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

The estimated output of the Joplin district for the 10 months ended October 31 amounts to 454,000,000 pounds of zinc and 54,000,000 pounds of lead, which have sold for a total value of about $8,100,000. The amount exceeds by $1,500,000 the cash value of the production for the corresponding period of last year, and indicates quite clearly that the value of this year's output from the district will just about reach the $9,500,000 mark. Zinc ore remains strong and steady at a $35.00 basis, although some lots have been purchased at a price indicating a $36 00 basis, while some lower grade ores have sold at prices equivalent to a $34 00 basis. The market for zinc ore remains strong and unchanged at $49 50 per ton.

The Butte and Boston company has stopped work on its properties on the east side. The results have been unsatisfactory. Other mines in the same district have also been closed, among them the Sinbad and Pacific. About $200,000 was spent on the Sinbad in an effort to find the veins that are supposed to strike in that direction from the Minnie Healy and other big mines.

Manager Levey of the Sampson reports the second-class ore in that Bingham property moving steadily to the Dewey mill in Bingham canyon, the concentrates affording an average of $25 00 per ton and supplying the means with which to continue developments.

The mill of the American Eagle on Dry Gulch, three miles south of Helena, is running on $60 gold ore.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Tin underwent a severe break in the London market today, declining £1 5s, to £117 for spot and £115 15s for futures. Locally tin was dull and weak, but the decline was not in keeping with the development abroad, prices showing but little change. Spot closed at $26 00@26 25. Copper, without so marked a loss, shared in the tin weakness in London, losing 1s 3d, with spot quoted at £51 17s 6d, and futures at £52 3s 9d. The New York market also was lower, standard closing at $11 00; Lake at $11 60@11 80; electrolytic at $11 55@11 65, and casting at $11 35@11 65. In contrast with the weakness in other metals, lead in London was 1s 3d higher, spot there closing at £10 13s 9d. The New York market continued dull at $4 12½. Spelter was $5 40 here and £19 7s 6d in London. The English iron markets were lower, Glasgow closing at 57s 1d and Middlesboro at 50s 6d. Locally iron was quiet. Warrants continued nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, is quoted at $25 00@25 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, at $22 00@23 00.

ALL GRAINS HIGHER IN CHICAGO MARKET

Evidence of Better Movement Abroad Causes Firm Undertone Throughout Day.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—More activity was manifested in wheat on the board of trade today than for some time past, and higher prices ruled, December closing ⅜@½c higher. December corn closed ⅛@½c higher and oats ¼@⅜c higher. January provisions closed from 5c to 7½c lower.

Evidence of a better movement abroad was the leading feature in wheat and caused a firm undertone throughout the day. There was considerable selling early by locals, due to good weather and large receipts in the northwest, and prices had a slight setback. Commission houses were good buyers and it was rumored that a prominent bull was buying May, both of which tended to strengthen the market. A good cash demand and predictions of unfavorable weather for the movement were bull factors. Primary receipts were 1,595,000 bushels, against 1,036,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 800 cars, which, with local receipts of 283 cars, 17 of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 1,083 cars, against 1,013 cars last week and 823 cars a year ago.

Predictions of more unfavorable weather throughout the corn belt, together with a good export demand were the sustaining features in corn and a firm undertone was manifested. Local receipts were 274 cars, with 13 cars of contract grade.

Oats ruled dull, but prices were higher. Covering by shorts was the feature. The close was firm. Local receipts were 207 cars.

Provisions were affected by lower prices for hogs and heavy receipts. A little strength developed early in the day on covering by shorts, but with the demand from that source satisfied, the market weakened.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 150 cars; corn, 130 cars; oats, 100 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

The leading futures as corrected by John D. Armstrong & Co., 203 Sixth street, members of Chicago board of trade:

IN THE OIL FIELDS

The once famous gusher development on Big Knutting run, Ritchie county, W. Va., is making rapid strides toward winding up its somewhat sensational career. Each day sees the list of 100-barrel producers growing less. A few weeks ago there were 16 or more wells in the list and they had a total production of 3,000 barrels a day. Now there are but five and their aggregate production is 680 barrels, divided as follows: Mallory Bros. & Co.'s Nos. 1 and 2, John Freeland, 150 and 180 barrels respectively; Three Joes Oil Company's No. 5, Elroy Wagner, 120 barrels; Drillers' Oil Company's No. 1, G. W. Ryan, 100 barrels, and Hall, Bruce & Zahnizer's No. 4, Weekly heirs, 130 barrels. Shooting no longer has a stimulating effect. Owing to the nature of the Keener sand, shooting only hastened the end.

On Wolf Pen run about the same conditions prevail. In this district but three wells can now be classed in the 100-barrel-a-day list. They are the Cleveland & Parkersburg Oil Company's No. 5, Thomas B. Dye, 200 barrels; Smith, Wilson & Co.'s No. 3, Dora Arnett, 100 barrels, and the Association Producers' No. 5, William Clark, 100 barrels.

In the last named development there is still a show to extend the producing area. On Big Knot run there is no such possibility.

In the Cairo district the Hudson Oil Company has completed its Nos. 12 and 13 on the Harkness tract and has a duster and a five-barrel pumper. In the same district the Consolidated Oil Company has completed No. 6 on the T. M. Jackson farm and has a duster in the Salt sand.

In the Folsom district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed No. 7 on the Genine Robinson tract and the well is producing 290 barrels a day. The same company has drilled in No. 1 on the Mary Starkey farm and the well produced 45 barrels the first seven hours. No. 1 on the A. E. Snodgrass farm has been completed and is good for 100 barrels a day. On Buffalo run the Kanawha Oil Company has shot its No. 99 on the John Mills tract and increased its production to 175 barrels a day.

In the Fairview district, Marvin county, the South Penn has completed its No. 6 on the David Jones farm and has a show for a 20-barrel producer in the Big Injun sand.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the Carter Oil Company has completed its No. 9 on the George E. Harbert farm and has a 30-barrel producer. The South Penn Oil Company has also completed its No. 1 on the Murray farm and has a 30-barrel producer. In the Cameron end of the Marshall county development the South Penn Company has drilled No. 7 on the V. P. Gorby farm through the Gordon and the well produced 45 barrels the first 24 hours.

In the Big Lime district, on Clear Fork, Monroe county, Ohio, the Southern Oil Company has drilled in its No. 5 on the Zwick Bros. farm and has a natural producer good for 40 barrels a day. In the same district Jennings Bros. & Co. have drilled in No. 6 on the H. H. Fleissman farm and have a natural producer, showing for 40 barrels a day.

Leidecker & Co. have completed their test on the Frank McCullom farm in the Berea grit and have a show for a 10-barrel pumper. The American Oil Development Company has drilled No. 4 on the James Parks farm through the same formation and has a duster.

In the Jackson Ridge district the Pure Oil Company has an eight-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. The same company has drilled No. 4 on the Ella T. Norris farm into the Keener and has a show for a 12-barrel pumper.

On Sheets run, near Highland station, Washington county, Stewart Newman & Co. have completed their No. 2 on the Levi Soles farm and the well is producing 150 barrels a day.

In the Brush creek district, Allegheny county, W. A. Gearing & Co. have completed a test and put it to pumping on the Ott farm and it produced 40 barrels the first 24 hours from the 100-foot and was increasing its production at last accounts.

BROTHER OF MURDERED MAN SAW DEFENDANT USE KNIFE

Boy Testifies That Andrew Hutco Struck Blow That Killed Peter Millholla. Seven Poles Tried for Crime.

Seven Poles were arraigned yesterday before Judges Collier and Stowe, charged with the murder of Peter Millholla, on the night of September 28, at a christening at the home of John Burdi, in Windom street, South Side. The men accused were John Vansucheko, Joseph and Stephen Bateck, John Bardsa, Samuel Morgan, John Burdi and Andrew Hutco. After the commonwealth had closed Judge Stowe instructed the jury to acquit Bardsa and Morgan, as there was no evidence against them. The jury did so without leaving its seat.

Assistant District Attorney Grimes is conducting the prosecution and Attorneys [illegible]ere Carney, Edward Kearns, J. M. Friedman and F. R. Stoner represent the defendants.

Milholla was stabbed and bled to death. The principal witness for the prosecution was a young brother of the dead man. The boy said a fight was in progress and his brother had the odds against him. Several of the men were crowded about him when he saw Hutco get a pointed bread knife from a drawer and run to the group. The men near his brother, he said, appeared to raise their arms up, as if to aid Hutco, as he rushed between them and struck Milhollo with the knife. A woman corroborated the boy by testifying she had seen Hutco go to the drawer for the knife.

The prisoners were placed on the stand and told various stories of the affair. Burdi testified that when the fight started between John Bateck and John Vansuchiko, he shoved the participants out of the house, and that no cutting was done inside.

His wife testified that she saw Hutco standing with the big knife in his hand after the fight was over. Hutco was placed on the stand just before court adjourned.

JUDGMENT IS ILLEGAL.

Judge Hawkins Refuses to Allow Claim in a Minor's Estate. Wills Filed.

Judge Hawkins, in orphans' court, handed down an opinion in the matter of the estate of Fred Kroch, upon the question whether a judgment for damages by default, against a minor without guardian, is entitled to payment out of a minor's estate.

John P. Reed sued the decedent for damages.

The court says the contemplation of the law is that a minor is unfit to take care of his own interests, and must have some competent person to act for him to prevent fraud. The claim rested on a record of judgment that was plainly illegal and must be rejected.

The following decrees in distribution were made: Estates of Thomas Campbell, $55,870 19; Hartley Howard, $101,780 62.

The account of the executors of the estate of William H. McCleary charge themselves with $88,474 95, and leave a balance of $26,256 51.

A caveat was filed by Patrick A. Nee against any paper purporting to be the last will of his wife, Sadie Nee.

The will of Mrs. Julia Martin of McKeesport was filed for probate. After bequeathing a number of friends $100 each, the residue of the estate goes to the decedent's four sisters. Attorney Joseph F. Mayhugh represents the estate.

By the will of Hugh White of Pittsburgh an $8,000 estate goes to his widow.

CANNOT GET BILLETS.

Petition of New Kensington Bank Against Hussey Steel Co. Dismissed—Bankruptcy Matters.

In the United States district court Judge Joseph Buffington handed down an opinion in the case of the First National bank of New Kensington against the Hussey Steel Company. The suit was to recover some billets of steel from the Hussey company estate, on which the bank had loaned money. The court dismissed the petition and placed the costs on the estate.

In the bankruptcy case of Charles M. Reed, an injunction was granted restraining S. A. Burton, sheriff of Erie county, and the trustees of the alleged bankrupt's estate, from proceeding with the sale of certain property. The property must not be sold for less than $6,000.

Petitions in bankruptcy were filed against Daniel Lincoln, a Westmoreland county grocer, giving his debts as $2,975 and assets as $4,456, and Henry Bert, a grocer of Westmoreland county, with liabilities amounting to $5,300 and $2,469 50 assets.

The following were discharged from bankruptcy: James Sherran of Pittsburgh, Josiah D. Stauffer, Beaver Falls and Sylvester L. Gandelot of Crawford county.

DENIES JURISDICTION.

William S. Byers Said He Received Bonds and Cash from William R. Byers, Their Owner.

An answer was filed yesterday in the equity suit of Jacob Byers of Greensburg against his nephew, William S. Byers, to obtain possession of $175,000 worth of bonds and about $40,000 said to have been entrusted to the defendant for safekeeping. The Fidelity Title & Trust Company, in whose vault the property is said to be, is also named as defendant.

The answer is not unlike the demurrer filed some months ago, in which jurisdiction is denied. The defendant acknowledges the bonds and money came into his possession, but denies the plaintiff placed the same with him in trust. He denies that he refused to account to the plaintiff. He declares it is true that he has in his possession bonds and money as stated, and also that the same were never in Allegheny county, but that he received them from William R. Byers of East Huntington township, Westmoreland county, subject to his disposition and disposal. He also alleges William R. Byers was their lawful owner.

MRS. SOFFEL'S ANSWER.

Denies Improper Relations With Other Men and Says Husband Condoned Alleged Offenses.

Attorney S. S. Robertson yesterday filed the answer of Mrs. Soffel in the divorce suit of her husband, Peter K. Soffel. Mr. Robertson, with a notary, visited the penitentiary and obtained the wife's signature.

Mrs. Soffel expressly denies improper relations with Carl Johnston, Harry Jones, Julius Wild, Mike Roach and William Muelstein, or other men whose names are unknown, but avers that at all times she has been a virtuous woman. She denies similar relations with Edward Biddle at any time.

She says that after the time when her husband accused her of associations with Edward Biddle, and after the time he claimed to know the fact, he continued the relation of a husband.

Arguments in Supreme Court.

The following cases were argued in the supreme court yesterday: Oscar E. Kruger against Frank F. Nicola, appellant, an action growing out of the exchange of property; Rankin Regular Baptist church against Isaac R. Edwards, appellant; case stated to determine title to property; appeal of the Union Trust Company from a decree in the estate of Christopher L. Magee, an action growing out of the payment of taxes on the estate; J. O. Fitzsimmons and others, applicants, against David G. Lindsay and others, an action to obtain a specific performance of a contract; borough of North Braddock, appellant, against J. B. Corey, an appeal from an award of viewers; John Keeling, appellant, and others, against the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company, an action growing out of the right-of-way over property; John Huckenstein against the New York Life Insurance Company, appellant, an action growing out of an alleged false arrest; the Redemptorists Fathers against James B. Lawler, appellant, an action to determine title to property.

WORKED IN ALLEGHENY.

Swindler Tried to Collect Money for Allegheny Heating Company.

Residents of Allegheny have been victimized for several days by a slick crook, representing himself as an employe of the Allegheny Heating Company. Mrs. Frederick Hohman, who lives at the corner of Royal and Geyer streets, reported at the office of the Allegheny Heating Company yesterday that a man had called at her house and had endeavored to collect $25, asserting that he was representing the gas company.

The latter is laying a new main along Royal street. The bogus employe, it was learned by the Allegheny police, had called at all the houses on the street, and had tried to collect money by telling the residents that no connection could be made with the main until each had paid the company $25. He was equipped with a supply of bills that are perfect duplicates of the Allegheny Heating Company's stationary. Supt. Muth of the police department was notified and assigned Detective Morris Einstein to work on the case.

Cheval Glass

A Cheval Glass makes a delightful wedding gift, because of its splendid appearance, as well as its practical utility. And a fair proportion of the Cheval Glasses purchased nowadays are intended for such gifts. So it is not remarkable that this store should show so fine a selection of these superb Glasses, nor is it to be wondered at that so many persons come here for such things.

The Cheval Glass illustrated above is a gem of its kind; the Mirror is perfect and the mahogany frame is ornamented in the most refined manner—30 by 56 inches.

It is in the selection of such articles that this establishment stands first. The styles seen here have that distinction which appertains to the best. And the fact that price is always an inducement here explains why the majority of particular persons prefer to come to

GAS MAKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Consolidated Company Has Its First Labor Difficulty in Twenty-Seven Years.

NO QUESTION OF WAGES

Discharge of Two Men Who Were Slow in Joining the Union Demanded and Not Acceded To.

Because the company declined to discharge two men who had refused to join a labor union, about 100 gasmakers and helpers at the Consolidated Gas Company's plant, Second avenue, struck yesterday. It is the first strike the Consolidated company has had in 27 years. General Manager Robert Young announces that there will be no scarcity of gas.

The strikers were employed at heating, charging and drawing retort. They formed a union last spring, it being known as local No. 9802 of the Gas Workers' union, affiliated with the Federation of Labor. Two of the men employed about the plant—Thomas Finn and his helper—declined to join. They did not yield to the entreaties of the leaders until Wednesday last. Then they announced their willingness to go into the union, but the leaders refused to accept them on the plea that it was too late. General Manager Young was called to the plant yesterday. Reporting his meeting with the men, he said:

"This is not a strike for wages. Last spring we increased the wages of the gas makers from $2 20 to $2 50 and their helpers from $2 to $2 25 a day. Finn and his helper, after refusing to join the union, offered to do so, but the union would not accept them. I was notified yesterday that unless I discharged them the men would strike today at 10 o'clock. What could I do? What could any fair-minded man do? I told the men that the company could not exercise any authority over what Finn and his helper or any employe should do in a matter of this kind. If they didn't want to join the union, that was their business—I couldn't compel them.

"Some of the men, realizing the absurdity of the thing, did not want to strike. I am sorry for them, as they will lose their positions. There are scores of gas plants in the town surrounding Pittsburgh, and if our men do not come back we will get new men from those towns. There is little skill required in the work."

$4.50. White and black Bedford Cord. This will wash like cotton. Box pleated front finished with clusters of 10 tucks to form yoke; back of four groups of tucks; sleeves have two groups of tucks; bishop collar.

$4. Brilliantine Waist, tucked both front and back and trimmed with black buttons. The sleeves are bishop effect. Such colors as navy, red, white and black. This is what we consider a handsome waist.

Poinsettia Pillow Tops.—in other words, Pillow Tops for outlining or for long or short stitch embroidery, the design being the lovely poinsettia flower. That is the name many of us give it, but you may know it by the familiar name of Christmas Flower. Over in England they call it the Lobster Flower. In addition this Pillow Top has a brier stitched Ruffle all ready to put on. Your work will consist in bringing out the beautiful color of the flower, and you can have the top and back for the Pillow with the Ruffle added, all for 50c.

The Tots' Fairyland.—You know what we mean. Let them come today and roam through the toy aisles. And the big boys can find much to interest them among the Mechanical Toys. Best line we ever brought from abroad. Big girls don't mind looking at handsome dolls. Come along with your little sisters.

Half-Priced Millinery.—It is not an every-day occasion the buying of Phipps & Atchison New York Hats for nearly half prices, and it doesn't occur very often that Hats that have been overly handled are thrown out so early for half prices. But we can't have Hats wear their welcome out, so we give prices a little thump in your interest.

Trimmed Hats, a little mussed, $1, were $2.50.
Trimmed Hats, a little mussed, $2, were $3.
Trimmed Hats, a little mussed, $2.50, were $5.
Trimmed Hats, a little mussed, $3.50, were $7.50.

The Phipps & Achison New York Hats, new Golf Hats, new Shopping and Promenade Hats, mostly sample lines, $3.50, were $5; $5, were $7.50; $7.50, were $10.

Silk Waists, $3.90.—These are black, and the material is peau de cygne. Front composed of box pleats and small tucks; back and sleeves tucked. These Waists are worth all of $6.50.

For $4 we have black peau de soie Waists, made with small tucks to form a yoke, stitched pleats down front and row of small buttons; back with small pleats and tucks; plain sleeves finished with stitched cuffs; stylish stock.

Some beautiful novelties in plaid Silk Waists at $12.

Overcoats.—Simply a notice that our entire line of heavy weights is now complete—$10 for a reliable all-wool Coat up through a dozen price grades to the luxurious Montagnac at $60.

But we must speak a word for our $15 special Overcoat for men. It is the best tailored Coat we ever saw for the money, and we are free to say it is the equal of many $20 Coats sold about town.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

COPYRIGHT 1902 BY W. C. BOTH.

Poor Clothing Is Dear at Any Price.

To buy poor Clothing is extravagance, not economy. No matter how little you pay for shoddy, you pay too much. But that does not mean that it is necessary to pay high prices for good qualities. Much depends on the place where you do your buying. The store doing the biggest business is, as a rule, the safest place to buy your clothing, because, owing to its immense outlet, it can both buy and sell cheaper than other stores. Kaufmann's is the great clothing headquarters of Pittsburgh. More men buy their clothing here than at any three local stores combined. This is not due to any chance or accident, but the indisputable fact that we don't handle any but thoroughly good and dependable goods and sell them at prices other stores cannot approach.
